

THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC FRONT'S

PROGRAM OF DEMOCRATIC NATIONALISM

DEMOCRATIC NATIONALISM -

THE THIRD WAY

The National Democratic Front (NDF) is a revolutionary political movement which seeks to radically change both the social and political order in America. Our purpose is to unite the White people of America into a great nation with a powerful, efficient and dynamic social order based upon internal cooperation, honesty and amity. The political structure of the nation will be based on the principle of centralizing authority and decentralizing power such that national direction shall come from the leader of the nation but his policies shall be implemented at the lowest level possible allowing for great initiative on the part of local decisionmakers.

We reject the materialism of Communism and we reject the materialism of Capitalism. We see man not as an economic animal but as a spiritual being who wants and needs to live for something greater than himself. As nationalists we identify with our nation and are willing to sacrifice our well-being as individuals and even our lives if necessary to help our people survive and achieve. It is this National Ethic that will destroy and replace the present barren and corrupt philosophy of Individualism and its Self-Interest Ethic.

Democracy is the sharing of power and Capitalism is its antithesis as it seeks to concentrate the economic power of the country into the hands of a tiny elite who use their vast wealth to control the political system. Communism achieves exactly the same result through a different process by which a tiny political elite also controls the economic wealth of the country. In both systems a small class of rulers dominate both the political and economic life of the land, and in both systems the ruling class uses its awesome power to preserve and advance its own interests without regard to the interests of the people as a whole. Our nation cannot be democratic and our citizens cannot be free without the sharing of economic power as money is power and power is freedom. Democratic Nationalism will not only share the wealth of this richest of all nations but will share control of the wealth and will thereby make our people free.

Once properly led and educated by leaders who are devoted to the nation, rather than to their own self-interest, the people will use their new power and freedom to make the nation great and to advance our knowledge and civilization. They will identify with the nation and will abandon the materialism and hedonism of Self-Interest. The young will have something to live for and something to sacrifice for which will give them meaning and purpose in their lives. In a National Democratic Order they will be educated in schools which will be uniformly excellent around the country, hence all of our children will have an equal opportunity to develop their individual talents so that they might better serve their people. We will aggressively seek out our best and most unconventional minds for positions of top-level leadership. Talent will be rewarded with responsibility and not with wealth or privilege. The order will be absolutely meritocratic and we will not allow the rise of a hereditary ruling clique or class.

RACE AND NATION

In a true nation the people are emotionally united and feel as if they are a part of one great being. Such nationalism can be built only upon cultural and racial homogeneity as a man naturally and instinctively feels at one only with his own race. He can love only his own people and has an inherent distrust of those of other races. Unlike the multiracialists, we do not pretend that the biological nature of man can be altered to change these facts. Nor do we hate man as he is so as to want to change his true nature. We respect our people and what we have achieved and so we reject multiracialism as unnatural and hence irrational and destructive.

We will struggle with all our power to protect the purity of our race and its civilization from those who wish to mongrelize it to advance some sick and wrong-headed social theory or to advance their own private interests. And we will support those of other races who also wish to preserve the physical purity and psychological strength of their race from multiracial degeneration.

Under a National Democratic government each race will be granted its own completely independent nation on the soil of America, as every people should have the power of self-determination. Each such state will receive an amount of land in proportion to the size of its population. Further, those who preach multiracialism will be given a multiracial country to live in.

A great nation is one that combines the unity that comes from homogeneity with a tolerance and encouragement of new and unusual ideas. It also actively seeks out knowledge on the thought and methods of other countries and peoples so as to adopt valuable ideas compatible with its own culture to further the development of its civilization. A great nation is a Dynamic Order that adapts constantly to ever changing circumstances, hence ignorance is its greatest enemy.

GOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATION

The National Democratic Front will fight and win elections and will completely reorganize the structure of American government through the calling of a new Constitutional Convention which will adopt a constitution appropriate to governing a modern nation. The new constitution will eliminate federalism and its sectional rivalries and will create a unitary American state. It will eliminate the system of checks and balances that has paralyzed the government and which has protected the corrupt politicians and ruling class from the will of the people by maintaining the status quo. Fewer than 40% of eligible voters now bother to turn out for Congressional elections because they know that their politicians are bought and paid for by the rich special interests.

We will bring the people back into the political life of the country by: 1) outlawing trade associations, lobbies, political action committees and the other organizations of special interest, 2) placing an annual limit on political contributions to the major political parties of $100 per citizen, 3) requiring that all contributions be made to the national headquarters of the party and not to the candidates, 4) providing equal media access to all parties which obtain at least 1% of the vote, and 5) eliminating the system of district representation in Congress in favor of national elections with a party's representation in Congress being in proportion to the percentage of the total vote obtained so that citizens will vote for the party that they think will do the most good for the nation as a whole rather than vote for pork-barrel politics.

The oceans can no longer protect us from our political enemies or from our economic competitors. America no longer has the resources or the time to absorb the shock of inept and corrupt government. The present constitution makes such government inevitable because it is based on the belief that men are evil and hence they should not be given the power to change things. Yet we must adapt rapidly and intelligently if we are to stay ahead of our opponents in this very complex and volatile modern world. The present constitution makes the federal government responsible for the fate of the country yet it does not grant the national leadership the power to carry out its responsibility. Instead, each branch of the government can veto or undermine the efforts of every other branch and so our national programs are not only uncoordinated but often act in contradiction. Good leaders naturally shy away from a system in which they are deprived of the power to act, and so our politicians are men of the worst sort - those who exploit their positions for their own advantage. It is a system in which the ruling class shapes the law for its own benefit, thus most of the corruption is institutionalized and perfectly legal. We must have a form of government that is free to act for the nation as a whole and is not beholden to self-interest groups.

Under the new constitution the people will directly elect a powerful one-term President who shall serve for ten years. He will have great legislative, executive and judicial powers. The Congress will also have the power to pass law but the President will have the authority to veto all or any part of Congressional legislation. The Congress will have the power to impeach the President on a 3/4 vote and thereby force him into another election.

Such a form of government is superior to a conventional parliamentary structure because a committee, unlike a human being, has virtually no chance of making rational decisions in line with long term strategies. This is because each committee member seeks to protect his own province or sphere of interest which he understandably deems the most important. Hence, the decisions of a committee are almost always a compromise between contending political forces rather than a coherent plan. And compromises are often difficult to negotiate so committee decisionmaking is slow as well as stupid. The members of a ruling committee do not want to elect an active and powerful chief as he may upset the status quo upon which their power rests. They prefer weaker characters. Only the people want a strong and dynamic national leader and that is why the President of America must be elected by direct vote of the people, and he must be given the power to act for the people and against the interests of the financial elite.

LEADERSHIP PRACTICE

The strength of a nation depends on the nature of its social order and on the quality of its leadership. A society will not remain united and nationalistic for long if it is led by self-seekers or incompetents. Thus methods of leader selection, education and placement are critical to the development of the nation. Under the NDF the national bureaucracy will seek out the best and most unorthodox young minds of the nation, train and educate them in national academies for high-level positions of political, economic and military leadership, and place them laterally into the top of the bureaucracy through a special system of promotion. This will provide the nation with a corps of imaginative, flexible, and thoroughly educated administrators who will be untainted by the emasculating grind of bureaucratic politics - men who can act honorably and honestly.

The role of the bureaucracy will be completely different from what it is now. It will speed the economic life of the nation along and it will coordinate national programs. It will not interfere in or attempt to regulate the minutia of daily social and economic life as does the present bureaucracy. The goal of the bureaucracy will be to make life simpler and easier and those bureaucrats who do not understand the importance of speed and courtesy in dealing with the people will be dismissed. Since it will be a directing body rather than a regulating body, it will be much smaller than the present organization, and less expensive, and most importantly - less oppressive. Further there will be a Monitor Agency that reports directly to the President which will be responsible for rooting out corruption and abuse of power in the bureaucracy. The Monitors will have the authority to enter any office at any time to investigate and will have the authority to try and to fire any bureaucrat for a major abuse.

The leadership doctrine of the bureaucracy will be to make decisions and take action at the lowest level possible in order to encourage local initiative and efficiency. Orders will be framed in the broadest terms to allow great latitude in their execution in accordance with local conditions. This policy will also promote the development of subordinate leaders as they will be given much greater power to act than in a conventional bureaucracy which is overly rigid in both structure and practice as everyone in it is afraid to take risks and make mistakes. Mistakes must be treated as learning points as risk is the key to long term efficiency and it must be encouraged.

THE OWNERSHIP OF INDUSTRY

The National Democratic Front rejects both capitalism and socialism in favor of sharism. The effect of capitalism and socialism is to concentrate the control of industry in the hands of the few - rich capitalists and party bureaucrats respectively. Democratic Nationalism will widely distribute ownership and control of industry, agriculture and commerce.

At present in America over 90% of small businesses fail in the first five years because the government makes it impossible for them to compete against large firms. Big companies purchase the tax breaks, loan guarantees, and subsidies they need through their political contributions in a system of welfare for the rich while the small businessman or small farmer is left to his own devices. Americans like to think of themselves as successful entrepreneurs but this is a myth - even Japan, which is not noted for individualistic enterprise, has twice as many small businesses per capita as the U.S. At present half of America's workforce is employed by small business in spite of the hostile economic atmosphere that the rich and their political cronies have created. Under the NDF this percentage will increase greatly as we will encourage small business through low interest loans and free advice and guidance. Small farmers will be allowed to participate in government organized cooperatives that will rent expensive machinery to them at low rates and that will market their produce both nationally and internationally so that they can compete effectively with the huge international agribusiness firms.

Large businesses, those with over 100 employees, will become Cooperatives and will be controlled by their workers. The employees, rather than the stockholders, will elect the Board of Directors. The stockholders will receive dividends announced by the Directors pursuant to the type of stock they purchase but they will have no voting role. These Cooperatives will be encouraged to maintain low salary structures combined with bonus plans such that the workers do well only when the Cooperative does well. This organization will all but eliminate labor-management conflict and will thereby make the nation's industry much more vibrant and productive.

ECONOMIC POLICY

The NDF will establish a Department of Economics with the power to coordinate all economic, financial, business and trade policy and to direct national research and development projects so that we may shape market conditions and not just react to them.

No business in America will be taxed unless it is owned by non-citizens. This policy will have the effect of reducing domestic prices and will restore our competitive edge abroad. As long as money is in a business form it does work for the nation by providing employment or by increasing our productive capacity, but as soon as money is taken out of the business for personal use, through salary, dividends or benefits, it will be taxed. There will be only one tax in America - an annual graduated income tax in which those with great income will be heavily taxed and those with little income will be lightly taxed according to a simple table. There will be no deductions, allowances, credits, or other scams; if the government wishes to promote the interests of a particular group it will do so openly through a subsidy and not by hiding it in an incredibly complex tax code which the citizenry cannot understand. This sort of graduated income tax along with a national employment plan will succeed in redistributing the wealth of America so that all of our citizens can share in the immense plenty of our nation. Sharing the wealth will also help bind us together as one people as individuals and classes will no longer be able to exploit one another for profit, and this will reduce internal distrust and conflict.

In order to eliminate the power of inherited wealth and to bring an end to class conflict and exploitation of the people by the rich, the property in a decedent's estate, above a certain reasonable amount which may be transferred to heirs, will be confiscated by the government. Moreover, a limit to a person's total wealth will be established and any amount over the limit will be confiscated annually by the government. Only in this way can the mischief caused by wealth be controlled. Meritocracy, limiting the political power of the rich, and the sharing of the wealth and the power that creates and controls it will bring an end to class-consciousness and class struggle and will cause the nation to become and remain united and strong. Such unity and strength can only exist upon the foundation of social justice.

A National Employment Agency will be created to support, train, and place or employ all those who are willing to work. This labor pool and the vast untouched land and mineral resources of America will be combined to develop new industries and new cities such that all of our workforce can be employed. A man must be given the opportunity to work otherwise he will feel as if he is making no contribution to our civilization, and he will quickly lose his sense of dignity and self-worth. No nationalistic people can tolerate condemning even a few of its people, let alone millions, to the cruelty of unemployment. We love our own too much for that and we are determined to give everyone the power to contribute to the health of our nation according to his abilities.

The government will nationalize the banks, utilities, defense contractors, insurance companies and energy companies. None of these industries are competitive and hence the laws of the free market do not apply to them. More importantly, we must make every effort to keep credit and energy as cheap as possible as the health of all the rest of our economy hinges on these two factors. Money will be lent out by the government to business at cost and energy will be sold to business at cost. Through these nationalizations the government will remove from the hands of the rich capitalists control of industries that are critical to the fate of the nation.

In areas of the economy that are uncompetitive, large and unwieldy companies will be broken up into smaller, more efficient units. These smaller businesses will not only be easier to manage but they will also make the market more competitive because it will no longer be possible to fix prices with so many companies in the field.

SOCIAL POLICY

Under the NDF all welfare programs other than a revamped Social Security Program and a National Health Program will be eliminated as those who can work will be provided with jobs at rates of pay adequate to maintain a comfortable standard of living. Social Security will also provide such a living standard for those who are unable to work and for those who have reached the age of retirement and cannot properly support themselves. Those elderly retired who are wealthy enough to provide for themselves will no longer receive anything from the government.

The National Health Program will pay for all medical expenses incurred by a citizen over a certain percentage of each treatment. Furthermore, the Program will pay for all medical expenses that exceed a certain fixed percentage of the citizen's annual income, which percentage shall be established by a graduated table according to income. The government shall establish a list of prices for standard procedures and doctors will be required to abide by the fee chart. The government will also establish medical schools to greatly increase the number of doctors and these doctors will pay for their schooling by working in government clinics and hospitals around the country for a set number of years. One government hospital will be established in each major population center and only government hospitals will be equipped with the latest and most expensive equipment. This is in order to avoid the redundancy of medical machinery that has been responsible, along with fee-gouging, for the incredible and unjustified rise in health costs that we have witnessed. The government will also provide a helicopter transport system such that all citizens shall have rapid access to the best equipped medical facilities.

In order to strengthen the family, which is the building block of the nation, the legal authority of the father will be enhanced. Furthermore, married men with minor children who are the sole support of their family will be given priority in hiring. This will allow and encourage women to have children and to devote their time to the development of their children rather than to work. Wage structures will be established so as to adequately provide for a comfortable living for the family such that mothers need not work.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE

While it is true that the crime rate is a measure of the social and moral degeneration of a society and that a National Democratic social order will be a healthy one, we cannot rely on this to solve our crime problem. Crime is so rampant on the streets and so pervasive in business and politics that only an extermination of our present criminal class can recover the situation and bring us back from the brink of barbarism. Further, punishment must be in accord with the people's view of justice so that they do not lose faith in the system. In this regard retribution is even more important than deterrence. Therefore, murderers, rapists, kidnappers, child molesters, drug dealers, members of crime gangs, and habitual felons will be executed. All other criminals will receive short sentences of less than three years and will live in rehabilitation centers free of the brutality of prison life that is now the norm in this country.

A massive amount of inexpensive manpower will be required to win the war against the huge criminal class. It will be provided by a national universal draft directly into the police forces. Eighteen-year-old males of good character will be trained to do foot patrolling and basic detective work, while the female draftees will be trained for clerical and administrative positions. Crime is prevented by a powerful police presence on the streets, and crimes are solved by the mundane chore of asking questions of everybody who may have been in the area of the crime scene. Only a police draft can provide the necessary numbers of police to give our people freedom from fear. The police draft will also give our law enforcement agencies a democratic conscience which will help them identify with the community and will make corruption a more difficult game to play. Organized crime cannot flourish without pervasive political and police corruption, and American organized crime is the richest and most powerful in the world. The Monitor Agency will debrief the police draftees after their tours to expose internal corruption on the part of the professional police.

EDUCATION

The NDF will require that all children be educated in public schools during normal school hours to ensure that our people have a common culture, knowledge base and ethical foundation. This will not prevent parents from providing purely private education outside those hours.

We reject as nonsense the assumption that all human beings are born equal. It is self-evident that genetic qualities vary in human beings and an educational system that does not take this fact into account will waste our best minds. The NDF will reorganize the public schools into a two-track system in which children will be divided at the age of 14 into academic and vocational programs according to their mental abilities. But even before this division takes place the children with the best minds will be given special attention and will be provided with the best teachers. These gifted children are the nation's greatest resource and their talents will not be wasted in an attempt to prove that everyone is the same. They can and will do great things for our people and civilization if they are handled properly.

Educational facilities and teacher competence in elementary and secondary schools will be of equal quality throughout the country as the schools will be run by the national government. No longer will poor counties have educational systems inferior to those of rich counties. Further, the academically talented will be guaranteed free university education including room and board, with the best being educated in top quality government universities.

ENVIRONMENT

The quality of life can never be good without a clean and beautiful natural environment in which to live. The NDF will completely restructure cities to build large parks and greenbelts within walking distance of every residential community. Our air and water will be cleaned. Further, vast game reserves will be established on government property so that zoos and their unnecessary cruelty to animals can be eliminated. To live in harmony with nature we must favor renewable resources such as wind, wave, hydroelectric and solar power as much as is possible under developing technologies. We can no longer tolerate massive industrial pollution nor can we afford to depend upon non-renewable energy sources such as oil, coal or natural gas as they will be exhausted in the near future. We must recycle as much waste as possible for the sake of both efficiency and cleanliness.

SCIENCE

Scientific and technological development is one of the cornerstones of a modern nation's strength. To promote scientific progress a Department of Science will be created to conduct and fund pure and applied research in coordination with the universities. Further, it will be responsible for translating and collating the scientific literature of other nations, including their patent information, for use by scientists, educators and industrialists in this country.

The NDF will also aggressively pursue programs to explore and develop the seas and space. This will serve a vital political purpose as well as increase our knowledge of the universe and our power to direct its forces. If we are to avoid war on this planet we must find a way to channel the attention and energy of our people outward. The exploration of space is both exciting and important and so will provide the meaningful adventure that we need to keep ourselves from tearing at each other. Those who cannot participate directly in the adventure will nevertheless identify with it and live through it vicariously. If we allow our energy to be turned inward we will inevitably destroy ourselves in internal struggle.

MILITARY POLICY

Under the NDF the nation will maintain only so much nuclear weaponry as is necessary to launch a successful second strike against our enemies after absorbing full damage from their first strike. This means that at the present time our nuclear forces can be greatly reduced as our second strike force, i.e. our submarine strategic strike force, is virtually invulnerable to attack. The money saved in reducing our nuclear forces can be spent in building up our conventional forces where necessary. A weak conventional force invites a conventional attack as the attacker knows that any sane leader of America will not resort to atomic war to save some portion of his army or to achieve a limited objective. Further, the systems for training, educating and promoting our military officers must be completely redesigned if our military is to become an effective and reliable fighting force. A military that is incompetently led is useless as a political instrument and is a danger to the nation.

FOREIGN POLICY

The NDF will seek to foster National Democratic revolutions throughout the White world. Further, we will seek to create a voluntary confederation of White nations in order to promote the development of White unity and White civilization. The confederation will adopt an international language which will be taught as the second language in all of the schools of the confederated nations so we can communicate more easily and learn from each other more readily. As this language will be spoken by all Whites it will help bind the White people together.
