Commander, Baltimore National Socialists Honor Birth of George Washington

Commander Koehl joined Baltimore-area National Socialists on 18 February in honoring the 247th anniversary of the birth of George Washington.

Some two-dozen Party comrades attended a special meeting of the Baltimore unit to mark the event. The meeting was chaired by Baltimore Party organizer Ken Badders. The main address of the meeting was delivered by the Commander. The Commander's address was preceded by a speech by longtime National Socialist activist Robert Lyons, who spoke on the Jewish nature of the system which rules America today.

The Commander's address was entitled “George Washington and the National Socialist Struggle Today.” The Commander began by discussing what George Washington stood for. The type of government Washington and his fellow revolutionaries fought and suffered to found was essentially a free, White man's republic. It was to have no “entangling foreign alliances,” nor was it to be the pawn of international financial interests. Washington saw an ideal government as one being above partisan politics, one that would protect its citizens.

Today, the Commander said, Washington's ideals have been subverted. Instead of a White nation, we have an artificial, multiracial society with no common ideals, goals or directions. Our country is in the stranglehold of Jewish and non-Jewish international capitalists. We have become entangled in a web of foreign alliances, few of which (if any) are beneficial to us. Instead of a government above party politics, we have a government completely dominated by partisan squabbling and interests, and made up of politicians who are the worst political degenerates imaginable. Not only does the government we live under today fail to protect its citizens, it harms them, through idiotic social schemes such as busing, unjust taxation and the like.

Whether we like it or not, the Commander continued, the American republic founded by George Washington is dead. It has been succeeded by an alien tyranny worse than that imposed on the 13 colonies by King George III. The present government of the United States does not deserve the affection, loyalty or support of the White citizens who live in it.

The Commander went on to declare that it is time for a second American revolution. The present monstrosity deserves to be overthrown, and we must prepare to see to it that it is. After a National Socialist revolution, we can resurrect Washington's ideal of a free and independent Aryan republic on the North American continent, and institute a government which serves the needs of our people, and not Jewish racial interests.

In conclusion, the Commander stated that we must prepare to do whatever is necessary to write a new chapter in American history which will be as glorious as the first chapter written by George Washington and the other Founding Fathers.

Party, Klan KO Creeps in North Carolina

Party members assisted members of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan in defending a pro-White exhibit being put on by the Klan at a library in Winston-Salem, N.C., on 26 February. The Klan, which had received permission from the library to hold its exhibit there, invited North Carolina Organizer John Norman to attend the event and to bring other National Socialists along with him. The invitation was extended by Vernon Logan, state organizer for the KKKK.

Comrade Norman was joined by a contingent of local Party activists, as well as three NHQ staff members.

The exhibit, which was to have lasted several hours, ended abortively when members of the Revolutionary Communist Party began causing a disruption shortly before the Party activists arrived. The ensuing commotion caused the skittish librarians to ask the police to cancel the exhibit and clear the library.

The protest by the RCP and by the local chapter of the NAACP caused this activity to receive nationwide attention. Two television networks, the Associated Press and Look magazine, as well as a host of local North Carolina newsmedia, gave the whole action massive coverage.

The following is a first-hand account of the activity by ST man Dominic Lewitzke, who was part of the NHQ Party contingent at the event.

... We gathered at Reidsville and loaded into our vehicles for the drive down to Winston-Salem, where the library exhibit was being held. There were four of us in uniform, plus several comrades (including two women) in civilian clothes. During our drive we heard on the radio that some Reds and niggers were picketing the library, which got our adrenalin flowing.

We finally arrived in Winston-Salem, and parked about a block away from the library where the display was being held. We grabbed some Party literature and those of us in uniform got into formation. We then marched towards the library.

On the sidewalks in front of the building there was a multi-racial picket line, which stood between us and the entrance-way. At first we thought we would have to fight our way in, but the creeps, who were clearly shook up by our arrival, beat a hasty retreat and parted ranks allowing us to enter unmolested. Once we were past them some of the bolder members of the picket line began hurling insults at us (from a safe distance). One particularly reptilian-looking Jew broke ranks and began shrieking at us in an insane manner. We ignored him.

We proceeded up to the entrance, halted, and saluted the Klan honor guard, which was bearing an American and a Confederate flag. The Klan organizer who had invited us came out at this point, greeted us, and escorted us inside the building. A handful of creeps from the picket line tried to follow us in, but Klan security guards closed the doors in their faces. We did not know at that time that a good number of Reds had already infiltrated the library and were raising a ruckus.

Inside the library there were over 150 Whites, all either Klanspeople or Whites friendly to the Klan, who had come to see the display. There were also some 15-20 Communists, who were busy disrupting the display by chanting anti-White slogans and trying futilely to incite the friendly Whites against the Klan.

The Klan and their friends were taken aback by the obnoxious, insolent behavior of the Reds. The Klan, of course, is anti-Communist, but these particular Klansmen had never had any experience in street confrontations such as the one they were in the middle of. Quite simply, they were unsure what to do about the slimy Red vermin in their midst.

We marched into the main display area. Immediately the newsmedia, ever on the lookout for a sensationalist story, focused in on us. The first Communist to see us let out a cry of dismay, "Oh my God! It's the Nazis!"

The Reds, mostly Jews and Blacks, started chanting "The Nazis and Klan are the scum of the land," but it was extremely evident that they, not we, were the real scum.

I was face-to-face with some huge NAACP gorilla and a shrimpy Communist Jew, the apparent leader of the whole disruption. To counter the Reds chanting, we National Socialists simultaneously flung up our right arms in the Aryan salute, shouting: "What do we want? WHITE POWER!"

Instantly the Klan people and almost all the other Whites joined us in chanting and saluting, thereby drowning out the pitiful cries of the handful of Reds. It was a moving display of Aryan solidarity.

Our women comrades were trying to snap photographs of the whole affair. Eventually, the chanting died down, and dozens of curious and friendly Whites pressed around us, shaking our hands, thanking us for showing up and taking our literature. Not a single hostile comment was heard, only such statements as "We're sure glad you came here!" Party Organizer John Norman was in the meantime giving interviews to the many reporters present.

Soon the momentarily-stunned Reds began chanting again. The big coon opposite me started rambling about how the pro-White exhibit "violated the workers' rights." I replied, "We represent the White workers, not you!" This exited the Communist Jew, who then shouted "No you don't, we do!" I yelled back, "How can you talk about representing Whites? You're nothing but a Jew!" The Red had no answer for that.

After a few minutes of this maddening shouting match, which nearly erupted in violence several times, a silly, little, timid librarian ran in, waving his arms, crying "It's all over! It's all over! The display is closed!" Policemen then poured into the room, and ordered everyone to leave or be arrested. We waited for Comrade Norman to finish talking to the reporters, until finally the police surrounded us and moved us outside.

At first we thought we were being arrested. To our surprise, that was not the case. The police let us go without further hassle, so we formed up and marched away.

Although the Reds had disrupted the Klan display, we had disrupted the Reds, and for that we all went home rather happy. Later that night, the Klan organizers called us and thanked us for helping them out.

Klan, Opponents Clash at Library

By ALAN WILLIS

The main public library downtown was cleared and closed down by police last night after a shouting and shoving match erupted at a controversial exhibit of Ku Klux Klan paraphernalia.

Library director William H. Roberts III asked a noisy crowd of about 200 — including members of several Klan groups, the NAACP, Nazis, Socialist worker parties and spectators — to clear the library auditorium about 7:15 p.m., 45 minutes after the exhibit opened, after a scuffle broke out between two white youths.

Police escorted local Klan leader Joe Grady and several other people out of the adjacent gallery, as pro- and anti-Klan demonstrators exchanged slogans and epithets.

"White power!" shouted the Klansmen and Nazis. "Nazis and Klan, scum of the land!" a number of young blacks and whites chanted in reply.

Outside the main library entrance on Fifth Street, in the glare of television lights, a group of black youths taunted a pair of robed and hooded Klansmen, one bearing an American flag, the other a Confederate banner.

Tension mounted as the crowd removed from the exhibit hall spilled from the entrance. Lower exits from the building have been blocked by construction.

Dozens of policemen and sheriff's deputies were called to the scene as the demonstrations began escalating toward violence. They managed to keep the various factions separated, and the See Library, Page 2

Jewish Defense League Sponsors 'Nazi' Rally

Members of the New York City and Philadelphia chapters of the Jewish Defense League applied for a permit to hold a rally in Independence Mall in Philadelphia in February—claiming that they were "Nazis!" The purpose of this move was evidently two-fold:

First of all, they hoped that an apparent upsurge in NS activity would bring in money and support for the Philadelphia JDL chapter. Often this does happen when the Party begins to organize in a new area. The otherwise stingy Jews, alarmed at the thought of "Nazis" in their backyard, contribute generously to the JDL and other Jewish organizations. On the other hand, the Party is usually able to turn any publicity received to its own advantage, which is why the Jewish-dominated newsmedia often blacks out coverage of NSWPP activities, despite the sympathy and financial support such coverage would bring in for the Jews. This would not have been the case in Philadelphia, however, because there is no Party unit in that city, and no way for us to capitalize on the publicity that a public rally would generate.

Secondly, the JDL hoped to "bash in the heads" of any legitimate National Socialists or other White racialists who happened to be tricked into showing up for the phony rally.

The Party quickly squashed any chance of this happening. A quick check of our national membership files turned up no record of any "James Frank" or "James Guttmann," which were the names of the "NSWPP members" who had applied for the rally permit. Consultation with New Jersey Party organizers further revealed that the name "James Frank" had been recently used by the New York City JDL chapter in an unsuccessful effort to infiltrate the Party in New Jersey.

National Headquarters relayed this information to the Philadelphia newsmedia, who undertook an investigation of their own into the whole business.

In the meantime, an independent pro-NS Klan outfit in Southern New Jersey discovered that the two persons who had applied for the rally permit were one Mordecai Levey (or Levy) of the New York City JDL and Ed Ramov, head of the Philadelphia JDL chapter. This was later confirmed by the Philadelphia newsmedia, which widely covered the incident.

All Party activists should take note of this affair. If you have any questions concerning someone unknown to you who represents himself as being a Party organizer, contact NHQ in Arlington immediately. We will be able to tell you whether or not the individual in question is a bone fide Party representative or an imposter. Remember: when in doubt, check with Arlington!

In the past the Party has been criticized from some quarters for exposing attempts by Jewish individuals to infiltrate the NS movement. The Philadelphia affair shows that such infiltration does occur, and that we must be vigilant to guard against it!

Is JDL behind NAZI permit?

By Bill Reinecke and
Barbara Lempert
Journal reporters

The head of the Ku Klux Klan in South Jersey charged last night that the "Nazi" rally planned for Philadelphia this Sunday is being secretly organized by the Jewish Defense League to drum up support and money.

And the head of the JDL in Philadelphia last night would not deny the charge.

"Anything is possible," said Ed Ramov,

Same person?

The KKK recorded the voice of a man who continued calling Reynolds to invite him to the rally. The man said he was James Frank, an associate of James Guttman, the 21-year-old man who applied for the parade permit.

But Reynolds says "James Frank's" voice matches the voice of the person who answers the phone at the JDL headquarters.

"This guy, who says he is James Frank, has been calling me twice a day," said the to have a meeting Thursday (tomorrow) night to discuss something. Maybe that's what he had in mind."

In a subsequent phone conversation, Ramov then said that Mark Levy was living with him and had been for about two weeks.

He then said he called the New York JDL.

"New York says it doesn't know anything about him," Ramov said. "They said they never heard of him."

Jew applied for the permit for Nazi rally

By Barbara Lempert
Journal reporter

An 18-year-old youth, who has been staying with the head of the Philadelphia Jewish Defense League for the last two weeks, is the phantom "James Guttman" who applied for a permit to hold a Nazi rally at Independence Mall this Sunday, the Journal has learned.

Sources close to the JDL have told the Journal that "Guttman" is really a young man from New York City named Mark (Mordecai) Lev who in the past has been associated with a radical splinter group of the JDL.

One possible reason for Levy's actions could have been to stir up public opinion against the members of the American Nazi party and the Ku Klux Klan. And the publicity from such a rally could have increased membership in the James Guttman. Ramov said Levy had supplied the JDL with a lot of "good information" about the Nazi movement in Philadelphia.

Despite the denials that Levy is connected to the JDL, sources have revealed that Levy was in touch with a New York group called the International Committee Against Nazism and had asked for help. The sources said that Levy said he was afraid the Ku Klux Klan was after him.

able for comment but, according to the sources, Levy is hiding out in Boro Park in Brooklyn, afraid for his life.

New York City Police said yesterday that Levy was a troublemaker and had been under police surveillance at times. They said if he ever was arrested, he was not charged because they have no mug shots of him.

The police said that Levy's mother was in a hospital in Pennsylvania and his father was living in the southern part of the U.S.

Authorities and people who have met Levy know little about him.

He was born in Philadelphia and moved to California where, according to Ramov, he attempted to become active in the JDL.

Chicago National Socialists Picket 'Defense Technology' Convention

Stormtroopers from Chicago Unit I and Chicago Unit II picketed a national conference on defense technology and strategy with signs that read "No Arms for Israel!" and "No More Jew Wars!", on 18 February. The convention, billed as "Defense Technology '79," was sponsored by Defense & Foreign Affairs magazine and by DMS, Inc., a major marketing service for weapons makers.

Local political and religious leftists were outraged at the convention, which was held in Rosemont, Ill., a suburban community northwest of Chicago. Communist groups, as well as some Christian religious fanatics, pledged a turnout which would make their demonstration "the biggest peace demonstration since the end of the Vietnam war." Some 3,000 protestors did show up to demonstrate against the "arms bazaar" of the "imperialist death merchants." Needless to say, the "peace demonstrators" were stunned by the presence of the National Socialists, who were demanding that the U.S. stay out of the Middle East.

The sight of the ST men calmly making their point was too much for the Reds and their religious allies. After the ST men had picketed for an hour, the mob had worked itself up into a frenzy. Forgetting all about the arms convention, they began to chant "Death to the Nazis!" Some of the so-called Christians were especially vociferous in their expression of hatred for the National Socialists, using obscene and unprintable language that shocked the few genuine Christians present.

Finally, when it seemed as though the "peace" mob was about to go berserk and attack the NS contingent, the police asked the ST men to leave the area. In keeping with the Party's policy of obeying all reasonable police requests, Marshal John Logan led the troopers out of the demonstration area. Both on entering and leaving the site the ST men were cheered by curious Rosemont residents who had gathered to observe the goings-on.

Although the police were initially hostile to the National Socialists, their attitude quickly changed when they were able to compare the professional, restrained bearing of the Stormtroopers with the wild, obstreperous, frenzied behavior of the Reds. As the National Socialists loaded up into their vehicles to depart, White police officers gathered around them asking for stickers, literature and armbands. Some 50 business cards, a dozen copies of WHITE POWER and three Swastika armbands were distributed to the police.

This activity received extensive television and radio coverage and was mentioned in the Chicago-area press.

Arms Exhibit Draws Protests

CHICAGO (AP) — "Defense Technology '79," an exhibit of modern-day weapons expertise and seminars, opened Sunday to a private audience of international "window shoppers" as hundreds of antiwar protesters demonstrated outside the O'Hare Exhibition Center at suburban Rosemont.

About 350 persons carried signs such as "No Nukes Is Good Nukes," while in a separate area, 11 members of the National Socialists White Peoples' Party, formerly known as the American Nazi Party, demonstrated in protest of arms sales to Israel.

The four-day exhibit originally was scheduled for Miami but was moved because of pressure from antiwar groups.

National Socialists Active at Farmer's Protest

In February, some 2,500 angry farmers descended on Washington, D.C., to voice their sense of frustration at being unable to break even financially. These farmers are only the tip of the iceberg; thousands of others—especially those with small family farms—are in the same situation. (An explanation of the current predicament American farmers are in appears on page 12 of WHITE POWER Number 90).

Organizers from the Party's National Headquarters in Arlington visited the protesting farmers on numerous occasions during their month-long stay in Washington. The National Socialists met and talked with many of the farmers, and distributed 1,000 copies of the newly-produced booklet How the Jewish Question Touches the Farm by Henry Ford, Sr., and hundreds of leaflets produced to appeal to them especially. In addition, White Power Messages in support of the farmers' struggle were aired over the Arlington WPM during the month of February.

Nearly all the farmers contacted by the Party organizers were to some degree sympathetic to the National Socialist worldview, and appreciated the Party's support of their position.

The farmers have pledged to return to Washington next year (they were here in 1978 also) to bring their demands to the attention of the public and the government. National Headquarters is planning a comprehensive program of activities and propaganda to greet them with at that time.

District of Columbia National Socialists Picket Queer 'Victory Rally'

A Party-affiliated group called "Young Georgetown National Socialists" picketed a meeting held by an openly homosexual group at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C., on 9 February. Georgetown, a Roman Catholic university, recently gave official recognition to the homosexual group, while refusing to recognize an anti-abortion organization.

The student organizer of the activity stated the purpose of the YGNS demonstration: "We White students are shocked by the decision of Georgetown University in recognizing a homosexual group while simultaneously denying recognition to an anti-abortion students' group. We believe that these actions are a declaration of war on the White family and on the already insufficient White birth rate."

The demonstration attracted much interest from the student body, and was the subject of articles in the university's two newspapers, which are reproduced here.

GU Nazis Protest Forum

by Steven J. Puig

Last Friday four members of the Young National Socialists (Nazis) of Georgetown picketed the University Forum on the Ethics of Homosexuality in front of the Forum's meeting place at the 1789 Restaurant.

The Nazis, who carried "Get the Faggots out!" signs, tolerated verbal abuse from passersby. GU Organizer John Nugent commented, "We were ready to tolerate verbal abuse; however, if we were physically abused we would retaliate. In effect, we turned the other cheek; we're actually very civilized."

Nugent explained the motives behind his group's protest: "We white students are shocked by the recent actions of 'Catholic' Georgetown University in reorganizing a homosexual student group while simultaneously denying recognition to an anti-abortion students' group. We believe these actions are a Jesuit declaration of war on the healthy white family unit and on the already insufficient white birth rate. Therefore we are going to picket."

"It is no secret that black women get paid welfare to mass-produce black babies, but white women are encouraged to seek business careers and abort their white babies. To top it all off, white males are encouraged to avoid white women and to sleep with their own sex, which is obvious perversion. Thus, the white race, which made our America great, is becoming a minority in our own land."

Nugent's organization is a storm troop unit of the National Socialist White People's Party. Three of the four picketers were GU undergraduates. "There are a lot more members in the group but they opted not to participate in the picket. Also, we have a lot of sympathizers. Like any movement, we have our hard-core and then we have those who are interested but not active," said Nugent.

ACTIVITIES IN BRIEF

- Commander Koehl spoke for two hours on a WRC-radio (Washington, D.C.) call-in talk show on 15 February.
- Two other comrades also report giving media interviews during the month. Comrade Karl Vogel of the Maine Unit reports giving a taped interview for a local television station on 17 February. Comrade Art Jones of Chicago Unit I gave a telephone interview which was broadcast live over WKIS-radio in Orlando, Florida, on 28 February.
- The Los Angeles Unit of the Party hosted a showing of Triumph of the Will on 3 February. Some 50 supporters and friends of the Party attended the event, which raised over $150.00 for the unit.
- In addition to the other activities undertaken by North Carolina Party comrades during February mentioned in this NS BULLETIN, advertisements for the Party were placed by the North Carolina Unit in Reidsville, N.C., and Danville, Va., newspapers.
- Party units in Chicago, Los Angeles, Maine, Milwaukee, Minneapolis and North Carolina report distributing copies of WHITE POWER in their areas during February.
- Comrade Red Warthan had two of his letters to the editor of the Oroville (Calif.) Mercury printed during February. One of these dealt with California Governor Jerry Brown's attempt to pander to Jewish votes (and campaign contributions) by calling for an end to the statute of limitations for so-called NS "war criminals." The other dealt with the ramifications of the recent Iranian revolution for the U.S.
- Minneapolis National Socialists held a uniformed WHITE POWER sale in North Minneapolis on 3 February.
- Minneapolis Comrades also report that lockers at Edison High School in Minneapolis were stuffed with Party literature by unknown persons on 12 February after the school administration brought in a representative from the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith to lecture on the "holocaust." The distribution received local media coverage.
- Members of the Richard Biederman Unit in Minneapolis picketed the ABC-TV affiliate WMSP on 25 February, protesting that station's airing of the incendiary anti-White melodrama Roots: The Next Generations. The National Socialists were protesting the show's thinly disguised efforts to malign the White race in general, as well as its slanderous mis-portrayal of Commander Rockwell in particular.

CUT AWAY ISRAELI TIES?

The liberal press wants us to believe that the recent mess in Iran is a threat to western and American security. Humbug!

The religious leader Ayatollah Khomeini is a man, who because of his Moslem beliefs, has no love for athiestic Communists.

Khomeini would seem to be the perfect ally for the U.S. However, he is aware of the "Jewish problem" (In his book he came out against Israel claiming that it "made a mockery of the Koran" and was "preparing the way for Jews to rule over the entire planet.")

What does this mean to us? Iran supplies over 50 percent of Israels petroleum and it's speculated that Iran may now cut that off and under our committment to Israel we would have to supply Israel with oil and share the cut. Plus we could also lose our own 10 percent supply for this act.

Have you ever wondered what we ever did to be blessed with an ally such as Israel? And what happens if we abandoned this "ally."

If we did we would save billions of dollars in aid each year. The American oil user would have more oil at lower cost and we would be instrumental in creating a strong Arab-anti-Communist front.

The time for us to dump Israel and its Jewish lobby which has a heavy hand in the policy of the U.S. Congress and even the Presidency as well as its "Anti-Defamation League" is long overdue.

Before you proclaim my letter just another American Nazi — anti-Jewish slander, ask yourself, can you name one thing Israel has done for America (aside from giving a token settlement for sinking one of our ships).

I bet you can't think of one thing the Israeli's have done to benefit this country. There isn't one.

Red Warthan

WAR CRIMINAL "WITCH HUNT"

Governor Brown's call to add more time to the statute of limitations for Nazi "war criminals" is a play for Jewish votes. Most if not all of these so called "war criminals" are victims of a witch hunt. Anyone looking into some of these cases would find the "criminals" were often in fact mere members of anti-Communist groups later slandered by the Soviet Communist Government in an effort to punish them for not crimes against Jews but treason against the Communist state.

One of the chief witch hunters, Simon Wiesenthal of Rumania was in fact a collaborator of the Nazi S.S. Joshua Eilberg, former member of the U.S. Congress (D-Pa.), a "moving force" to deport these anti-Communist refugees, himself a criminal — recently indicted by a grand jury for taking a $500,000 bribe (some folks too claim, who did this or that 40 years ago).

Then too there's the immigration and naturalization service who finds the time and money to track down a handful of U.S. citizens accused but untried or convicted but can't stop the tidal wave of illegal aliens from Mexico (at a rate of 1,000,000 per year or more).
