Nationalist Youth Create New Rock Movement

Many people in the National Revolutionary Movement automatically identify today's rock and roll with the deracinated pop culture of our age which promotes drug use, mindless violence and supreme individualism. At the hands of the big record corporations which are almost completely Jewish-controlled modern music is dominated by Negro and mulatto singers. In addition, many White stars gladly imitate the screeching jungle rhythms of Black music and adopt multiracial and anti-national themes in their lyrics, and they are rewarded with contracts when they do so.

David Bowie, for example, was a member of Britain's National Front and described himself as a Fascist in an interview in Playboy magazine. The Jews gave him a choice.

They would give him contracts and publicity if he would cavort on stage with Blacks and sing the "proper" lyrics. Otherwise his career would go nowhere despite his talent. Bowie knew that they had a lock on the industry and could back up their boast. So he decided to betray his Race. He immediately became a big star and never looked Metal" retains an all White audience. And many White youths have grown disenchanted with the System's Top 40 and various fads altogether.

In the early 1970s the skinhead movement began, paralleling the punk movement of the same period. Both represented young White radicalism and openly condemned the Establishment and hypocritical social norms. The punk movement was nihilistic and directionless, and eventually drifted into the control of the System which it supposedly opposed. But the skinhead bands and their followers remained true to their roots and maintain their racialist identity to this day.

back. David, and his kind, had better pray that the National Revolutionaries never take power because no mercy will be shown to such people.

In spite of such successes in corruption, the Establishment's hold on rock music is fragile indeed. The new "rap" and "break dancing" fads appeal almost exclusively to Blacks, while "Heavy from shaving their heads in a close cropped military fashion. In addition, they usually sport combat boots which are very functional when taking on Colored and Red gangs. Most skins are working class youth who are looking for a radical and violent alternative to coexisting with a raceless, faceless, and corrupt social order.

While it is alienated and anti-social, the skinhead movement has emerged as a positive pro-nationalist force under the leadership of its most popular bands. There are White Power or skinhead bands all over Europe and America and they promote White Nationalism in a form that young people like and understand. Their lyrics no longer comment simply upon the degeneracy of our age but promise hope and strength for a lost generation.

The National Front of Britain constantly sponsors Rock Against Communism concerts which feature primarily skinhead bands. The NF now has 16 White Power bands associated with it including the most popular skinhead band in the world known as Skrewdriver. The NF has sponsored a recording company called White Noise and produces a fan magazine of the same name to promote the work of White Power artists. Though organized only a few months ago the White Noise Fan Club already has hundreds of members.

The band Skrewdriver is headed by lead vocalist and writer Ian Stuart. Stuart is the NF organizer for Central London and is a member of the 18-man National Directorate which rules the NF. Stuart recently served a six month prison sentence after successfully fighting off a gang of Blacks who attacked him and his friends in the subway. In Britain the System seizes upon every opportunity to put a skinhead in jail, particularly a leader. After his release, Ian reported that, "In the prisons I found widespread sympathy for the Nationalist Cause from both prison officers and inmates. The warders were always borrowing the political papers that friends were sending into me, and they were always doing the rounds of the other wings!"

More than once the very talented

Leader of Skrewdriver, Ian Stuart

Stuart has been offered lucrative contracts by major record companies on the condition that he remove nationalist themes from his work. Had he sold out it would have been a telling blow to his young supporters. But as Stuart explained, "I am not the type of person to creep and crawl to a bunch of weak-kneed pacifist, lefties and two-faced Zionists. One must be honest to people about one's beliefs, especially when the survival of our Race is at stake."

Skrewdriver songs such as Race and Nation, Voice of Britain, and Tomorrow Belongs to Me have become new anthems for White Nationalist youth. One of the group's well known tunes, White Power, presents their viewpoint in a most straightforward fashion despite the threat of Britain's infamous Race Relations Act which makes the exercise of free speech a very dangerous game in the UK:

I stand and watch my country,
Going down the drain,
We are all at fault now,
We are all to blame,
For letting them take over,
We just let 'em come,
Once we had an empire,
And now we have a slum!

White power, for England!
White power, today!
White power, for Britain!
Before it gets too late!

Well, we seen a lot o' riots,
We just sit and scoff,
We seen o' lot of muggings,
And the judges let 'em off...

While much of the music retains the rough and boistrous "Oi" sound, as it is called, some of the groups are of high quality, and those like Skrewdriver are leading the way with creative and controversial lyrics. Other skinhead groups include the popular Ultimathule which has a large following in its native Sweden, and Brutal Combat which hails from Brest, France. These bands and their followers are linked in a network of skinheads and supporters that extends throughout the White world. They provide financial and moral support for one another in the new tide of young nationalism.

In a recent interview, the drummer of Ultimathule, Ulf Hansson explained the mission behind the skinhead movement in his land: "Skins in Sweden are the fighters determined to defend our country. They never back down. This is good because we can only achieve national rebirth when people begin to fight back. About 95% of the skins here are nationalist...."

Like other bands which may have originally been on the fringe of the nationalist movement, the members of the British group ABH realized that they could contribute to the salvation of the White Race through musical activism. According to Peter Chilvers of ABH, "Politically speaking, we're a Nationalist band and all the band members are NF sympathizers to one degree or another. We've always been anti-CND, anti-hippy and anti-Red, and have always written songs about that." The lyrics of the skinhead and other White Power bands are a refreshing and exciting change from the mindless and multiracial songs of the System. They describe the decadence of our times and point the way to regeneration.

The Nobel Farce Continues

The Nobel prizes have once again been announced, and we are happy to report that the long tradition of Nobel absurdity goes on unbroken. The Nobel Prize for Peace is especially appropriate since the prize is named after the inventor of dynamite, and the recipients of the award have generally contributed about as much to peace as did Alfred Nobel himself. For example, Martin Luther King was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize after he engineered the Selma Riot by staging an illegal demonstration in Alabama in 1963 which the police were forced to break up. Much blood was spilled that day and this apparently met with the Swedish Royal Academy's definition of peace.

Henry Kissinger and North Vietnam's Le Duc Tho were the winners of the Nobel Prize for Peace for supposedly ending a war that was obviously still ongoing when the award was made in 1973. But the Swedish Royal Academy did not let the mere detail of continuing bloodshed deter them from their mission.

Last year the Swedes awarded the this great prize to Bishop Desmond Tutu for his efforts to gain peace in South Africa. Tutu supports the African National Congress which is a front for the Communist Party of South Africa. Its imprisoned leader, Nelson Mandela, admits openly to being a communist. The military wing of the ANC calls the shots and it is run by a Jew named Joe Slovo who is a member of the Communist Party and follows communist revolutionary precedent particularly in regard to the use of terror. The ANC makes very few attacks on the South African Army, but rather bombs civilian targets and executes Blacks who support the government, usually in a horrible manner.

This year the aptly named Elie Wiesel was awarded the Peace Prize for pandering hatred of Germans for forty years after the end of the Second World War, and for telling tales about "The Holocaust" (and of course there is only one if you listen to the Jews). He claims, for example, that his own mother was killed in a gas chamber at Auschwitz even though the research of Robert Faurisson and others has shown that no such gas chamber existed or could have existed. Wiesel claims that six million Jews died in an industry of extermination which somehow overlooked vast numbers of Jews who now live in America and Israel and who are always eager to show you their concentration camp tatoos (how in-

NEW AMERICA – The Radical Voice of American Nationalism

This premier issue of New America marks the beginning of a radically new type of nationalist publication. Its aim is to provide an ideological arsenal against the distortions and misconceptions spread by the media and the government. It presents a new world-view based on the realities of race, and provides alternatives to the materialism of both capitalism and communism. The reader is given an in-depth and straightforward picture of what nationalism means to Americans. Issues which affect our nation, our people, and our political outlook, are explained with working answers.

This first edition includes:

- On Nationalism Its Essence, a definition of the forces which make a people great.
- Lincoln and the Idea of Race, the racial thoughts of one of America's foremost statesmen.
- The Conservative Threat, examines the real relationship between nationalism and the "right-wing".
- Lessons From Sparta, draws important conclusions from the life of the ancient Greeks.

efficient those evil Germans must have been). But violence to the truth is apparently a form of peace to Sweden's plutocratic elite. Rest assured that Wiesel's formula for peace, which is embraced in the Jewish slogan "Never forgive/Never forget", will one day come back to haunt the Jews as we have very good memories.

This year Nobel awards went to three Jews, one Black, one Oriental, and six Whites. The Jewish newspapers proclaimed in headlines that they swept the Medicine and Peace awards, but the Jewish controlled establishment press was more circumspect, referring to the Jew Stanley Cohen as an American and to his Jewish partner Rita Levi-Montalcini as an Italian.

The Black was an obscure Nigerian novelist named Wole Soyinka who writes in English which is fortunate as most Swedes do not read much Yoruban. Nor do the Yorubans, which is why Wole writes in English. On October 17th, the Washington Post reported that the Swedish Royal Academy "was under strong pressure to pick an African winner this year." (That's funny - we thought the awards were apolitical.) The Post strangely failed to mention who was generating the pressure. But we can guess, can't we. Gustafus Adolphus and Charles XII must be rolling in their graves as they witness the moral cowardice of their royal descendants. GG

White Noise

While the skinhead movement lacks the stability and ideological unity of an organized nationalist group, its outlook is suited to the times and to the mood of White working class youth today. It will be youths such as these who will volunteer to fight in the front lines of the Nationalist Revolution. They have nothing to lose from fighting a System that reviles their class and their culture. The upsurge in White music represents a healthy development for contemporary White Nationalism, and we can look forward to its help in the NDF's struggle for racial and national freedom.

Short Bursts

1) In our September issue we reported on the study of the Congressional Joint Economic Committee which found that the top .5% of American households owned 25% of the country's wealth in 1963 and 35% in 1983. Now it turns out the Congress reexamined the data, found one error and has concluded that the increase was only 2% rather than the previously reported 10%. The error was based on the incorrect coding of one response in the poll on which the study was based.

This raises three fascinating questions. Firstly, who put the pressure on Congress to reexamine the data so minutely that they were able to find this encoding error? Secondly, how can policy be based on studies so small and flimsy that one wrong entry can completely skew them? Thirdly, which of the two reports was really the most accurate, the original or the revised? In order to answer the last question we would have to know the answer to the first.

2) The so-called "conservative revolution" of the early 1980s promised to counteract the forces of decay which were clearly eroding the foundations of the American political and social systems. People had grown tired of the incompetence and limp-wristed mannerisms of the liberals, and looked to Reagan as their great hope. But the right wing failed them and they are beginning to realize it.

According to a recent Time magazine poll, American voters are uncertain and unaligned. When asked which party could do a better job dealing with problems that face the country, 21% selected the Democrats and 28% the Republicans, while 46% said "no difference". When asked which party would do a better job looking out for the interests of the people in your area, 34% selected the Democrats and 19% the Republicans, but once again the majority of 43% chose neither. This and the fact that barely 50% of the electorate bothers to vote in Presidential elections and less than 38% vote in Congressional elections demonstrates a profound lack of faith in the two-party system. Most people now understand that they have no real choice as both parties are essentially the same. That is bad news for the System and good news for us. Soon the NDF will provide a real alternative for White Americans.

Bernard Kalb Finds God

Bernard Kalb resigned from his position as press spokesman for the State Department in early October, claiming that he could no longer live with the Reagan Administration's official lying and disinformation campaigns. The resignation was naturally greeted with accolades from the press who are all for truth and justice don't you know. But what the press strangely failed to mention was that when Kalb was a TV reporter for CBS and a journalist his attitude toward governmental lying was not so pristine - at least when the lies were being told by Henry Kissinger.

Kissinger's undeserved reputation as a master of foreign of policy was built through his careful manipulation of the press. He would select certain journalists to whom he would give special inside information so that they could scoop their opposition and thereby build their own reputations. Bernard Kalb and his brother Marvin were two of these favored journalists. In return these journalists would produce pieces describing Kissinger's supposedly extraordinary knowledge and skill, and lauding his accomplishments even when none existed.

This manipulation of the press caused, for example, Kissinger and Le Duc Tho to be given the Nobel Peace Prize for ending the Vietnam War while the war was still going on. Le Duc Tho, who had completely outmaneuvered Kissinger during the Vietnam peace talks to get America out of the war while keeping North Vietnamese troops fighting on in the south, had the dignity to refuse the prize saying that the war was still going on [no kidding]. This did not stop Kissinger from cynically accepting the prize and the money that went with it in a perverse performance in Stockholm worthy of an Italian opera.

Did Bernard Kalb or Marvin Kalb, his brother, denounce this sham for what it was? No, indeed they listed the Vietnam peace treaty as one of Kissinger's achievements in their most complimentary biography of dear Henry. Did it upset the Kalbs when Kissinger lied about the secret bombing of Cambodia? Not at all, as this was just sophisticated statecraft. Even though French and Japanese journalists in Cambodia were reporting the bombing, and even though the North Vietnamese, the Soviets, and the Red Chinese all knew that Cambodia was being bombed. The world knew that Cambodia was being bombed, so what audience was Kissinger lying for? Whom was he trying to deceive? As always, the American people were the target of the duplicity and the press played its part because it "trusted" Henry you see. The press feigned shock and dismay after the truth could no longer be contained, but strangely it did not demand Kissinger's head - only Nixon's.

When Henry Kissinger visited Africa he needed a big diplomatic coup to bolster his reputation in the Third World. Once again the press played its part. It was announced by all the "reliable" news organs that Kissinger had solved the Rhodesia problem and had gotten Ian Smith to agree to majority rule. Where had this information come from? A reliable, high level, anonymous source - that's right, it was Henry himself as usual. And as usual he was lying. He managed to get on the cover of both Time and Newsweek that week, and the cover of Newsweek was extraordinary as it was a drawing of Kissinger in Superman costume implying that only a super diplomat could have solved the Rhodesia problem so quickly. In fact, Rhodesia's White leader Ian Smith did not agree to throw in the towel and betray his people until four years later, long after Kissinger was out of office. Did this last sham disturb the noble Bernard Kalb? Apparently not as Kissinger is still the apple of his diplomatic eye.

No, we are not impressed by Bernard Kalb's new found ethics. In fact, we would not be too surprised to see very shortly a book by Kalb telling all at the State Department, with the accompanying New York Times review telling us what a masterpiece it is. They do love to tout one another don't they. GG

LETTERS

The following two letters are from members of The Order organized by Robert Mathews as discussed in the September issue of The Nationalist. Both are presently prisoners of war.

Dear Mr. Gallo,

I just received a copy of your paper (Sept. 1986) and was much impressed. So much so that I have broken one of my own directives. Namely, not to write and give praise to certain groups that might cause jealousies between like groups.

But because of the freshness and forthright attitude that your organization has shown (in this particular issue) I felt I had to write and give you all a much deserved "pat on the back" and say well done.

Of course I am much partial to the article on Bob which was delivered with much truth and straightforward analysis for our folk. Not much good is said about this man by those that control our daily information. And those that do say something usually treat him as a "garden snail" awaiting his richly deserved end.

Thanks again for treating a great man with some much earned respect and kindness. For only through our story telling will our heroes remain with us.

Your material is just what our folk need to read, and your layout was very easy to read and follow.

White-Nationalism is spreading throughout the nation, indeed, throughout the White Western world. Gary, your comrades, as well as yourself are in the vanguard of this nationalist movement. Stay strong and no surrender.

To our ancient ancestors strength, pride (of race), honesty, and territorial independence were the most important things in the life of our folk. Your NDF objectives are concise and to the point, and can be achieved! The NDF program is sound, and must be understood by our folk. Numbers 5 and 6 are my favorites and I have pushed this for many years. However, I hope Ronnie R. never gets 10 years in office.

Well enough of this boring letter. Thanks for listening. Keep up this format, it makes a difference.

Your kinsman and friend,
Frank Silva

Dear Sir:

I received the copy of The Nationalist newspaper, thank you. There were some things I disagree with in your paper, but I'm sure it was probably because you didn't go into detail on some subjects, such as in your plan for a new America. No.1) I don't mind separate states for the races, for starters but eventually America will in its entirety be an all White nation. No.7) Execution of murderers, drug dealers and habitual felons. I do not agree with this tactic. Most prisoners in here for these charges are merely victims of a corrupt system. A lot of the people who are in here for murder killed someone who is a lowlife anyway and needed to die. Some here can be helped. They need to be re-schooled, then if they don't change their life style, good riddance. Some of these people here are beyond help though. I would be frightened to see them get out at all. No.8) I don't agree with this "ten year Presidency". I feel that our country would be better off with 7 to 12 leaders, without all the power being placed in the control of one man, and let them decide by law what is the best direction to take in case of emergency.

There were a few things stated in the article on Bob Mathews that didn't ring right either. We did not choose the path of armed struggle, we were forced on to it. And our goal was not the overthrow of this government. We wanted government reform, and a state for our Nation. We wished to awaken our folk to the influence of the Jew upon our Nation and folk. We did not proceed to make war on the system, only defend ourselves from it, regardless of the document of war found on Whidbey Island. Bob Mathews did not have any executions carried out. Targeted yes, done no!

There were only 9 people in the so called armored car hold-up, where did you get 17? Bob's first armed activity was not a bank. Bob was one of 7 leaders in The Order however he was the motivator of us all and we owe him a great deal.

All those who "surrendered" on Whidbey Island are free today. They are all traitors. Not everyone on the island surrendered, some were captured trying to escape. I was not there, but I do know what happened. Which is better, to die like a hero, or live to carry on the struggle? Not a one of those men are "rotting in prison" but they are doing a very fine job of spreading our message of racial unity, awakening new soldiers for our cause. If our race needs dead heroes to motivate them then we are in more trouble than I thought.

We as a group did not intend to sabotage the L.A. power and water supply systems, that would be a

Hyena's crime, we wanted only Lion's crimes. The only reason we used guns and a show of force was because we wanted no one hurt, proper planning prevented that from happening.

I pray this will clear up some of the misconceptions of Bob and The Order as it is called. I thought I should bring this to your attention.

I really enjoyed reading The Nationalist. Keep up the good work!

Your brother in the conflict of the ages!

Gary Lee Yarbrough

Editor - Unfortunately, we had to rely on press accounts of The Order as the members of it have not yet given their version of events and perhaps cannot. For those members of The Order who do wish to speak the pages of The Nationalist are open to them. And we appreciate the letters of Michael Norris, Frank Silva, and Gary Yarbrough which we have thus far published. We hope the dialogue continues as there is much to learn from this experience in direct action.

By no means were we trying to belittle the sacrifice of those who were captured and remained true to the Cause. All of you who remained true are heroes. Apparently, The Order did not have doctrine on what its members should do in the event that capture was imminent, and we would not attempt to judge people for their actions in this perilous situation. Sometimes, however, martyrs are important and perhaps even necessary to inspire a people to fight. We believe that it is vital to keep Bob Mathew's act of ultimate self-sacrifice alive in the hearts and minds of our people. And that is what we will do.

The Nationalist welcomes manuscripts of articles for possible publication, as well as Letters to the Editor. No payment is made for articles published and they become copyright of The Nationalist. ## The NDF Will Solve America's Leadership Crisis

The press constantly bemoans the lack of imaginative and decisive leadership in America, but naturally offers no answer to the problem because the solution requires a revolution, and the press lords understand that. The oceans can no longer protect us from our political enemies or our economic competitors. America no longer has the resources or the time to absorb the shock of inept and corrupt government. The present constitution makes such government inevitable because it is based on the belief that men are evil and hence they should not be given the power to change things. Yet we must adapt rapidly and intelligently if we are to stay ahead of our opponents in this very complex and volatile modern world. The present constitution makes the federal government responsible for the fate of the country, yet it does not grant the national leadership the power to carry out its responsibility. Instead each branch of the government can veto or undermine the efforts of every other branch, so our national programs are not only uncoordinated but often act in contradiction. Good leaders naturally shy away from a system in which they are deprived of the power to act, and so our politicians are men of the worst sort - those who exploit their positions for their own advantage. It is a system in which the ruling class shapes the law for its own benefit, so most of the corruption is institutionalized and perfectly legal. We must have a form of government that is free to act for the nation as a whole and is not beholden to self-interest groups. Only then can we attract great leaders to government service.

Trajan was the second in a long string of excellent emperors who created the Golden Age of Rome. We are now in desperate need of such a string of great White leaders.

The strength of a nation depends on the nature of its social order and the quality of its leadership. A society will not remain united and nationalistic for long if it is led by self-seekers or incompetents. To understand how the National Democratic Front will create a corps of extraordinary leaders write to us and ask for our Program:
