White Man unite, unite to save your nation

America, for which we fought and toiled
Our racial enemies swarm 'round us in elation
The snake of Zion has us in its coils.

The White Man has the right to his own Nation
On this his land, his Banner stands unfurled
He will not give it up to Jewish speculation
He will not see it into darkness hurled.

The Day's at hand, the Day of Liberation
For the White Man, the Leader of the World
To cut the golden chains of alien domination
The Swastika becomes our mighty sword.

Our Race commands we join this great formation
No man can face his enemies alone
When White tribes forge themselves into a single Nation
We'll have the might to protect our dear homes.

The White Man stands confused upon the hour
Until he sees the Banner we've unfurled
Now he knows Victory's the Future of White Power
We march with our White comrades 'round the world.

The White Man's Race is truly his great Nation
With White Power he comes into his own
No more victim of artificial separation
Whole continents he now can call his own.

OUR RACE IS OUR NATION!

My wife of one day's vintage finally arrived, after she had graduated from Pembroke in June and I had prepared a little cottage near the base. Our married life was far from the passionate affair one might imagine or rather, what it should be. After a lifetime of Mother's training, Judy just could not relax and enjoy being a female. She had to be on guard every minute to see that she maintained her 'rights', which she did, but meanwhile lost her major birthright as a human being: real love.

There were a good many tears and scenes, but after a while we arrived at a sort of modus vivendi and even a bit of gay comradery in our mutual bafflement. I have since then come to the conclusion that it is not only not wrong for a man to find out more about life before he gets married, but his duty. I feel sure now that, if I knew then what I know now, I could have saved my poor, warped little wife and our marriage, for already the crackup had begun which was to culminate ten years later. But at that time, I was a truly innocent boob in the affair and too ignorant and scared to exert the masculine force and power given by nature to males to overcome such situations.

There was nothing wrong with Judy but the common insanity of all our education today. Her whole life had been dedicated to an unrealistic goal, as are the lives of most of our girls. Without anybody coming out and saying it, the mad scramble for 'democracy' has been extended to the sexes and the natural dominance of the male, and the passive submission of the female, which are basic to both natures and absolutely necessary to their happiness, have been scorned as evil carry-overs from our animal natures. A 'modern' girl cannot avoid the impression that it is somehow 'inferior' to be 'just a woman' or 'just a housewife and mother', and the corresponding idea, therefore, that she must try to 'be somebody' or 'do something worthwhile' by having a 'career'. She receives all sorts of 'education', particularly in college, which is not only useless if she becomes a wife and mother, but which irritate and frustrate her natural capacities. It is not hard to understand how a woman trained as an expert lawyer might chafe at the humdrum life of a wife and mother despite the fact that such a feminine life is desperately important to her own happiness as a person and to society. From time to time, my college-trained wife would burst from the kitchen in utter frustration and demand an explanation, as I came home tired from a day of flying and darkroom work, of why she had to wash dishes. "I went to college!" she would exclaim. "Why should I have to wash dishes?"

We do the same thing with millions of men, too. When there is obviously no capacity for brain-work in a child, it is criminal to drive and beat it into schooling aimed at preparing it to be a 'white collar worker'. With a minimum of schooling sufficient to read and write, it would be happy working with its hands. When it is led to imagine that it is a great brain, then is driven to the sewers and ditches with a shovel, it is understandable that the unhappy victim becomes frustrated and a danger to society, when multiplied by the millions.

It is not a question of 'superior' or 'inferior', but a question of possibilities. A girl will grow up to be a woman, a female, no matter what education, ideals, ideas and training she may get. Perhaps it is 'unfair' that she was born a woman, physically weak, less able to reason, coldly burdened with the inexorable cyclic functioning of her reproductive system and blessed with the soft, warm, emotional, understanding and patient nature of the machinery designed by Nature for motherhood, above all things.

The effort of feminists and liberals to 'correct' what Nature has decreed, whether the effort is 'good' or 'bad', can lead only to misery for those who attempt to fly in the face of a cold and merciless Nature, and a social agony for a world which is deprived of warm and submissive females and mothers.

It is a mark of insanity for an individual to ignore reality and act as if he were something which he is not. It is no less insane when women pretend that their female natures do not exist, that they are not only the 'equals' of men, but the same as men, except for a slight physiological difference. No matter how a few of them manage to succeed in the poses of engineers and steelworkers and fighter pilots and business executives, women today, as a group, are fundamentally acting in the manner of the insane: defying and ignoring reality. The results are frightfully visible in our whole civilization. The women are becoming masculinized, while the men are getting feminized. One has only to look at a crowd of our teenagers to see how things are going. They wear the same tight pants, the same jackets and the same hats — even the same duck-tailed hairdos. We are breeding and training up a generation of jazzed-up, negroidal, neutered queers.

Our whole approach to women today, as with most of our social attitudes, is that of the Soviets who have women in the army, working in the streets and even in firing-squads, just like men. God save us from such women!

Women are indeed the equal of men, as a group, only when they fulfill the task for which Nature equipped and made them — motherhood. Man was designed, even in the creative process itself, to supply the spark, the drive and the aggressive push of life, while woman is designed to supply the basic building material of new life; nourish, treasure, warm and guide it, until it can sustain its own life. There is no escape from this fate, even if it were bad, which it is not.

If a man is to be honored for making cigars or building bridges or making beer, as our great businessmen are, then surely we ought to honor those who make our people! But the trouble is that our insane 'liberal' attitude toward motherhood and homemaking has given women an impossible inferiority complex and frustration about their possible and real achievements in life. We train our girls by the millions to be anything but successful wives and mothers, lead them to believe they are to be an 'equal' part of a 'man's world', when the truth is that it is only Nature's world, and man's share in it is no greater or more glorious than that of a female-oriented woman who produces, brings up and gives to society a family of happy people.

If our girls were brought up from first consciousness to realize the absolute and total inevitability of their mission in life, but above all to be proud of that mission; train for and then fulfill it joyously, there would be no more talk of 'achieving' equality. They would find that Nature has already given them equality in generous measure, if only they will accept it. There can be no sense in discussing the superiority of negative or positive electricity in a battery; they are merely different forms of the same thing, but the difference is vital if there is to be any current. When the male and female potential or voltages are permitted to become 'equal', they must be strongly opposite or the current will stop.

The current is stopping as our broken families and marriages show. In my own case, my first partner was wretchedly twisted from what I am sure were originally good, basic, natural instincts. But even more important, I was 'civilized' and 'liberalized' out of my own savage male instincts of force and domination which, if properly controlled, could have saved both my wife and our marriage.

It is not women who are at fault in the growing madness of our family and our sexual frustration, it is the men who have permitted it. The women are still born passive and submissive and if our fathers and grandfathers had not failed them as a group, as I failed my first wife as an individual, they would still, as a group, be enjoying their birthright and the honor owed them by society for being the most exalted manufacturers and executives in the world, the manufacturers of Our People!

Upon achieving power, one of our first tasks will be an all-out public relations drive to help our entire population — men and women — to see that 'motherhood' is not the silly, sloppy thing which is made of it today, for the benefit of florists and greeting card publishers; the 'momism' described by Philip Wylie which has made so many 'mama's boys' and spoiled brats in our society, but a profession every bit as exacting, scientific and honorable as the law, medicine or education. These latter professions merely help the results of the profession of motherhood. It is the part of the women to produce and give to society people who have just the right combination of discipline and love to make people happy and capable citizens.

Where a doctor or a lawyer spends years and years of preparation for his work, and then more years of apprenticeship, most of our mothers today spend their years preparing to be writers, artists, executives or some other kind of 'career girls', which few of them actually become, while their only training for their real profession in life consists perhaps in a high school 'Home Ec' course in how to make a few fancy salads and paperback 'romance'. They plunge into the world's most important, most honorable and most exacting profession, knowing nothing of childhood disease, scientific family budgeting, psychology of children (and husbands) or any of the other vital professional subjects which would make the first years of marriage such a relatively orderly and pleasant experience, instead of a wildly chaotic mess every time 'something' happens to the baby and mother either knows nothing about it at all or knows only old-wives' tales.

If a lawyer or a doctor attempted to practice as soon as he had purchased a few medicine or law books, the way our women plunge into the business of making human beings and happy families, they would be arrested. The law and medicine would be impossible chaos, which is exactly the state of our 'modern' family system, as shown by sky-rocketing juvenile delinquency and millions of wrecked families and broken homes. Our civilization is no longer as simple as the pioneering society of our forebears and, if family life is to survive — as it must survive, if our race is to survive — then we must stop the insane business of considering a mother and homemaker 'just a housewife' who needs no special education for her job. We must give our girls the necessary skills and knowledge for their actual and unavoidable profession first and then, if there is time and money and inclination, give them a 'liberal' education or any other kind of education, so long as it does not give them the frustrating idea that they should be engineers, actresses, fighter pilots, etc.

Finally, and most important, we must honor them, as we now honor doctors and lawyers. We must establish professional women's schools and universities dedicated not to 'home economics', but to the exalted profession of Family Science. We must get rid of the disgusting connection of 'homemaking' with the dustmop, dishpan and dirty diapers, and make it clear to our people that these tasks are no more the essence of Family Science than sweeping out the office is the essence of being a lawyer, even though a lawyer has to do this himself.

When our whole people have been given this new understanding of the real 'equality' of women and when they are honored by professional degrees in their all-important science of the organization, care and management of a plant for the intelligent production of decent human beings, there will be less of the misery which lies deep in so many of our girls who wind up with a dishpan or diaper pail after a Cinderella dream of 'better things' all their younger days.

My Judith had been told all her life that there was only one thing worse than getting locked up as a housewife, with a useless man, and that was having kids to be 'tied-down' to. The stark realities of adjusting the butterfly life of college and dreams of 'better things' to a washtub and submission to a male were too much for her, as they have been for many another before her. Aside from this difficulty, there was another problem.

I discovered the utter, fantastic illogicalness of women, which can be so delightful when it is laughable and so tragic when it causes a family fight or hurts the children.

The only time I ever laid a hand on her was when we had been in town shopping and I had told her I was starving for a big steak or a piece of meat. She was commendably anxious to save our small pay and said not to buy any more, because there was a piece of ham in the icebox at home. I remembered seeing it and said that it was not enough for both of us. It was too little, even for me. She said she didn't want any at all; I could have the whole thing. I pointed out that this was silly when we were right by the store and could get some more, but she insisted over and over that she wanted none of the ham. She made such a fuss that I agreed to let her eat something else and I would be satisfied with the little piece of ham. So we went home with no meat and I drank a beer while she got supper ready in the kitchen. When she called me to eat, I looked at the plates and there were two tiny shreds of meat, one on each plate. They looked like communion wafers!

When I asked her about the meat on her plate, she flew into a tantrum and insisted I was a pig and was determined to hog everything and let her go without! I will leave the ensuing argument to the imagination. My male readers will agree, I think, that such perfidy in regard to an agreement, even in such a small affair, is hard to take, while I have found the females will consider this sly maneuver a clever way to save money and very commendable. Suffice it to say, I was unable to control my frustration at her total lack of understanding of the principle involved and I grabbed the poor thing by the shoulders and shook her!

After completion of photo school, from which I graduated near the top of the class, we were asked what duty we wanted. Photo pilots were, I understood, much in demand, so you got what you wanted! But I made one of the stupidest mistakes of my life. I forgot that fighter pilots were not assigned to carriers, but were assigned to squadrons, which were then ordered, as units, to carriers. I wanted to fly the hottest things in the fleet on combat missions, so I put down "any combat carrier". What an afternoon it was when I came home with the assignment to the U.S.S. Wasp and we celebrated! I already saw myself swooping over the enemy beaches and disdainfully photographing Tojo himself, shaking his impotent fist at me as I went by, too fast to be seen clearly.

But upon getting to the great ship, I discovered that I was 'ship's company', a sort of glorified janitor, crewing for the brave air-heroes, the pilots, who never came aboard except for combat missions and did all the flying while I did all the watching, except for a few flights now and then when I could manage it. I was V-3 Division Officer and thoroughly hated my tasks which were those of a non-flying officer. In addition, I had to watch, green to the gills with envy, while the squadron boys zipped around the sky, shooting and clowning and doing what I longed to do so badly I could taste it.

I did everything I could think of to get out of that situation and back in the air, including making myself obnoxious with requests for transfer, finally to the ultimate desperation of asking for "any ship or station." The exec at last took pity on me and ordered me to the pilot pool in San Diego where they make up the best fighter outfits! Once again, I was overjoyed, but not for long.

This time, while one after the other of the lads in the pool went to Corsair and Hellcat squadrons, I finally got orders to SAC — Support Air Command! I was to run up the beach on invasions and direct air heroes again from a foxhole with my little radio and ground control team! It almost seemed that somebody was purposely doing this to me. How could a guy be so crazy to get into combat in a fighter, and get first on a cruiser, then ship's company on a carrier, and finally this: an entrenching tool and a radio — my weapons — as I cringed in a foxhole! I almost despaired as we trained on the beach at Coronado with LCVP's and with tanks running over our foxholes, while the squadrons flashed by in the blue overhead.

From there we went to Guadalcanal, where I got in on the tail-end of the action or 'mop-up' and flew a few hops I was able to scrounge out of Henderson Field. After that, Pearl Harbor and then Guam.

My experiences in all this would make a book, but others who have had far more thrilling and readable experiences have already set forth this sort of thing for all to read. My task is to pick out the experiences which had special significance in shaping my own character and political career. The only such experiences were the time I watched two marines beating to death with their bare hands a Jap who had been tossing handgrenades into the camp, night after night — and enjoyed the sight immensely — a thing which horrifies me now. Such is the hatred born of a bitter war.

There was the business of the Japs yelling filthy things about Roosevelt, at night. I wondered greatly at the oddity of trying to kill these guys who despised the same charlatan whom I couldn't stand myself. Luckily, I didn't know then how this Roosevelt, on behalf of world Marxism and its Jewish masters, plotted and planned to drive Japan into the war; sacrificed thousands of our lads at Pearl Harbor, all just to get our people mad enough to reverse their isolationist stand and go to war to crush Germany and Hitler — whom the enemies of America hate as rats hate bright light. But then, the only thought which crossed my mind was the humorousness of it and the oddness of such a war.

Back at the Pacific Headquarters of the Fleet in Pearl Harbor, I once again broke my neck to pull a deal of some kind in order to get back into the air I loved. I found an officer that I knew at AirPac Assignment and told him I would do anything on earth short of treason or murder to get a flying billet. He said he would see what he could do, and he did. He ordered me to the U.S.S. Mobile, another cruiser!

But that wasn't the worst of it. The Navy brass, at that time, were in love with catapult planes on cruisers and battleships, because they were what they had known and loved so many years themselves. But, with three and four hundred mile-an-hour fighters mastering the air over any task force, and with no ship daring to leave such an umbrella of fighter protection, our 100-knot cruiser seaplanes were worse than a pain in the neck for the fleet. Their 3,000 gallons of high-octane gasoline stowed aboard ship was a fearful and useless danger to the safety of all hands in battle. We almost never flew and it was the ultimate torture for me to stand by the catapults (my battle station), helpless, useless and actually in the way, with our planes lashed down, while the boys from the carriers tangled all over the sky with the Jap Kamikaze or suicide planes which plummeted at our ships with unbelievable ferocity!

My first chance in Pearl, as Senior Aviator of the cruiser, I asked and got an audience with Admiral Sherman of ComAirPac to see if we could keep the planes on an advance atoll somewhere near the ship's operations and thus keep in flying training and combat fighting trim. As it was, the rare times we did fly, I lost two aircraft and one pilot just because they couldn't land under rough conditions and we never had a chance to fly enough to keep sharp. The C.O. of the Mobile went along with this idea, as he hated the planes and the aviation gas which were of no help to him and which constituted a deadly fire menace in fighting his ship. But I was brusquely rebuffed by the brass. I was told the planes had always been helpful on "wagons and carriers" and always would be. The old boys just could not see that the day of seaplanes in the fleet was over, especially with a fast carrier task force in combat conditions. Then I suggested helicopters, which have since proved to be excellent aids to such ships. The admiral looked at me incredulously when I mentioned it. He simply didn't believe in any such foolishness and told me so! He said they would never amount to anything, like the autogyro, for instance.

In despair, I went to my friend at the assignment desk and finally, at long, long last, made it into the air. It wasn't the combat I wanted, but it was next best. Because of my excellent record and experience, I was given command of a large squadron of scout and observer aircraft and pilots for replacement and training for the fleet. I had the best fighters, torpedo bombers and scouts and the latest seaplane, the SC — and plenty of authority, men and equipment. I flew like a mad man, amassing my first real time since the Omaha and was deliciously happy every time I got into the air. I found a squadron of P-47's from the Army at Wheeler and gave them a wild time in the air everytime I caught one up. We had F6F's and they were more maneuverable than the heavier 47's. With our Navy training, our lads had little difficulty in riding those Army jockeys all over the sky, and we loved it!

I got my only black mark on my Navy record while I commanded SOSU-1 at Pearl. Everybody was scrounging all over the Pacific to get movie theaters set up and I had some of the best scrounging chiefs and warrants in the U.S. Navy. Somehow, they produced the ultimate luxury: two big, 35 mm. regular projectors, which enabled us to get the best movies in the area, instead of the little sixteen millimeter outfits and their old films. But what I didn't know was that the 35 millimeter film was dangerously flammable, while the 16 mm. was not, and there were voluminous regulations to guard against fire. It was my duty to know about or look into it, but it didn't occur to me. One day I came back from a night hop to see a plume of flame and smoke over Pearl Harbor and felt my heart flop as I realized it was my main building. The film had caught fire and the whole top floor burned off. I was very properly given a letter of private admonition from the admiral for failure to take precautions against such a catastrophe.

In August of that year, 1945, I was on the roof one evening watching for the return of an overdue plane, when I saw star shells bursting over the cans tied up at the destroyer base. Then whistles began to blow, then yells and shouts. The war was over!

I started downstairs and when I was spied by my junior officers and men, they began to clap me on the back and act like insane idiots. Nor was it long before I caught the spirit of it all. I too, acted like an idiot. As the mob spirit of wild joy spread and mounted to a roaring storm of bursting public passion, people danced and cartwheeled through the streets of Ford Island in the middle of Pearl Harbor. Sailors burst into the WAVE barracks, kissing and hugging as they went, and when the old maid lieutenant in charge protested, she got kissed, too. Most of my uniform was torn off and I wound up on the shoulders of some of my men, almost naked! Toilet paper rolls by the thousands tangled the mob and it was hard to see. Whisky appeared and the riotous crowd began to exceed all bounds. It sickened me after a while and I escaped back to the relative quiet of my own little cottage in the Officers' Quarters section.

Then I had an emotional experience which exceeded in intensity anything I remembered about VJ Day. Amid the howling and screaming and bursting rockets and star shells, only a few hundred yards from the insane mob of celebrators, I heard the most peaceful, but moving sound in the world. With the noise of the mob in the background, a group of our mess boys, our colored servants, were standing out behind a building under the stars, singing spirituals and hymns. One huge Negro stood with his head thrown back so the light of the Lord could shine on his face, and I could see the tears rolling and streaming down his black face in the moonlight as he boomed out his gratitude to God for the end of the war! I cried too.

Let no one say that religion is the "opium of the people". I had none of my own, but I could feel the good strong warmth of theirs deep in my heart. And let no one say that I desire to hurt or oppress such people. How my heart went out to them and still does! They are a biologically immature race, and I will fight to the death to save our people from mixing with them in any way. So are my children my inferiors and I would not let them sit in on a business conference with me, but I certainly love my kids and, similarly, I love the Negro people, so long as they don't try to push or hurt me, or those I love.

I went and got those boys a bottle of wine and gave it to them and wished I could show them how deeply I was moved by their simple devotion and childlike reaction to overwhelming events, but there was little I could do, with decorum.

I had more than enough 'points' to 'get out', which was the big rush right away, and I started to make plans for sky-castles back in the States, just like a million other war-weary Americans. I dreamed of buying a surplus Piper Cub airplane on the West Coast, where my wife was working in San Diego, and flying back together, all over the U.S.A. What a wonderful, marvelous adventure that would have been! But my hopes were dashed miserably when I got a letter from my intended 'co-pilot' that she would have none of flying in any 'orange crate' with me!

I returned to San Diego on a destroyer-escort and got another dose of cold water from my still-new wife, with whom I had lived only a few months out of the two years of marriage, the rest of the time having been in the South Pacific. Judy knew I hated and still hate earrings, heavy lipstick and most of all, nail-polish. I realize this is a personal idiosyncrasy, but it goes back to a hate of ostentation and savage decoration, as such things seem to me. In any case, my wife usually went along with this wish, the few months I had been at home, but now, when I arrived at the dock, after almost two years overseas, I found her consciously bedecked and painted in these things. When I tried to kiss and hug her in the backseat of the car in which her landlady had picked us up, she pushed me away and explained that this was improper and embarrassing to the landlady. To hell with the landlady, I thought, as any returning sailor will understand! But Judy was adamant. We had to chat about empty nothings with the landlady, which put me in no happy mood. It was the beginning of the long, downward dive of the marriage which would see its last days six years and 6,000 miles later in that same San Diego — with three innocent little children added to the unhappy mess.

We took the train back to the East Coast and to happy reunions with both our families. Then we headed for Maine and civilian life!

A NATURAL MONEY SYSTEM

from World Service

In a properly planned system, the industry and capability of a nation to produce is the factor which determines its welfare, not gold or other artificial money systems. One of the main supporting columns on which Jewish power rests is gold. Once gold, as the basis of international economic relations, is overthrown, then the power of Jewish finance collapses.

Adolf Hitler, the German Chancellor, referring to this question, said in his speech to the Reichstag on January 30th, 1939:

"We can smile today at an age when economists were seriously of the opinion that the value of currency was determined by the reserves in gold and foreign exchange lying in the vaults of the national banks, and above all was guaranteed by them. Instead of that we have learned to realize that the value of currency lies in a nation's power of production, that an increasing volume of production sustains a currency, and could possibly raise its value, whereas a decreasing production must, sooner or later, lead to a compulsory devaluation.

"And at a time when the financial and economic prophets in other countries were predicting our collapse every three or six months, the Nationalist State was able by increasing production to the utmost to stabilize its currency.

"A natural ratio was established between expanding production and money in circulation. Stable prices which were maintained at all costs were rendered possible only by stable wages. And what has been distributed in Germany in the last six years in the way of increasing national income is in proportion to the increased production, that is, to the increased amount of work done. Thus it has become possible, not only to allow these seven million unemployed to earn wages, but to assure to their higher income a stable purchasing power, that is to say, to every mark paid out to them there corresponds immediately in the same ratio an increase of value in our national production. In other countries the reverse method has been adopted. Production is decreased, the national income is raised by raising wages, the purchasing power of their money thereby sinking, until they finally end up by devaluing their currency. I admit the German course is apt to be less popular because it means nothing less than that every rise in wages must necessarily come from an increase in production; that production thus is primary, and increase in wages secondary, or in other words, the absorption of seven million unemployed into trade and industry is, or was, not chiefly a wage problem, but purely and simply one of production. But it is not until the last labor resources in Germany are utilized that the further increase in the total amount of work done, whether through more intensive work or a greater degree of rationalization of technical processes, will lead to a more extensive participation of the individual in the increased consumption and in that way to a practical increase in wages."

Thus for the first time in history has a responsible head of a nation openly advocated abandonment of the Jewish gold and gold reserve system. Jewry fully understood this speech of Hitler's. The answer was immediately forthcoming in the shape of a monstrous campaign of lying and warmongering against Germany, and by Roosevelt's notorious "American frontiers in France" speech.

Will the Jews be successful in inciting the nations to make war on Germany, or will the peoples of these nations throw off the yoke of Jewish gold and money power and finally become free to stretch out their hands in common friendship based on work and mutual respect. The destiny of humanity lies in the hands of the peoples of these nations.

THE SINS OF THE FATHERS

The above article appeared in the World Service Bulletin of April 1, 1939. Once again, we have come full circle and the Jewish bankers see no way out of their problem other than another war or series of wars, but once again, war is no solution to the problem of gold and debt-based currency. The only solution is to base the supply of money on the supply of things money can buy, brushing aside and crushing where necessary the vested interests of Zionism and the predatory nationalism of that nation-within-our-nation, the Jews.

The God of Our Race has certainly given us enough warnings and chances. We White Americans saw the light in 1776 when we refused to be dominated by King George III of England who was merely a catspaw of the Rothschilds' Bank of England and who was ordered to squeeze the American colonies by substituting debt-based Bank of England money for the colonial currency. Refusing to fall for this ploy, the colonists maintained their own currency, as provided for in their charters. But Jews never stop behaving like Jews — thus they sought to rob the colonies some other way, again, using their hapless agent, the King of England. This time, the Crown would impose taxes upon the colonies directly, taxes which of course were payable in Bank of England (Rothschild) currency. The outcome of Jewish greed was the loss of the Thirteen Colonies to Britain, bloodshed between racial kinsmen, but the defeat of the forces of Zionism after a hard-fought war. Even here, Rothschild money was being pressed upon the hard-pressed Continental Congress, but was brusquely refused by our clear-sighted founding fathers. The fortunate intervention of the King of France, who had a bone to pick with Britain, was a boon to the embryonic United States and the Revolutionary War ended in temporary victory for our forces, temporary, because we gave away our victory in 1791 by chartering the First Bank of the United States — a Rothschild scheme promoted by the Jew and Rothschild agent, Alexander Hamilton.

Refusal on the part of Congress to re-charter this Rothschild instrument in 1811 led to those events which were the immediate cause of another Zionist attempt to conquer America with armed force in 1812. Again, the debtor-British Crown was nominated as the Rothschild 'hitman'. But once again, what had been so hard-won with blood shed on the battlefield was easy-lost with ink scrawled on paper: the Second Bank of the United States was chartered by a venal and traitorous government of the United States! Once more, the American people began to feel the tidal pull of alien domination through finance-capital created out of nothing and based on debt.

This time we were rescued by the Hero of New Orleans, President Andrew Jackson, who "rooted the vipers out" by refusing to renew the Bank's charter once more. Thanks must also go to Mr Aaron Burr, our ex-Vice President, whose well-aimed bullet put an end to the mischief of Zionist agent Hamilton.

The Zionist money forces saw much to gain in encouraging the outbreak of the Civil War. The Confederate South was easy-pickings, since they had Judah P. Benjamin in charge of the C.S.A. Treasury, a Jewish rat in charge of the cheese (which duly disappeared). Moreover, the South was not self-sufficient in regard to manufactured goods and needed to import most of its critical military items, even cotton cloth woven from Southern cotton. The Rothschild middlemen rejoiced.

The North, under Abraham Lincoln was not so easily subverted by Jewish money-power. Abraham Lincoln pulled a 'Hitler' on the Jews by printing his own money which was based on productivity and was paid, not loaned, into existence. Lincoln's genius and integrity not only held the country together, but saved American citizens a tremendous war debt which would have made income taxation necessary as early as 1862. For his genius and integrity, we all know that Lincoln was assassinated.

During the corrupt Grant presidency and thereafter, the Zionist money-lords contrived all manner of indirect schemes to dominate the creation of money and thereby achieve total control over the American economy. They sought to corner the market on gold, so as to drive this medium of exchange out of circulation and thereby smash the economy with a depression. Fortunately, an honest and patriotic Secretary of Treasury saw their scheme and sold Treasury gold to keep the price down. Heroic action such as this was always necessary to halt the Jew destruction and takeover of the American economy, but heroism is known as such because it is exceptional. Unfortunately, there were insufficient heroes of this sort to protect America from a series of 'panics' and 'depressions' which became more and more devastating as the Jews became more and more powerful in the land. But still, the Zionist criminals had not been able to cloak their crimes with the sanctity of official recognition. But this they achieved in 1913 through the Trojan Horse known as the Federal Reserve Act. The Federal Reserve was said to be a means of ending the constant turmoil and disruption of 'boom' and 'bust', but what it did was something else! The Federal Reserve brought about the worst depression in U.S. history, that of the 1930's which lasted most of the decade. Once again, here was an ostensibly good idea which had gone wrong. Why? Because, once again, the Jewish rats were in charge and were running the Reserve then, as now, to their own alien objectives and advantages, at the expense and suffering of the American people. The Federal Reserve, despite its misleading label, is not a reserve at all, but a private, Rothschild bank which does exactly what the First & Second U.S. Banks did: shackle the American economy to debt-based currency and Zionist whims.

The satanic bargain made with the forces of Zionism 'ended' the 1930's Great Depression at the price of going to war against Germany. This was the same price which the American people paid in 1913, to 'end' that depression. It would seem that Germany is easier to fight than corruption and alien domination here at home and that 'peace-loving' Americans would rather kill off their racial kinsmen and die in battle rather than clean out the criminal Zionist bankers.

People go away. They die. But problems do not go away of themselves. They remain with us and even grow more onerous and deadly, no matter how studiously we connive to overlook them. Because the previous generation of Americans failed to solve the money/production/distribution problem — which is basically The Jewish Problem — and chose instead to postpone the day of reckoning by participating in unnecessary and avoidable foreign wars, the present generation must face an even greater problem. The excision of the malignant tumor of Zionism from our dangerously ailing body politic will require even greater effort because our parents and the leaders of their generation allowed this cancer to grow unimpeded.

The decision to cure this sick society of ours rests with us. Let us hope that our decision will absolve us of the harsh verdict of History's Tribunal which has been pronounced over our shirking predecessors. Many of those who helped bring about the defeat of White, Christian Europe in 1945 may well plead ignorance in their defense, but for our generation which has experienced the falsehood of Zionist promises of a world free from war, hunger, fear and want, there can be no excuse for treason or cowardice.

If we are so unworthy that we refuse to grasp the proffered hand of Our Racial Destiny, it would be well that we became extinct by the very process of mongrelization which the Jews press down upon us. The flames of the Second American Revolution already flare up before our eyes. If we strive to turn our backs toward them, rather than join the struggle, our future will be black indeed. Letters to the Editor

Apreciados camaradas: 7.26.77

Os agradecemos vuestro anuncio de Erika, es una muestra magnifica de amistad racial. En nuestro proximo boletin No. 77 saldra un anuncio vuestro.

Vuestra revista es magnifica y sacamos amenudo fotos o sobretodo dibujos, es una obra NS unica la vuestra, pues la extension y calidad es enorme.

Estamos totalmente con vosotros en la idea de que aunque Hitler fue el ejemplo mas preclaro de nuestra lucha no debemos luchar como alemanes en 1939 (que cometieron graves errores con el pangermanismo frente la idea de raza) sino como arios en nuestros dias. El NS en los USA debe estar identificado como fanaticos de la forma de vida y del pais americano, de su tierra y de su pueblo. Hablar aleman, cantar canciones alemanes, es un error.

Nosotros aqui tomamos el nombre de Nacional revolucionarios y usamos como simbolo el del Nuevo Orden, la cruz celtica.

Por el Nationalsocialismo!

Dear Comrades: 7.26.77

We are pleased by your advertisement for Erika, as it is a magnificent demonstration of racial friendship. Your ad will appear in our next Bulletin, No. 77.

Your magazine is great and provides a frequent source of pictures and, above all, drawings. Yours is a unique National Socialist effort, of tremendous scope and quality.

We are in total agreement with your idea that, although Hitler was the foremost example for our struggle, we must not fight like Germans in 1939 (who committed grave errors in their promotion of Pan-Germanism at the expense of Racial Solidarity), but as present-day Aryans. National Socialism in the USA must become identified with fanatical zeal for America and the American Way of Life, identified with the soil and the people of the country. To speak German, to sing German songs, is a mistake.

We here have taken the name National Revolutionaries and use as our emblem the Celtic Cross of the New Order.

For National Socialism!

Dear Mr Dietz: 9.2.77

Something has been eating away at me and I feel you should know about it. For awhile, now, I have heard some nasty stories about you and the WPM. These rumors come from several people, some in other NS groups and one from a person in the KKK. I quote from a letter I received:

"Concerning Dietz... It is suspected by the NSM, NSWWP and the NSLF that he is a paid government agent and his job is to stir up bad feelings in the NS movements around the country. It comes from a good source [sic] since these are the only three NS groups that can be trusted. Just think of why Dietz has so much money, and is constantly starting trouble. Also the fact that he operates his WPM like a big Jewish business is also interesting. Of course, all Whites should unite and fight the enemy together... but with scum [sic] like Dietz and Matt Koehl around, its hard to do that."

Now, I don't know why there are such bad feelings between the various NS groups. I'd like to know why, but now, I'd like to state how I see things: I would like to see all the NS groups bury the axe, get together and work in harmony towards the ultimate goal. As long as there is feuding and bad feelings among us, nothing will be gained. The enemy, the Jew, will have his way, because the Whites will get absolutely nowhere.

Outside of a couple of comrades, it has been you, Mr Dietz, who has gone to the personal expense of sending me books and other material. I am deeply in your debt and to the WPM, Mr Dietz, and although you know that I am not a member of any group, this has not stopped you from helping me.

There is nothing worse than a self-righteous person. Nobody is perfect, so I would like to see Whites change their attitudes towards one another, just forgive and forget, in the best interests of Our Race.

If it's possible, Mr Dietz, I would like to hear from you.

White Power!

Editor: We know how difficult it is for our racial comrades in chains who are in no position to confirm or deny such rumors within the 'cozy-confines' of the ZOG-gulag, so we shall neither confirm or deny malicious rumors, but simply point out the facts so you can judge for yourselves.

(1) We are unknowns on the American NS scene because we believe that we are more effective when we put lumps on the heads of our racial enemies, rather than receiving his lumps on our heads in the form of unemployment, incarceration and bankruptcy — and fractured skulls. Certainly, we do not believe that our hides are too precious to risk in open conflict with the enemy, unlike the source of the poison-pen letter you have received, who advocates what he is too cowardly to do himself. We are risking our lives in the struggle, right now, but we see no need to walk into the clubs and fists of the negroidal enemy and thereby become punch-drunk. Because our ways are different, they are distrusted.

(2) Because our publications are the best NS pubs to emanate from Planet Earth in the present era, some self-styled 'White Hopes' believe we have Jewish backing. "If it looks good, it must be Jewish." This is their loser's credo and merely reflects the fact that they have been losing for over a decade with their self-chosen Strategy of Befuddled Objectives. If I were to believe, for one moment, that "Goodness = Jewishness", I would give up my struggle for the Aryan Race and join the kikes. The credo of the WPM is "Excellence = Aryan!" or, as my comrades say, "When America needs a better idea, Dietz puts it in print!"

(3) We know the source of these irresponsible allegations. If you are interested in further 'words of wisdom' from this self-styled Hollywood Nazi, we offer the following flakes of dementia induced by what would appear to be a terminal case of delirium tremens which has found its way into print. I quote: "Take to the streets! Kill your enemies!" (That is one of his real gems, which he attributes to Commander Rockwell.) "We... appeal to the 'nut' in all of us... We were and are catering to man's basest instincts. We're not even political. We haven't got a program or platform. It is ridiculous to think that anyone is going to be able to carry a Swastika directly into power here or anywhere else in the world today." (Where have we heard that one, comrades?) "The object is fast and continuous movement. We're not growing or building, but moving in time... We've just said a mouthful here, but still, nobody is going to be able to take any of it and turn it around on us." (Obviously not! A successful suicide does not require the services of an assassin.)

(4) As explained in our publications, the WPM came as the solution to White America's problems. We are unique in that we looked at the problem first and then derived the solution, whereas our critics have found what they think is a solution and now are searching for a problem to match. Some are searching for Munich of 1923 and others are looking for a Confederacy to restore. How these solutions relate to present-day Aryan America, these would-be problem-solvers have failed to explain to us and the rest of the White American Majority. Unfortunately, we no longer have time to wait for them to think up an explanation. We must act.

(5) How do you know that the WPM is not the ZOG? Well, just assume, for the moment, that we are the ZOG, then read our material. Do we advocate anything which will get you immediately locked up? Do we say anywhere that we demand 'blind obedience', that we expect you to take orders without any show of good faith on our part? Do our ideas sound like those of an agent-provocateur? Do we put out information which any White person CANNOT use, immediately, to benefit his race? If your answer is "No" to all these questions, then you are justified in concluding that we are not the ZOG, and you are absolutely right!

Dear Comrades:

I have been informed that the symbol of the British White Power Movement began as the emblem of the British Imperial Fascist League of Arnold Leese in the 1920's and 1930's, so you could say that our branch of the WPM goes back to the beginning of NS in Britain. White Victory! 88!

D.S., England

Editor: The White Power Formula for emblems is as follows: The Geographical-Historical Symbol + The White Man's Symbol = Your Country's Symbol for Your White Power Movement. Any schoolboy could think up this obvious composition and any nigger can understand it, which is all a very sad commentary on the mentalities (?) of our self-appointed racial saviors. This formula was expressed quite clearly by Adolf Hitler in MEIN KAMPF when he designed the racial emblem for Germany. Remember, you can't win with a krinklejammer (Swastika substitute used by those who want to out-sneak the supersneaks and fool their friends, while not fooling the enemy)!

Comrades: 8.30.77

Enclosed is my Official Supporter contribution for September.

I'm putting up our White Power stickers almost as fast as they get torn down. Too bad it's mainly Whites who tear them down. How many Blacks or Jews would tear down stickers saying "Black Power" or "Jew Power"?

Common sense is what the WPM has got! The White Power Movement is the most 'with it' organization I have ever seen on the NS scene! Let's get rid of the creeps who have the gall to call themselves NS. Creeps and nuts are not NS. It's just that simple.

B.E., CA

Editor: Hear, hear! Well said, Comrade E. The day will come when White Power makes the creeps run, back into the closets from whence they've come. On that day, it will be more than poetic justice. It will be pure pleasure.

Sir: 9.1.77

I am gathering data to form a thesis on Hitler's strange affiliations and connections with the enemy. The purpose of this thesis is to draw attention to obvious clues ignored which prove the enemy's total control over Germany prior and during World War Two.

Overwhelming evidence is found in Dunkirk, Rommel's death, Canaris, Schacht and the attempt on Hitler's life, and the similar symbolism of Masonic Illuminism with the National Socialist Movement.

Reflective thought upon these true events is mandatory in order to know our enemy, lest we go the same route — all for naught — as the destruction of Germany and the elimination of Western Culture are now manifest. To know the enemy fully, we need to learn Hitler's strange affiliations and connections with the enemy.

My intuition impresses me very strongly that Hitler premeditated the destruction of Germany, and hence, was Germany's enemy-within. We both know that the enemy organizes his own opposition. There is a diabolic hoax here, even more gruesome than the Six Million Myth. Any suggestions you care to make will be welcome.

A.T., FL

Editor: Hoo boy! I have one suggestion at first thought, but after a long, slow count of ten, I shall strive to deal with your ideas a little more rationally. Certainly, your hypothesis is provocative, but other than that, what purpose does it serve? In truth, until the end of time or the extinction of the human race, we can never tell what purpose any great or minor person serves in the entire scheme of things. Certainly, there were traitors in Germany and they did the best job possible for Germany's enemies. How did they escape Himmler's Gestapo? I cannot say. Some, like Canaris, whose real name was Meyerbeer, were found out and executed. It remains to be seen whether Canaris' intended betrayal of the Third Reich served any other purpose than that of thoroughly confusing the Allied High Command, for they never could bring themselves to believe the priceless gems of information he was handing them, if not exactly on a silver platter, at least by special courier. Well, this is not the first time pearls have been cast before swine, but we are getting off our subject. Let us assume Hitler was an enemy agent. By the same token, let us subject Jesus Christ to the same examination, for if a line of thinking is obviously absurd in one case, it may be subtly absurd, but no less absurd in the other. Certainly, Christ paved the way for lots of Gentile slaves being provided the Jews. In today's world, the traditional Christian looks up to the sky for his heavenly reward, while the kike picks his pockets. Jews are trained materialists and Christians are trained to work hard, but to forsake the glories and pleasures of this world. Don't try to flim-flam me, because I was confirmed as a Christian and heedlessly promised to "forsake the sinful lusts of the flesh", fool that I was. Well, look at the evidence: If Christ had not come with His message, would we dumb goyim be working for the Jews today? More likely, we would have lopped off their ugly heads with our pagan axes and used their skulls (ugh!) for drinking cups. Skoal!

Well, back to Hitler in his role as betrayer of the German people. Let us suppose that Hitler had never come into existence, nor National Socialism. Look in what direction Germany was headed: Sovietization, the Gulag Republic of Communist Zionism. The Germans who lived ten years longer, thanks to Hitler, and who died fighting the Zionist enemy, would have starved ten years earlier. I would say the German people got the better part of the bargain with Hitler than without him. Again, suppose there were no Hitler. The United States was being strangled into Communism by the Jew money-masters, but they relented, long enough for us stupid goyim to smash the Great White Hope in Germany. So, Hitler saved America from Communist takeover for at least two generations. Wasn't that worth it?

To get right down to it, where would the Satanic Jews be today, if it weren't for the genius and diligence of the White Race? You're right — they'd be nowhere. So that would condemn us all as being traitors to Our Race. No, my intuitive investigating friend, we are, individually and collectively, our own betrayers. If anyone's hands are clean of treason to his race, it is the hands of Adolf Hitler! Heil Hitler!

Dear George:

8.8.77

Thank you for your letter of July 15 and the enclosed material.

I agree entirely with the contents of your letter. In Australia, due to the fault of the last socialist Labor Party Government and the present Zionist Government led by Malcolm Fraser of the Liberal Party (whose mother was also Jewish), the inflow of non-Whites has been tremendous. Sydney, the largest city (3 million) is becoming the Jew York of Australia and one day, no White Australian may walk the streets of this city unscathed, just like Jew York.

I am appalled by this situation, and until Fraser is replaced by another member of the Liberal Party, as Prime Minister, the racial situation is going to worsen rapidly. What are we White Australians doing about this?

Well, like the American Whites, we are moving out of the big cities and into the small towns and the countryside. Suburbia, I believe you call it.

Politically, the majority is as sound asleep as in your country. There are many pro-White groups in Australia, but none of them really have their thinking-caps on straight, as yet, so they do not perceive the necessity for National Socialism. There is, of course, the Australian "Nazi" Party, whose leaders are very much clowns and lack the intelligence necessary to fight the well-supported Jews in high places. Incidentally, the next Governor-General of Australia is to be a Jew, so we shall be confronted by the two most senior power-brokers in Australia (Prime Minister Fraser being the other one) who are firmly in and of the enemy camp.

I believe there is a real need now to establish a White Power Movement in Australia with your assistance, along the lines of the organizations you have established in the U.S.A., Canada, Britain and presently in South Africa. A WPM for Australia would unite us with other White people as well as protect and advance our way of life as White Australians.

The Australian WPM is long overdue. Its symbol, the seven-pointed star of the Southern Cross with the Aryan Cross therein will shed a ray of hope for the White people of the Australian Continent.

WHITE POWER!

A.T., Australia

Editor: Welcome to the ranks of the Aryan Vanguard, Comrade T.! The White Power Movement is needed everywhere the members of Our Race stand besieged, which is everywhere.

Dear Comrades: 8.30.77

Having just read Comrade Covington's Strategy of Limited Objectives, I see that he refers to Adolf Hitler. As for the question "To putsch or not to putsch?" we must never do the enemy a favor by calling our shots in advance. If the enemy can be sure that you will NOT do something, well in advance, he can prepare a suitable ambush for you as you go parading, with bugles blaring, down your road to political defeat.

Just for keeping the record straight, as they say, I must inform Comrade Covington that coming to power by the Zionist electoral process was Hitler's second choice, for he already had the popular support to keep him in office once he had 'putsched' his way in, as did Mussolini. Although Hitler's 1923 attempt failed because of lack of ruthlessness — stemming from the desire to win over an enemy, rather than destroy him — the Kapp Putsch of 1920 was even more instructive from the aspect of befuddled objectives. It is apparent that no coalition of persons or groups having different orders of priorities can succeed, for the secret of successful putsching is decisive swiftness and the guarantee of failure is always muddled half-measures, brought about by confusion of priorities.

I found it very informative to learn why the Kapp Putsch failed, and refer the reader of German to the historical portrayal by E.R. Dwinger, Auf halbem Wege. At fault were three elderly fieldmarshalls who believed in chivalry so much, they gave all the advantages to the red and pink mob. First, there was Luettwitz, who personally gave the ultimatum to Ebert-Noske, a full 24 hours before troops were on hand to arrest them. Luettwitz neglected to inform Kapp, leader of the putsch, that he had given the enemy 'fair warning', so it was Kapp who was surprised, not the Reds. A staunch comrade, that Luettwitz! Kapp had, of course, intended to arrest them first and deliver the ultimatum afterwards, but instead, the Red leaders fled to Dresden. Kapp still wanted them arrested, so he phoned Dresden and spoke to the second monkey of the trio: Maerker, the officer in charge. Maerker was stricken, not by a fit of White Knighthood, but by a chronic case of diffidence. He shied from taking responsibility and let the Reds flee to Stuttgart. As long as the Reds were loose, that meant that there were two governments in Germany, so you can well imagine the police and government officials' reaction — they did nothing, preferring to wait and see.

Seeing that all surprise was lost, Kapp wanted to call the whole thing off. But, his subordinates urged him to continue the putsch, for if he gave in now, they were likely to be hanged! Thus did Kapp pursue the forlorn hope, and committed another error of chivalry. Kapp discovered he could not pay his officials because the Reichsbank refused to honor his check. Erhardt, another White Knight, refused to storm the Reichsbank, stating that soldiers were not safe-crackers. However, when Erhardt tried to redeem himself by arresting the leaders of a mutiny against Kapp, he made the mistake of asking the final fieldmarshall, Ludendorff, for permission to make the arrest, as it was Ludendorff's prerogative. Despite the fact that the mutineers were safely in the bag, surrounded by reliable troops, Ludendorff refused to give the order for their arrest — what, arrest his fellow officers? Never! This was known as Ludendorff's 'Berlin Blunder'. His 'Munich Mistake' was to follow three years later, when Hitler had arrested several generals. Ludendorff took it upon himself to let these men go, 'on their word of honor', which, of course, they broke within 20 minutes! For Ludendorff, a 'gentleman's word of honor' was always more important than the survival of the Folk. This was a major difference between Ludendorff and Adolf Hitler, and may serve to explain the hatred Ludendorffers have for The Leader.

Can we learn from history? I hope so!

R.E., Germany

Editor: Very informative Comrade E. Thank you for the lesson!

Dear Mr Dietz:

In the September WPR there were two articles I particularly liked: "Marxism & National Socialism" and "What National Socialists Were Really Like". Your father was a handsome man. If you are going to make reprints of these two articles, let me know.

J.T., W.Va.

Editor: Glad you liked them. Yes, reprints are available. Our apologies to readers who may have been confused about our conclusion of the article on "Marxism & NS" which appeared on page 27 of our September issue. Just read the righthand column before you read the lefthand one. Notice to our critics: Because you must read from right to left does not mean we are Jewish.

FOUR BOOKS THAT SHOOK THE WORLD!

By Christof Friedrich

At the zenith of his business career, Henry Ford, Sr., America's famous native son and industrial genius, sensed that a terrific effort was being made to rob him of his business, and to manipulate it into the hands of the money-changers. Mr. Ford had the distinct impression that these manipulators were being advised by powerful Jewish financiers.

Henry Ford called to his office the most brilliant and intelligent research men of his time. He commissioned them to make a complete and thorough study of the international Jew. Their findings were published in The Dearborn Independent which, at that time, was the official organ of the Ford Motor Company. No expense was spared and it is estimated that several millions of dollars were spent by Mr. Ford on this project. The original articles were carried in serial form in The Dearborn Independent and later were published in book form. Made up into four volumes, a complete set of these books was given to each purchaser of a Ford automobile.

Perhaps the most astonishing part of Henry Ford's trail-blazing work is the fact that as early as 1920 Mr. Ford had in his possession a copy of The Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion, and every chapter of his books carried a preface with either a text from these Protocols or some published statements of prominent Jews.

The Protocols had been smuggled out of Imperial Russia. The Russian Intelligence Service had obtained them at the turn of the century during a Zionist Congress held in Basel, Switzerland. Since that time, Jews and many of their most powerful and influential friends and fellow-travelers from around the world have mounted a desperate effort to discredit the content of the Protocols and even to deny the existence of the document. Over half a century has elapsed and there can be absolutely no doubt that the horrifying contents of the Protocols have been and still are being fulfilled.

A great howl went up from the Jews as soon as The International Jew (as the books were now called) hit the scene. Every device in the plentiful and vengeful arsenal of the Jews was used against Henry Ford, from abuse to smear, character assassination, ridicule, physical threat and boycott. The pressure was constant, consistent and heavy, always with the one aim, to stop the printing of The International Jew.

Demands escalated and pressures increased to recall the book and to recant. An apology was demanded of Henry Ford. Incredible as it seems, publication was stopped and all available copies were destroyed. An apology was actually extracted from Mr. Ford, but it appeared over the forged signature of one of Mr. Ford's lieutenants — Harry Bennett — and Henry Ford himself denied to the day of his death, ever having signed such an apology.

Following this, Jews and their allies went into the bookstores and bought and destroyed all copies which could be found. Sneak thieves were hired to visit libraries and comb bookshelves to steal and destroy all copies. This made the book so rare that it became an instant "antique" item. It has remained a collector's item, often bringing hundreds of dollars per set.

In the meantime, volumes were sent as gifts to leading figures all over the world. It is thought that Mr. Ford's long-time private secretary, Ernest Liebold, a man of German background, may have been responsible for introducing the books and their invaluable content to leading business and political figures in Germany.

No one knows how, through whom, or when the first volume fell into the circle of men around a new name in German politics — Adolf Hitler. He himself was unable to read English, and so he was given translated excerpts. Hitler was so impressed, he started quoting from the material in his own speeches, and soon a publisher was found for a German edition. Thus, little known to the world, a great American genius became the teacher and mentor of Germany's new leader.

With his thirst for truth whetted, Hitler conducted a similar study into Jewry's involvement in German and European affairs. In this way, a great axis of understanding was forged between America and Europe. Henry Ford, Sr., the American of immense wealth, was brought to his knees and failed to awaken his people; Adolf Hitler, the political leader went on to power in Germany.

The dangers of Jewish influence to German society so well outlined by Ford in the American context, was checked by National Socialist Germany. Jews were removed from business, cultural posts, teaching positions, from the press and the armed forces.

Hitler, too, suffered defeat militarily at the hands of an unholy alliance consisting so unfortunately of his own racial brothers who had been incited into this world-wide war by the same Jewish money-lenders who had been exposed by Henry Ford, Sr.

Now, 32 years after Germany's defeat and Henry Ford's death, this new edition is offered to you in an unabridged, complete as the original, version. These books belong in every white home, school, church, university and library. To ignore the vital lessons they teach will mean race suicide and disaster for America and the world.

Today, the Jews have their own State — Israel. Let them go there, live there, work there and create any kind of society that they desire. God only knows there has been enough blood-letting, misery, cheating, lying, and wholesale murder to bring forth that State of Israel; so after just compensation to the Arabs for the loss of their homeland, the Jews should now be forced to live in the unholy State they have created, for they do not belong among us culturally, spiritually, nor much less racially.

Hungarian National Socialism

by Our Man from Budapest

National Socialism, the world philosophy of the 20th century, had painful beginnings in Hungary of the 1930's. Several false starts were made because leaders tried to transplant foreign variants of National Socialism into Hungary, mainly from Italy. Hungarians are a proud people and do not like to play 'second fiddle' to some other country's ideology or style of leadership.

One such martyr to the transplant theory was Zoltan Boszormeny, a disciple of Mussolini who organized a movement in the small towns and villages around 1931. The name of his organization, despite its Fascist orientation, was The National Socialist Hungarian Workers' Party, which was too much of a mouthful for even Hungarians, so the people called it the "Crossed Scythes Movement". This nickname was derived from the NSHWP's emblem: two scythes crossed, with a skull in the center. It is a testimony to Hungarian gallantry that they were not called "The Dead-Heads" or some equivalent Magyar term of derision.

Boszormeny's "Party" never achieved representation in Parliament, although it gained wide popularity among the poorest members of the Hungarian Nation. Zoltan Boszormeny did not realize that it was not enough to imitate the Italian Fascist Party and to transplant exotic forms without 'nationalizing' them extensively or discarding them when they boded for ill-will among the masses. Indeed, it would appear more difficult to import a ready-made, foreign political movement, style and doctrine than to start off from scratch, using a few basic principles derived from the successful foreign movement. Again, the great leader is one always able to distinguish strategy from tactics and not trip himself up by confusing one with the other.

To the extent that Zoltan Boszormeny was able to choose correctly, he was successful, but when he failed to make the correct choice of tactic, according to a strategic order of priorities, he failed disastrously and completely.

In 1933, the NSHWP gathered in the Koros River district with their scythes, in preparation for a Mussolini-style "March on Budapest", which had succeeded in Italy eleven years before. Unfortunately, the Hungarian authorities had read the newspapers about the Fascist triumph in Italy and saw Boszormeny's plan well in advance.

The gathering was nearly completed, many of the NSHWP members so poor that they could not even afford shirts, much less black ones, and they stood in ranks, many of them, wearing tattered pullovers which they had managed to borrow for the great occasion. They waited for the order to begin their triumphal march. By this time, the police, who had waited for the bag to fill, decided they had enough prisoners, so they gave the order, and the NSHWP accompanied them, not to Budapest, but to jail. The subsequent trials completely put an end to the imitation Fascist movement.

Not to be outdone, other copycats imported German National Socialism. In 1932, the basically democratic Independent Farmers' Party discovered that they had a maverick representative in Parliament, one Zoltan Mesko, who resigned from the Farmers' Party and appeared in Parliamentary session wearing a brown shirt and Swastika armband. Having captured the attention of one and all, he announced the formation of the Hungarian National Socialist Agriculturists' and Workers' Party. This "Party's" program was an anemic copy of the NSDAP program for Germany and treated mainly of the Jewish Question, which at that time was not exactly on most Hungarians' minds. Lack of funds induced Mesko to join forces with two counts — Alexander Festetics and Fidel Palffy. Needless to say, the HNSAWP never got off the ground, for it had no roots in the soil of Hungary.

For Nationalist Hungary, 1935 was the turning point. As usual, one man alone was able to work out the formula for success. This was Ferenc Szalasi, a First World War veteran, who resigned his career as major in the army to organize The Party of National Will. Unlike his predecessors, Szalasi knew the Hungarian people and saw the errors which had defeated the previous National Socialist parties. He knew in advance the Hungarian people's reaction to a foreign import — derision, suspicion and indifference. Hungarians are proud of being Hungarians and know, as should most people, how the imitator must always play a subordinate role to those he imitates. In brief, Hungarians had no desire to appear to their fellow Hungarians as agents of a foreign power.

Szalasi knew that his National Socialist movement must be firmly rooted in the soil of Hungary and its traditions so that it would be identified as an organic outgrowth of Hungarian history, rather than an exotic plant, uprooted from some foreign hothouse. Obviously, it was not sufficient merely to be a Hungarian in the trying circumstances which faced the Nation. This Szalasi knew, also. A movement was needed to uplift Hungarians, as Hungarians, to purify and to detoxify the body of the Nation and to direct it onward and upward. In this regard, the foreign social movements could help, for out of their doctrines and experiences could be distilled the essential principles which could be applied in the Hungarian situation. This Szalasi knew how to do and this he did!

Szalasi summed up his Hungarian approach to National Socialism in his book, Ut es Cel (The Way and The Goal): "Our world outlook and philosophy is National Socialism in its Hungarian form. It is not Hitlerism, nor Fascism, nor 'anti-Semitism', but Hungarism..."

The founder of the Hungarist movement had a great belief in his Nation and in himself, as any national leader must. As the emblem of the movement he chose St Ladislaus' combat insignia: crossed arrows, symbolizing the militant Christianity of this king of the Hungarians from 1077 to 1095. The members of his party wore green shirts and addressed one another as "Brother".

Szalasi gave his movement not only a party program for the immediate future, but also an ideology, a strategic program for the future. He emphasized the concept of "Pax Hungarica" which was a program for peace within the country. It meant peace between social classes, between intellectual and physical workers, between Catholics and Protestants and between the various ethnic groups which had shared the living-space of Hungary for centuries.

In terms of social organization, Szalasi wished to see established the corporate state which was achieved by Mussolini in Italy. On the political side of the movement's many-faceted program, Szalasi saw the potential benefits to be gained from a foreign policy which he called "Co-Nationalism", a completely new concept in the political field, for it envisioned a policy of permanent co-operation among de facto interdependent nations for the benefit of all. Here was an idea which was new, indeed, for it was designed to supersede the wasteful back-biting and constant making and unmaking of alliances of the moment. This concept Szalasi worked out in great detail as early as 1935, as it is referred to in his book, Ut es Cel, which was written that year. Later, in 1943, he made a systematic exposition of the new foreign policy concept in his work, Nagyter — Eletter — Vezetoneep (Territory — Living-space — Leading Nation).

"The Nation is the apex," wrote Szalasi, "of political, economic and social order. This is a building block which achieves its full stature within each Nationstate and can rise no higher, unless it enters into co-operation with its neighboring Nationstates. When neighboring Nationstates adopt the policy of Co-Nationalism or Co-operative Nationalism, the whole may become larger than the sum of its separate parts and great benefits may be realized for such a team effort in the achievement of their common interests, through the recognition of their interdependence."

As in the case of Codreanu of Romania, it was not the Zionist enemy who attacked Szalasi and his followers, but a decadent, feudal-conservative regime which saw its preservation only through collaboration and subordination to the racial enemy: the regime of Admiral Nicholas Horthy. The Zionist puppets arrested Szalasi in February 1938, the same year the Jew stooges made their murderous move against Codreanu and his followers. Szalasi was sentenced to three years' imprisonment for the "willful disruption of social and state order." All the Party's property was confiscated, as took place in Germany, upon the imprisonment of Adolf Hitler, and The Party of National Will was officially disbanded. The outlook was bleak, indeed.

But here we come to one of the many surprises one receives from politics: The Hungarian people suddenly shook themselves awake, thanks to the government's high-handed action. Suddenly, they recognized their cause and their leader! Szalasi's name became a household word all over the land, and suddenly, the country was flooded with a small, colored leaflet which carried the message:

Mussolini: Forli
Hitler: Landsberg
Szalasi: Szeged

WHITE POWER REPORT

THERE IS NO RESURRECTION WITHOUT GOOD FRIDAY!

Thirty-year-old Kalman Hubay, member of Parliament and brilliant journalist, astounded his colleagues by leaving the governing party and announcing the formation of Szalasi's second party: The Hungarian National Socialist Party — Hungarist Movement. This party began with three representatives in Parliament and took off like a rocket. The followers of Boszormeny, Mesko, Festetics and Palffy joined the new party en masse. This conversion was so rapid that there was not even time for murmurings of 'coalitions' and the like.

Faced with this rapidly-growing opposition party and a general election soon to come in 1939, the reactionary government under Regent-Admiral Horthy stooped to an underhanded scheme fully in keeping with its lack of moral fiber. The Minister of the Interior, the Jews' man-in-place, Ferenc Keresztes-Fischer, contrived an 'incident' which he hoped would discredit the Hungarists as well as provide the pretext for their general round up and imprisonment. This intrigue was dubbed "The Dohany Street Bombing".

The whole trick involved getting two thugs to join the Party, under the guidance of the Budapest police captain, Ferenc Sombor-Schweinitzer, a racial Jew. As per Zionist orders, the two criminals tossed a grenade into the crowd of kikes coming out of the Dohany Street Synagogue on a Saturday evening. Although the 'bombing' resulted in no deaths and no injuries, the jewsmedia ran prominent headlines proclaiming the 'atrociousness' as an attempt at "mass assassination" [genocide?]. The police were terribly efficient and arrested the two thugs almost immediately. Their 'testimony' during the swiftly-convened courtroom farce was to the effect that they had acted on "orders" from the Hungarist Party Headquarters at 60 Andrassy Avenue.

The government machinery went just as swiftly into action against the Hungarist Party which was immediately disbanded by order of the Minister of the Interior. Its leaders were arrested and the Party's property confiscated. This timely move on the part of the reactionary government came on the eve of the 1939 elections which were to be the first secret-ballot elections in Hungarian history.

Not without resourcefulness nor courage in the face of this adversity, Kalman Hubay immediately announced the formation of the third party of the Hungarist Movement: The Arrow-Cross Party. Busily and efficiently, he began to reorganize the members of the Movement who were still out of prisons and jails or concentration camps. The remnant of the Hungarist Movement faced the elections with forlorn prospects, indeed: Their leaders were in prison and there were no good orators, no funds and no Party publication. Thus did Szalasi's third party prepare for the general elections!

Lack of funds prevented the Arrow Cross Party from running the original 250 candidates. Instead, they were able to put only 60 candidates into the field, but of these 60, the Hungarian people elected 49!

In 1940, through the efforts of Hitler and Mussolini, a part of Transylvania was ceded to Hungary by Romania. This acquisition caused general jubilation in the country and Regent Horthy magnanimously gave amnesty to all political prisoners — a good excuse, as Hitler was looking on over his shoulder in regard to the well-being of his fellow Nationalists and wished no harm to befall them. Thus it was that after two and a half years of imprisonment, Szalasi was once more a free man. He immediately joined the third party of the movement which he had founded and took over its leadership.

The Party, although always slandered and attacked, made progress until 1944, when the adverse fortunes of war placed half of Hungary under Soviet domination. At this point, Regent Horthy decided to 'come to some sort of agreement' with the Reds. Knowing the true nature of the Red menace, the Hungarian people were relieved when Otto Skorzeny took the Regent in charge and relieved him of his duties. It now became necessary to organize a new government for Hungary, in the middle of a war. Needless to say, nobody was very anxious to take on the job, no one except Ferenc Szalasi.

On the evening of October 15, 1944, Hungarian radio listeners were thrilled to hear being broadcast the Hungarist marching song: "Ebred; Magyar" (Hungarians Awake!). There was all too little time, however, to realize a truly Nationalist Hungarian government, with the Zionist forces already occupying half the country. But in the time that was left, Szalasi performed wonders.

On coming to power he forgave many of his bitterest political enemies. He took the reins of government firmly in hand, such as they were, and never sought to 'make a deal' with the enemy. For fifty-two days, he personally directed the defense of the capital, Budapest, and these precious days helped to give the Western forces time to rally sufficiently to save Western Europe, part of Germany and Northern Italy from occupation by the Red Army.

In the final days of World War II, Szalasi and his government withdrew to the West. Although offered asylum in Switzerland, Szalasi refused. He was arrested by Jewish officers of the 'American' Counter Intelligence Corps and returned to the newly-ensconced Red government of Hungary, who executed him on March 12, 1946.

In the peculiar fortunes of war, wherein a simple act can make the difference between life and death and in which the element of the absurd enters, like Loki, to deliver or destroy at a whim, General Arpad Henney escaped the fate of the other members of Szalasi's government because he was "above quota" and had no place on the aircraft which transported the so-called Hungarian war criminals to torture and death. He became the forgotten man.

But we today continue to work under his guidance and despite our dispersal over the globe, the Hungarist Movement still lives! We have four publications, reproduced mimeographically: Ut es Cel, the official organ of the Movement and Perseverance, which appears in three languages — Hungarian, English and French. The Honky in the Woodpile of Black History

by Mark W. Bonds

With the advent of "Black History" and "Black Studies" in our schools and universities almost a decade ago, the student of history is taking a closer look at Africa and its peoples' contributions (if any) to what we call civilization. We do not deny for a moment the existence of African culture, nor the fact that they have a history, even though the Blacks have relied upon other races to write it down. Certainly, African culture and history can boast of more than mud huts and the local witch doctor. Of course they can! It is the purpose of this brief article to shed some light upon the Black people of the Dark Continent in regard to their major achievements.

Among the many currently available "Black History" textbooks, John Franklin's From Slavery to Freedom, published by A.A. Knopf of New York in 1974, is typical, and as such, should indicate the quality of scholarship in this fashionable field of 'study'.

The book mentions that several independent, Black African states had existed on the continent before the arrival of the White Man (the villain). Among these, the oldest was Ghana, a state founded in pre-Christian times by (oops!) White Berbers, who were subsequently overthrown by their Black servants. The Blacks took over the vestiges of Berber civilization, but gradually faded back into jungle ways. Sedentary agriculture, as opposed to the nomadic slash and burn clearings, remained as a sign of civilization, but the major occupation or 'industry' by far was slavery, which pre-dated the Berbers and appears as the most common of all Negro endeavors. Ghana was eventually destroyed by Muslim invaders from the north, around the time of the Middle Ages.

Here we discover a salient characteristic of these "Black History" books: It is not so much what they say, but what they omit which impresses the alert and thinking reader. Throughout the text on Ghana, there are passing references to Arab (Semitic) influence. The Arabs, who have been the chief middlemen of slave-trading, were obviously on the scene in this role, since the Blacks had plenty of slaves to sell off and someone had to buy them, but no mention is made in regard to the influence which the more advanced Arab civilization must have had upon the Negro rulers of Ghana. Doubtless, Arab influence was considerable, and must have proved of great value in maintaining such remnants of civilization as had accrued to Black Ghana. Arab influence was predominant in other parts of Africa. It seemed to go hand-in-hand with the maintenance of Black African kingdoms and states, rather than the traditional nomadic, incoherent tribes. Without the Arabs, it is a certainty that the Black states, such as they were, would have disintegrated and gone back to the jungle. In essence, the Arabs could be called the "culture merchants" of Black Africa.

The lingua franca of northeastern Black Africa is Swahili, a derivative of Arabic, which serves primarily as a trade language, as it is so easy to learn. It corresponds to the "kitchen kaffir" of southern Africa, otherwise known as "Chalapalapa" and is derived from the Zulu tongue with additions of English and Afrikaans.

Another fact left out of the discussion of Ghana is the racial composition of the Blacks who overthrew the last dynasty of White Berbers. As real historians are aware, the contact between two races always results in some degree of miscegenation or mongrelization. Thus it is likely that there were a goodly number of mongrels (mulattoes) in Ghana. When White and Black are interbred, the result can be classified either as an 'up-bred' Negro or a 'down-bred' White, although there is no such thing as a down-bred or semi-White. Mongrels are non-Whites, period. Given the horrible example of Haiti, it is likely that the more intelligent half-breeds led the revolt and established themselves as rulers over the less-intelligent pure Blacks. As White genes, including those of intelligence are out-bred at the ratio of four to one by Black genes and lesser intelligence, it would have been a mere matter of time until the Berber-Black half-breeds reverted to the Black majority — had it not been for the Arabs, whose genes and influence helped sustain several of these Black 'kingdoms' for centuries longer than they could have existed otherwise.

Another Black African state to rise to some significance was Mali, which achieved the height of its prestige around 1235 A.D. Arab influence was admittedly strong in this state and its people eventually were converted to Islam. Mali boasted of a written language, although its origins are shrouded in mystery, for heretofore, no Black people had 'seen fit' to adopt any written language whatsoever. As the idea of statehood, rather than tribalism, was alien (White), it would seem logical that the language of the state of Mali would also be an adaptation of a foreign tongue, as with the Khazar adoption of the Hebrew alphabet around 700 A.D. In any event, the written language of Mali appeared to bear a strong resemblance to Arabic.

Although Mali was 'advanced' for a Black African state, an Arab poet who accompanied one of the rulers of Mali back to his kingdom, after his pilgrimage to Mecca, was not impressed with Mali's "straw hut mosques", an indication of the primitive architecture of 'advanced' Mali.

Throughout its history as a 'Black state', Mali was gifted by numerous Arab cultural contributions, otherwise it could never have maintained itself so successfully. It must be understood that the African continent is rich, indeed, and that there is no lack of organization nor authority in traditional Black tribal life. There just has been no desire on the part of those Blacks in authority to command the creation of stone buildings or the use of the wheel. Why? Because the Black ruler could not conceive of such wondrous things all by himself!

The pattern of racial intermixture and the Arab cultural influence may be seen in the case of another Black African state, Songhay. This state had made advances (for Black Africa, but not for Arabia or Europe) in the fields of measurement and to a certain degree in the development of a written language. Songhay's population was composed of the usual Blacks, plus numerous cross-breeds and a large proportion of pure Arabs. One indication of the Arab presence was the fact that Songhay was a Mohammedan. The rulers of Songhay were notable, even in Black Africa, for their brutality — a much-admired trait amongst the Blacks. It was Songhay which destroyed Mali, not the White Europeans.

What becomes obvious in reading these 'official Black Histories' is that Black 'up-breeding' with non-Blacks and Arab influence is synonymous with Black African 'civilization'. If one doubts this statement, one has only to locate these 'pre-European' Black states on the map: they were all located in northern and central Africa, where contact with non-Negroids and Semites (Arabs) was most frequent. Add to this fact that the more southern Blacks were notably 'less advanced' — due to their lack of contact with the more advanced non-Blacks — and the pattern becomes obvious. The stark truth is that the Black Man, alone, has been incapable of producing anything comparable to Aryan Civilization, without the racial admixture of non-Black peoples and the incessant transfer of their civilization.

As the recent experience of the Belgian Congo indicates, the Black Man, having received a certain degree of advancement from another race, reverts to his primitive state when alien influence and genes are removed. When this happens, the Blacks' state disintegrates, and all civilized concepts are lost.

Regardless of the influence of the Arabs and more intelligent mongrels, the majority of Negroid Africans remained in their pre-civilized state of ignorance and superstition. The 'art' of Black Africa can best be compared to European children's art, or to the admitted hoaxes of Jewish 'masters', like Pablo Picasso. Black African art certainly is a good representation of the perceptive and creative Black person, as it indicates that even the Black artist remains a child, compared to his Aryan superiors.

What is the greatest contribution which Black history has made toward the advancement of civilization? It now becomes apparent: The greatest lesson Black history has to offer is the demonstration that all civilizations decline and fall when they increase their admixture of Black blood. The Black Man's genetic heritage is the poison which is capable of destroying all civilization, not only in the past, but in the present day. To tolerate this poison in the body politic of any Aryan society is to court destruction and extinction, for the repeated lesson of African history is: More White genes equal progress. More Black genes equal collapse and chaos.

Learn this lesson well, White Man! And let the immortal words of Adolf Hitler resound in our hearts and minds: The state's "right and obligation are that the purity of the racial blood should be guarded... every racial mixture leads, of necessity, sooner or later, to the downfall of the mongrel product..."

JUST THINKING

by Gus R. Douglass

I read an article the other day which said the drought has broken over much of the country. I disagree because I believe the facts all point to another bad year in 1978, but it is not that which I wish to discuss. Instead, it's the implication in the article that the rains have come and so we can now drop back into our old habits.

The continuing national trend of extending dry-farming into marginal areas and relying upon irrigation from already severely-taxed ground water sources is a real worry because, even without drought, the growing reliance upon shrinking supplies of ground water can lead to shortages before the year 2000.

The great grain lands of the Midwest have been extended by drilling more and more wells. California produce is raised on imported water and dozens of housing projects exist because of artificial lakes that are marginal even in wet years. To compound the problems, deep disposal wells in various areas have been filled with toxic substances which are migrating slowly, but surely, through the rock and which will ultimately wind up in surface waters which are already contaminated, even though we are busily attempting to clean them up. Many, if not most, of the sanitary landfills are oozing or will ooze contaminants into the nearest streams and the underlying ground waters. Some have called these fills "time bombs" and I believe it is a true descriptive term.

All in all, what I'm trying to say is that we, as a nation, have not developed a water-wise life-style. We tend to ignore the fact that it is vital to our existence. We prefer to emphasize relief rather than prevention and technology rather than behavioral change.

As one example of possible future change, perhaps more thought by government planners should be given to raising most of our produce in the nonarid East instead of in California and Florida. Perhaps it's time for recycling and conversion instead of burial.

Finally, I wonder what will happen if a succession of drought years occurs, if soil erosion accelerates to the point where yields drop, and both food and water become scarce?

Will our culture stand it? What happens to a rich, spoiled society when it suddenly has a reversal of fortune, particularly a society which has not had major reversals in its 200 years' existence? The recent looting during blackouts in New York would imply chaos.

Our luck may hold out, but I would be more at ease if those planning for our future would at least recognize that retrenchment is probably going to be necessary somewhere along the line and that it's not fair to leave all of the dirty work to future generations.

Editor: Mr Douglass is the Agriculture Commissioner for West Virginia and his article first appeared in The Market Bulletin, the publication of the West Virginia Department of Agriculture, on August 1, 1977. We certainly appreciate Mr Douglass' thoughts in regard to the necessity of adopting sound land-use policies which will ensure that future Americans can obtain adequate food and water. It does not appear likely, however, that the land-abusers will cease and desist from their depredations because they should be fair to future generations.

Human beings generally do not budge from disastrous policies unless they are provided with lots of positive and negative incentives — rewards and punishments — and right now, the present Zionist Occupation Government is providing all the incentives to maintain just such a policy of land-abuse which Commissioner Douglass criticizes.

The keynote of the present destruction of our human and natural resources is profit — paper profit. Until the Jews took over, America had the potential of beginning a new way of life for the Aryan Race, a way based upon equality of opportunity, a republic, a meritocracy, not a Jew-dominated plutocracy as we see today. Plainly, we let the opportunity slip from our fingers and allowed the Jews to grasp our National Destiny, using the grease of their corruption and the guile of their double-talk to swindle us of our birthright.

Under Jew domination, Americans have focussed their attention upon money as a good in itself, rather than a mere counting device for real goods and services, not all of which can be counted in terms of money. How much is peace of mind worth? Is there a price tag on physical and mental well-being? How much is the future worth? Are the unborn generations of our race accountable in terms of bookkeepers' profits and losses — should they be? Obviously, under the Jew system of our present society, they are!

Jews are unique as a race which opposes Nature. Whenever one comes across statements to the effect that "man conquers Nature", one discovers that the originator of such an absurdity is Jewish, although some brainwashed Aryans are known to parrot this phrase on occasion, usually when they write for Marxist journals. How can Man, a part of Nature, conquer Nature? This is like a grain of sand 'conquering the beach' or similar preposterous analogies which have no doubt entered the reader's mind.

For decades, agriculture students have been taught concepts of 'agri-business' and that "farming is not a way of life, it is a business". One can understand why farmers exploit marginal land, like the vast regions of marginal land in Oklahoma — the great Dust Bowl of the 1930's. Whoever heard of a business protecting the land? Business' first goal is profit. If good land-use is profitable in the short-run, more so than land-abuse, then business will protect the land, as a 'fringe benefit' of profit-making. I am, of course, talking about the Jew-dominated businesses of today, which have obviously not found the usual quick profits from proper land-use.

How can we Americans change the order of national priorities so that profit-making is restored to its proper role in society? Well, it should be obvious that we must adopt a National Land-Use Program which takes Nature into account, for, as is becoming apparent, Man succeeds only if he works with Nature, and not against her. The idiocies of the moment are forgotten by foolish Man, but never by Nature. When we abuse the land, Nature adds the cost to her bill, a debt which our progeny will have to pay — if we leave any progeny, that is. When we pollute the water or pollute the White Race, Nature's bill must be paid, if not now, then in the future — otherwise there can be no future.

So far, the only system devised by Man which has taken Nature into account is National Socialism, for Nature is our foremost example of National Socialism in action and those of us who adopt Her Way are adopting the way of Adolf Hitler, for National Socialism is the expression of Nature's Way, not only in land-use, but in politics. National Socialism is the first and only political movement which has given Nature a vote in the human forum. By organizing human society so that man can work with man and men can work with Nature, the German National Socialists illuminated the path sought by all who strive for a healthy and wholesome society.

It's time for White America to get back in step with Nature and stop jiving to the Jews' money-madness. We need to start farming for permanent and wholesome yields, not quick paper profits. We need not more and better dumping grounds for America's obscene waste — we need to dump the Jews who defile us and the land with their wasteful, parasitic money system.

National Socialism is Nature's Way. National Socialism is White Power — the only way to win! Let's save America the Natural Way: Join the White Power Movement, today!

ACTION REPORT

CALLING ALL IDI-OTS!

Hey, all you soul-brothers and muthas — listen in! You're all invited to the biggest fish-fry in history. Uncle Idi of Uganda has just invited you-all to come to Africa "to ease the skilled manpower shortage", as reported in the official government newspaper, The Voice of Uganda. De Kingfish done did tooken dem words right out of our moufs.

Seriously, how can a Black person in the United States justify withholding his or her wonderful skills from his needy fellow-tribesmen in darkest (sorry about that!) Africa? Were you waiting for the invitation? Well, there it is!

Don't forget your Boat Tickets!

BOSTON: ZOG NINE, WHITES ZERO

Nine White activists were arrested by the ZOG for "failing to obey police orders" during a Black invasion of South Boston's Carson Beach on July 31. Twenty-eight Whites had been arrested under the same charge prior to the Sunday attempt at occupation on the part of Blacks who claimed that they could not play safely in front of open fire hydrants. I hear there's lots of snow on Mount Kilimanjaro, Africa, so why don't you 'soul-brothers' cool it, and go to it!

BWPM ON TV

The British White Power Movement is zapping the local ZOG with their Animal Life stickers, which are potent propaganda for the Whites because they know that muggers are Blacks, 99% of the time. In many towns and cities of Britain, the Swastika & Union Jack, or just the Swastika and the slogan, "WHITE POWER!" is replacing the various krinklejammers or Swastika-substitutes. Why? Because the message of the Swastika is not sneaky. It means White Power!

Clearly the Jews are jumpy. They even interviewed one self-styled savior of White Britain, a notorious deadbeat and liar, who was slipped a few shekels to denounce the British White Power Movement as "Communist!" We know whose side this boy is on, don't we? He makes his boodle peddling White Power Movement publications, but denounces the WPM as commie.

It just proves the old adage: the ones they fear are the ones they smear. 'Stick' to it Comrades of the BWPM! You're zinging it into the ZOG and also the dopes who pose as 'Great White Hopes'. Let's hasten the White Awakening!

PANAMANIA GERMANY CALLING!

The German Liberation Front, the Werewolf underground organization of the WPM, announces the formation of a 'lair' of over seventy members, ranging in age from 13 to 25. This announcement represents a major breakthrough in bridging the 'generation gap' among German youth, who suffer a much more thorough brainwashing by their ZOG than even American youth of the present day. We shall look forward to more action in Germany. The WPM is proud to support these young activists.

PATRIOTS: GIVE SOMEONE YOU LOVE A REAL GIFT FOR CHRISTMAS!

There is a noteworthy parable in regard to giving which goes like this: you can give a hungry man a fish and you will satisfy his hunger — once. But teach a man to fish and you will free him from hunger — forever.

The baubles many gullible goyim buy from their local Jews at Christmas time will self-destruct as they were intended, or they will fluctuate in value, just as it suits the Jew middlemen. But the gift of knowledge is a treasure which increases in value from one generation to the next and never diminishes.

Isn't knowledge a finer Christmas present for the ones you love? Much of this knowledge you will find in books, books which we carry on our list — books which cost many men and women their lives to write, because this knowledge was forbidden by the Satanic power which rules men's lives in so many parts of the world today. In each book, you will find the priceless wisdom of a brave and perceptive person's lifetime.

Why not buy your loved ones a book instead of a bauble this Christmas?

My fellow countrymen, man does not exist on theories and phrases, on declarations or on systems of political philosophy; he lives on what he can gain from the soil by his own labor in the form of food and raw materials. This is what he can eat, this is what he can use for manufacture and production. If a man's own living conditions offer him too little, his life will be wretched. We see that within the countries themselves, fruitful areas afford better living conditions than poor, barren lands. In the one case there are flourishing villages; in the other poverty-stricken communities. A man may live in a stony desert or in a fruitful land of plenty. This handicap can never be fully overcome by theories nor even by the will to work.

Adolf Hitler in a speech delivered to the German workers, Dec. 10, 1940

What the WHITE POWER MOVEMENT stands for:

Because we represent those members of the White Race who live on the American Continent, we enclose our ancient racial emblem, the Holy Swastika, in a five-pointed star which represents our country and because we are Americans, we proclaim our patriotism with the colors red, white and blue.

The Swastika proclaims to all that we are Bio-patriots, not Geo-patriots, because we fight for our people and not for a piece of real estate. We do not defend our land, but the right of our people to live on it. Without the White Race, we have no future and the land no value. The Swastika is not a German symbol. It has been the White Man's Symbol from the dawn of time, proudly displayed by the Vikings, the Aryan conquerors of India, Alexander the Great and American presidential candidates. The White Man's Sign belongs no more to the 'Nazis' of Hollywood than does the Cross of the Christian belong to the telephone companies.

The Swastika is our talisman against cowards, weaklings and do-nothings. It is also proof against our racial enemies, whatever their guise. Indeed, it is our secret weapon.

WE OF THE WHITE POWER MOVEMENT DO SOLEMNLY PLEDGE:

- (1) To provide the White Majority with a party which represents their interests and not the hidden hand of Zion of which the Democrats and Republicans are merely two fingers.
- (2) To unmask the evil face of welfare state socialism and to cast this pestilence from our midst so that we may live in a healthy society.
- (3) To unify the White tribes of America, Europe and the world.
- (4) To halt our racial retreat from Victory.

(5) To remove the alien exploiters and parasites from our midst.
