Triumph of the Will

Triumph des Willens.

The famous documentary of the 1934 National Socialist congress at Nuremberg represents the perfection of a new art form. Never before or since have technique, composition and content been joined for more spectacular effect.

Behind the classic imagery of Leni Riefenstahl's cinematic masterpiece, however, lies something which is commonly overlooked.

At the behest of the Führer, the film received the name by which it has come to be known. Why did he choose this particular title? What message was he trying to convey?

To ask these questions is to consider the inner dynamics of our Movement. Indeed, it is to ask how the first victory of National Socialism was made possible.

Here it is important to realize that success was not accomplished by wishful thinking or mere accident. Rather, it was the result of an incredible, 14-year struggle against every conceivable odd.

Just ten years before its miraculous triumph, the Movement had been crushed, its Leader imprisoned, and its adherents scattered. Its prospects for success were nonexistent. The notion that it would one day prevail against the Comrades from across the Upper Midwest gathered on January 30 for a special celebration of the 60th anniversary of the Siegestag—the day when Adolf Hitler became chancellor of Germany in the first great triumph of National Socialism on this planet.

The National Socialist victory, which came after 14 years of determined struggle, marked the start of a national/racial revival and reconstruction unparalleled in the annals of history. Under the inspired leadership of the Führer, mankind was witness to an incredible golden age, one which has become a model and inspiration for us today.

The day's celebration began with a luncheon buffet and afternoon festivities. At formal ceremonies in the evening, NEW ORDER Commander Matt Koehl was introduced as keynote speaker.

In his remarks, the Commander described the 30th of January as "a day of great symbolism, one which is part of a paradigm of hope and promise. For in it, we see the outline of a grand design." In the symbolism of this day, he said, "we have a description of future reality."

The Commander noted that we must see everything as part of a bigger picture, and showed how the "defeat" of November 9, 1923—when the Munich revolt was crushed—actually became the seed for the triumph of 1933. An analogous process is taking place today, he said, as we continue the struggle after the "defeat" of 1945. "Inspired and sustained by the same Hitler faith, that struggle will also lead to victory—to the great Endsieg and the Thousand Year Reich which has been promised us.

"Here there has been a certain misunderstanding," the NEW ORDER head noted. "Our detractors love to gloat that this Reich lasted only 12 years. They think of it as dead and buried. They confuse it with a transitory Third Reich. What they fail to realize is that in cosmic terms the events of 1945 represent merely a momentary setback. For the Thousand Year Reich of Adolf Hitler is something which is still coming, something which has yet to be born—something which must be understood not in the past tense, but in the future tense."

The Commander concluded by noting that today we are living in a time of fundamental change which will culminate in the Endsieg, the final victory which will usher in the New Order. At the same time, he cautioned that we are not ready for this event and do not yet deserve it.

"Today we are suffering from a failure of the spirit, a failure of the will," he said. "This must change. We must become part of the Swastika, and the Swastika must become part of us. Only then," he declared, "will we be ready for a triumph of the will and for that Endsieg, for which so many have already fought and given their lives."

Jews Oppose Excavation of Bunker

Berlin's Jewish community has denounced a city official's proposal to excavate the buried ruins of Adolf Hitler's bunker and let the public view the site.

The proposal came from Alfred Kernd'l, science director of Berlin's archeology office, who was quoted as saying the public would benefit by viewing the complex where the Führer was last seen in 1945. He rejected arguments that "neo-Nazis" would turn the site into a place of pilgrimage.

"Myths will not be removed by covering them up," the Berlin daily Die Tageszeitung quoted Kernd'l as saying.

The Jewish community responded that "old and new Nazis" would flock to the Bunker, and that would be "a continuing irritation and insult to the victims of Nazism and their descendants."

A group of prominent non-Jewish citizens has come up with its own peculiar idea. It has proposed erecting a monument on the site to the miraculous Six Million, those clever and resourceful persons of Hebrew persuasion who—after having been gassed during World War II—somehow managed to come back to life to collect compensation from the German government as "survivors" afterwards.

The land above the Bunker lay unused for decades along the Berlin Wall. It now stands in the center of a planned compound that is to house the parliament and most ministries after the government moves to Berlin from Bonn sometime in the next decade.

City officials said no decisions had been made for the site.

Mein Kampf Banned at US Bookstores in Germany

- It wasn't quite book burning, but it was the next best thing.

Officials have announced that U.S. military bookstores in Germany will no longer be allowed to carry Adolf Hitler's Mein Kampf. The book, which is the fundamental text of the National Socialist movement, was pulled from the shelves of Stars and Stripes bookstores throughout the country following complaints from the puppet regime in Bonn.

Germany has banned sale of the book since 1945, except for copies sold in secondhand stores and specially annotated research editions. A German official said his government didn't think it was right for the book to be sold in U.S. military bookstores while being banned from German shops. Apparently the Americans agreed.

So much for this latest lesson in democracy!

Attempt Made to Destroy Wife of Dutch Martyr

The persecution of Florentine Rost van Tonningen by the Dutch government continues, as agents seized her home along with all its furnishings in a surprise raid on Mar. 13. Pretext for the raid was a contrived tax claim on a business firm taken away from her while she was hospitalized for an extended period in 1985.

The state is demanding $50,000 in back taxes, with the property being held as a lien in this monstrous extortion ploy. After Mrs. Rost van Tonningen lost the small manufacturing company she had built up over a 34-year period, all its assets were seized, and she was barred from her former office with its vital documents. Now, apparently, officials have decided to "readjust" the records.

Mrs. Rost van Tonningen is the 78-year-old wife of the late Dr. Meinoud Rost van Tonningen, the brilliant former financial expert with the League of Nations who was savagely tortured and murdered by a Jewish-led execution team in June 1945.

Dr. Rost van Tonningen was a high-ranking leader of the Dutch National Socialist movement, the NSB, to whom Hitler turned for long-range economic planning for Europe. In the final days of the war, he resigned from the civilian administration of the Netherlands to fight as a front-line soldier in the ranks of the SS. The circumstances of his death have been hushed up to this day by the Dutch government.

During her life, Mrs. Rost van Tonningen has personally known some of the most famous persons of the period, including Heinrich Himmler, Joseph Goebbels, Alfred Rosenberg, Antoon Mussert, H.A. Rauter, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, Otto Skorzeny, Winifred Wagner, Konrad Lorenz and Pope Pius XII, not to mention Adolf Hitler himself.

In 1992, Mrs. Rost van Tonningen was fined $3,000 for the crime of having made passing reference to the Jewish role in causing World War II. She has vowed to go to prison rather than pay a single guilder of this outlandish fine.

Because of her steadfast loyalty to the Führer and his Cause as well as her staunch refusal to renounce her convictions, every attempt has been made to destroy this incredibly brave woman—financially, psychologically and physically. She has been attacked and spat on in public; she has been shot at; she has had eggs thrown at her home and windows broken; she has been hounded by a scurrilous press; she has been fined and sentenced to prison. Even her faithful German shepherd companion "Zita" was poisoned in a hateful attempt to intimidate her—all for honestly speaking her mind and resolutely refusing to deny the Leader.

The effects of all these criminal and cowardly attempts have taken their toll. Today this brave and courageous woman is living in a virtual state of siege. Yet she continues to defy the enemy.

But the costs of fighting the charges against her and taking action to recover her property takes money. Mrs. Rost van Tonningen urgently needs our help. Unless you have fought harder than she has for this Cause, please show your support at this time with a generous donation. Flight Captain HANS BAUR

Chief Pilot of the Führer and Lieutenant General ret.

The NEW ORDER has been notified that Hans Baur, Adolf Hitler's personal pilot, was "called to his last takeoff" on Feb. 17, 1993. He was 95.

Born June 19, 1897, in the small Bavarian town of Ampfing near Mühldorf, Baur first gained recognition as a German fighter ace during World War I. Credited with downing nine Allied aircraft, he received many awards for valor, including the Iron Cross first class and the Bavarian medal for bravery.

In 1921 he joined the fledgling NSDAP (National Socialist German Workers Party) and took part with Freikorps Epp in suppression of a short-lived Communist regime in Bavaria.

One year later, Baur left the army to become a pioneer in civil aviation. When Lufthansa was formed in 1926, he was one of its first six pilots. He undertook the first airmail flight between Munich and Vienna, and in 1928 he became the first man to fly across the Alps.

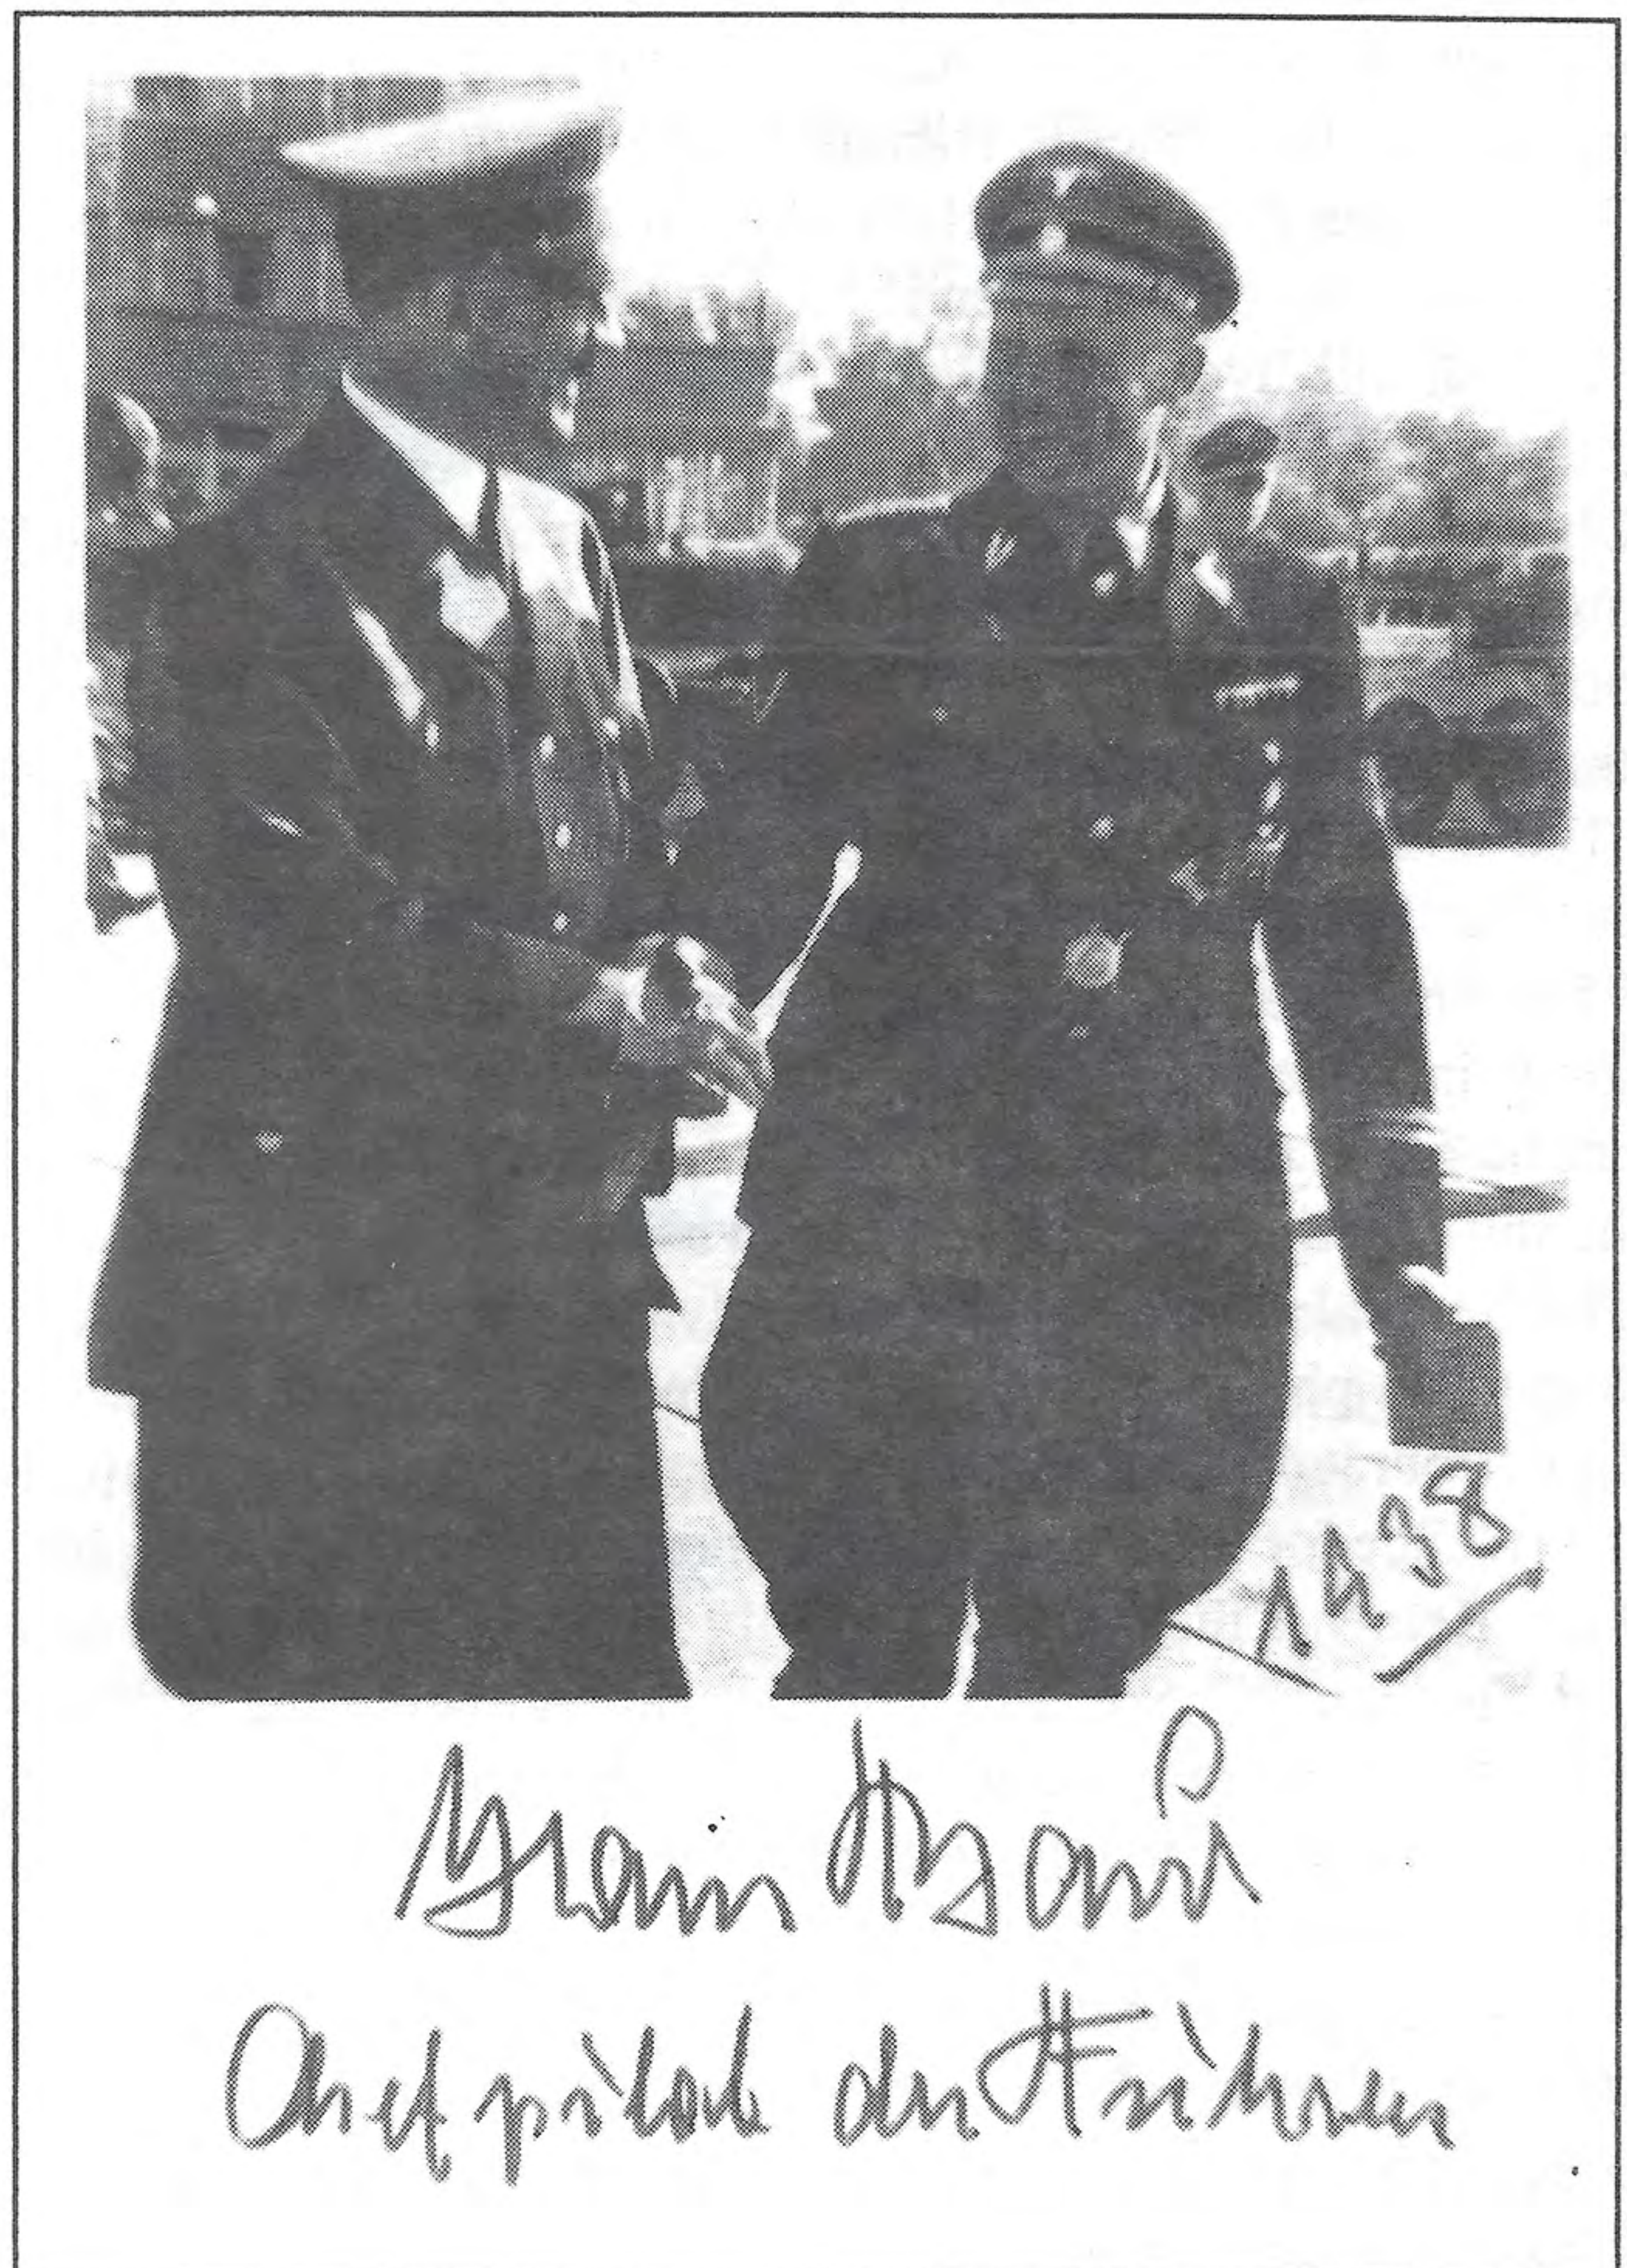

In 1932 Baur became Adolf Hitler's personal pilot, flying the Leader to campaign rallies all over Germany. Shortly afterwards he was given the famous three-engine Junkers 52 aircraft "D-2600" (which is to be seen in the opening part of Triumph of the Will). It was the start of a close and enduring relationship, one which was to last for 13 years until the final hours in Berlin.

During the Second World War, Flight Captain Baur flew to almost every front. Once while about to return with Hitler from a visit to the Eastern Front, he and the Leader had to wait with their Condor aircraft at one end of the airfield while German forces cleared the runway by driving off 22 Soviet tanks at the other end! Hitler thus came closer to the actual fighting than any other head of state in modern time.

In the closing days of the war, Comrade Baur was entrusted with the difficult task of flying key documents out of Berlin. He remained with the Leader in the Bunker of the Reichschancellery, and continued his services until the end. He was one of the last persons to see the Leader alive.

After the death and immolation of the Führer, our comrade was severely wounded during a breakout attempt. Captured by the Russians, his right leg was amputated with a pocketknife.

Brutally interrogated as to Hitler's whereabouts by frustrated Soviet secret police, who were unable to find the Leader's remains, Comrade Baur was to spend over 10 years in various Soviet gulags under the most barbaric conditions. Despite it all, his faith never wavered, and he managed to keep up the spirit and morale of those imprisoned comrades around him.

Released with other top figures of the Reich in October 1955, he settled in Herrsching-am-Ammersee in Upper Bavaria, where he lived until his death.

Following his release, Comrade Baur gave lectures on his experiences as the Leader's pilot. His memoirs Ich flog Mächtige der Erde (I Flew the Mighty of the Earth) appeared in 1956. In 1971 they were reprinted under the title Mit Mächtigen zwischen Himmel und Erde (With the Mighty Between Sky and Earth). Now in its ninth printing, the book has since become available in several other languages, including French, Japa-

Hitler General Defies Threats

Otto Ernst Remer, the famous World War II general known for his loyalty to Adolf Hitler, has received death threats from agents of the Israeli government. The threats follow his conviction earlier by a Schweinfurt court on charges of "Holocaust-denial," "spreading racial hatred" and "popular incitement."

But the old soldier, who has seen combat in two world wars, is not cowed. In a letter to friends, he declared:

"I do not fear death. I shall do what I have always done. I shall fight—to my last breath, even if it be in a cell of my persecutors. But I shall still live. I shall not make it easy for my enemies. Together we shall be victorious, even if I must die for this victory."

Charges against the General stem from material he published stating that the so-called Holocaust was "a lie spread by the victorious Allies and Jews for the purpose of political and financial blackmail against the German people."

The court refused to allow Remer to introduce evidence to prove his contention that the WWII gas-chamber stories are bogus.

"The historical events of [the Holocaust] are recognized with certainty in an irrefutable way," the court pronounced. "They cannot be put in question again by contradictory discussion, even by the introduction of documentary evidence." [!]

The General was sentenced to nearly two years in prison. According to his physician, the overcrowded conditions and hostile, alien environment of present-day German jails would be a virtual death sentence for the 80-year-old Remer, who is in failing health.

Gen. Remer is the man who on July 20, 1944, thwarted a coup against the National Socialist government following the attempt on Hitler's life by reactionary traitors within the German armed forces. Since the war he has continued to fight for his beliefs, despite every restriction and oppression.

Remer's sentence is currently under appeal. Attorneys for the General, Dr. Werner Schaller and decorated former Luftwaffe pilot Hajo Hermann, have meanwhile filed countercharges in the case.

Those comrades wishing to offer encouragement and support to this staunch champion of the Führer may write to him as follows: Otto Ernst Remer, Generalmajor a.D.

Charges Dropped Against Spanish National Socialist

All charges against Pedro Varela were dropped by an Austrian court on Dec. 16 after a jury failed to agree on a verdict. Varela, who heads the Spanish National Socialist organization CEDADE was arrested last September on charges he had made a pro-Hitler speech during a visit the previous year to Austria.

Under democratic law in that country, Varela faced several years' imprisonment for his remarks. Before his acquittal, he spent nearly three months in confinement.

Austria is a signatory to the international Treaty of Vienna, Section 6 of which guarantees "freedom of speech, of opinion, of the press, of publication, of religion, of politics and of assembly." The old Soviet Union offered similar guarantees.

great parties and institutions of the day could only seem a pathetically laughable pipe dream.

Yet a decade later, the "impossible" had happened, and the "ridiculous" dream had become a reality. The Movement had won. How was it possible?

If we carefully examine this question, we discover the answer in one decisive factor: will, will based upon a new idea and a new faith.

That will would not take "no" for an answer. It would not brook any opposition. It would not tire or quit. It would not capitulate. It would never give in.

That will was serious. It was determined to succeed, to do whatever might be necessary to triumph, no matter what the sacrifice or however long it might take.

That will began with one man and became the collective will of a body of men and women, for whom a better future was more precious than even their own lives. It galvanized them into action and drove them forward, despite every obstacle and setback.

And in the end—as a reward for persistence and faithfulness—they won. Their will had triumphed!

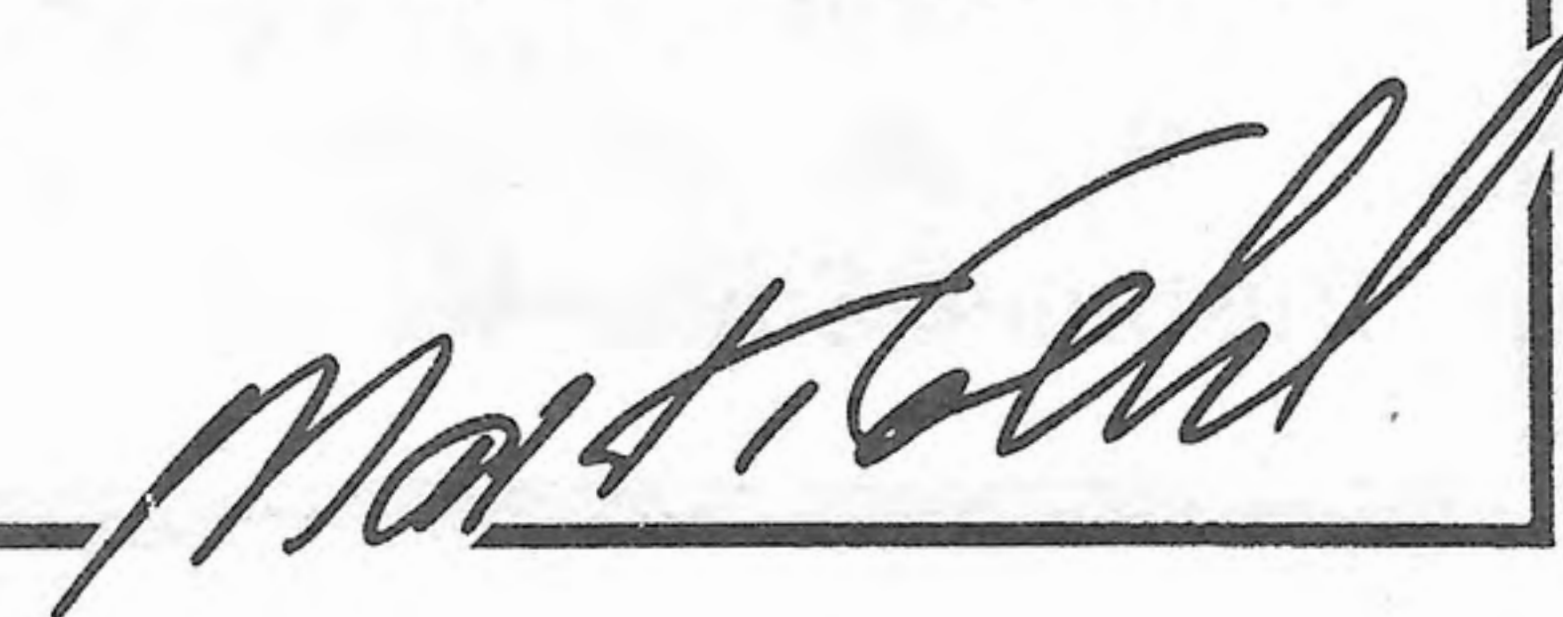

By contrast, our lack of success today can be attributed—quite simply—to the very opposite. If a documentary were to be made of our present dilemma, its proper title would be Failure of the Will—failure on the part of our race as a whole, but failure—moral failure—especially on the part of those who claim to be most concerned about a racial future. That is the crux of our problem.

Will. That means "to want."

What do we want? How badly do we want it? How important is it to us? What are we willing to do to get it?

In the answers to these questions lie a definition of one's values, indeed, of one's personality and true identity.

For those who have made the Cause of Adolf Hitler and his New Order the focus of their lives, there can be but one set of values that has any real meaning and importance. Those values are expressed in a common desire, a common determination, a common will—a will in no way different from the one which produced that earlier triumph, a will that stands today as the guarantor of our final victory.

A Letter From Hitler's Pilot

My Dear Comrade, Commander Matt Koehl!

With tears of joy in my eyes, I heard that you are going to arrange a celebration of the 100th birthday of my old esteemed Chief. I would give anything, if I could be there. But my days are drawing to a close—this year I will be 92 years old.

The entire 12 years, from 1933 till 1945—until his final hour—I was with him every day. I may call myself one of his few true friends. For me and all his co-workers, he was fatherly and caring up until the last second of his life.

Many left him like cowards shortly before the bitter end, in order to save their lives. For the most part, they were the ones who during good times had profited the most because of him.

After the war, many described me as stupid, because I stayed with him. He told me that I should save my life and make it through to Munich to my wife and four children.

I stayed, I lost a leg in the fighting for Berlin, was in Russian captivity for 10 years, of which three years were in solitary confinement where daily I was beaten and tortured. But believe me, dear Comrade Koehl, I don't regret a thing! Even today, I would act again as I did then. I would give my life if just one more time I could give him my hand and be allowed to hear his voice.

To you, Comrade Koehl, and those taking part in your celebration my best wishes and greetings.

nese and English, the latter under the titles Hitler's Pilot and Hitler by My Side [See NS Publications page].

In 1984, Hans Baur was invited by the South African government to take part in special ceremonies marking the 50th anniversary of the inauguration of service by that country's airline. The Flight Captain had been one of those who flew the original 30 Junkers 52 aircraft from Germany to Johannesburg in 1934.

During his visit, General Baur gave several lectures before military men in Johannesburg, Capetown, Windhoek and Swakopmund, and was well received.

"Various listeners greeted me afterwards in all seriousness with 'Heil Hitler!'" he confided to NEW ORDER Commander Matt Koehl.

Comrade Baur made quite an impression in the media in southern Africa as well, and again drew a similar response.

"The press had good reports," he noted. "They even brought me to a television studio, where I had to tell about Hitler—without restrictions, of course.

"When I went shopping with my wife in Windhoek the next day, people recognized me. Whites as well as Blacks greeted me with 'Heil Hitler!' I didn't think I was hearing right, but it was so."

In a special Yule greeting to Commander Koehl in 1990, the old Flugkapitän commented wryly about the impending conflict in the Persian Gulf against Iraq:

"I always thought when Hitler was no longer around, there would be no more wars. But since then, there have been more wars around the world than ever before!"

Hans Baur was an honorary member of the NEW ORDER and recipient of the Movement's Loyalty Badge. Before his death, he spent many hours discussing the work of the Movement with Commander Koehl, during the course of which he disclosed many important facets concerning the last days in the Bunker in Berlin. He remained faithful to the Führer to the end—"in old loyalty and solidarity," as he liked to put it. As he once wrote in a letter to the Commander:

"My honor was always loyalty. The world can revile me and say what it will, but I have personally experienced the beautiful time with the Führer, and for this I shall be eternally grateful to him."

Hans Baur lived to see the fall of the Berlin Wall and the collapse of Communism in the Soviet Union, as well as the rebirth of the Movement to which he had committed his life. He is survived by his faithful wife, Centa, and four children, as well as other relatives.

Several hundred persons attended our comrade's funeral on Feb 25. His mortal remains are interred in Munich's Westfriedhof. His immortal memory now lives forever in our hearts. ∞

THE BOOK THE ALLIES WANTED BURNED!

Ich Kämpfe is a 100 page testament to the success of the NSDAP Movement and the Third Reich. This book was presented with the compliments of the NSDAP to everyone that enrolled as a Party Member. It reinforced the enrollees' decision to join the party by carefully explaining the history and purpose of the Nationalsozialistische Deutsche Arbeiterpartei.

Between those two are an Historical Overview by Reichsleiter Philipp Bouhler; The Program of the NSDAP; Reichsleiter Alfred Rosenberg's essay on Internal and External German Freedom, and an Honor List of Martyrs of the Movement. There are the lyrics of The Flag High! by Horst Wessel; The Song of Loyal Followers, and a list of Responsibilities of Party Members. AMERICAN-ENGLISH LANGUAGE TRANSLATION INCLUDED

The 100 page German edition of 1943 is carefully reproduced in its entirety. Another 44 pages have been added at the end of the original book and comprise a competent translation of the text, quotations and photo captions of the German version into American-English (144 pages in all). Ich Kämpfe is arguably the single most important book to be read by anyone who hopes to understand the Third Reich in Germany. Because of its content, very few copies of Ich Kämpfe survived the Allied de-Nazification crusade at the end of World War II. The few that did survive are considered very rare and invariably bring high prices when sold. What Is the NEW ORDER?

The NEW ORDER is a National Socialist community representing a revolutionary, new faith and a great historic movement.

We are comprised of White men and women of all ages and social backgrounds who are committed to building a better world for future generations of their race.

Our program is in our name: We stand for a revolutionary New Order on earth.

Today we live under an Old Order which is corrupt, decadent and diseased—a mad, psychotic system of mindless materialism, self-indulgence, drugs, pollution, pornography, race-mixing, filth, chaos and alienation. It is the way of Death, and more and more people are coming to recognize it as such.

But there is a better way, a way of Life. That way calls for the elimination of the egocentric/materialistic outlook. It calls for a new awareness and understanding. It involves a spiritual awakening, and calls for a rebirth of idealism and natural values.

It begins with the realization that we are part of something much bigger than our individual selves; that man is part of a great natural order; that to be healthy and whole, he must act in accordance with its laws; and that among its ordinances are the laws of Race and racial conservation.

As National Socialists, we see ourselves as part of a world Aryan community and a new folk in formation. No multiracial society can be viable in the long run. That is why we want to build a separate, all-White society, with its own unique culture and way of life.

Toward that end, it is the function of the NEW ORDER to provide a focus for the moral and spiritual mobilization of our race. Our task is to give it a sense of common identity, common purpose and common direction, and to furnish it with a set of common values and ideals essential for survival in an increasingly chaotic and disoriented world.

Ours is more than just another organization. We represent a cause—the most sacred cause of all time.

We are the Movement of Adolf Hitler. We are his heirs. He has given us a great commission, which it is our duty to discharge.

For it was Adolf Hitler who came into the world to remind modern man of Nature's eternal laws, and to make them the basis for a miraculous regeneration in human affairs. That is why we proudly recognize him as the greatest figure of the age, and why we regard his Cause as the one great hope for Aryan mankind on this earth.

If you are interested in becoming a part of this great Cause, contact us today for further details:
