A Message To The Lovers of All Mankind

From Gary Gallo

While watching Black Nationalist Louis Farrakhan on the Phil Donohue Show I was struck by the incoherence of the Whites who attempted to attack the leader of the Nation of Islam. Fearing to offend Blacks, Donohue was very civil and treated the minister with respect (something a White Nationalist can never expect), but he nevertheless completely ignored Farrakhan's basic message, and his proposed solution to the race problem, in order to focus on past anti-Semitic and anti-White statements. Farrakhan was calm and impressive throughout and preached a position very close to our own. He wanted money to repatriate those Blacks who wished to return to Africa, and he wanted a portion of the soil of America (the size of which was to be settled by negotiation) to establish a completely independent, pure Black nation.

The Whites in the audience were stunned and charged Farrakhan with prejudice, claiming that they were lovers of all mankind and that he should be the same. Farrakhan patiently explained that it was he who was reasoning from the facts and drawing conclusions from history and that that was certainly not prejudice. Which disposed of the first half of the charge, and now I would like to dispose of the second.

My message is in two parts: the first to the many White hypocrites who claim to love all mankind but who, in reality, are concerned only with their own self-interest; and the second to those few Whites who really do identify with humanity as a whole and are determined to see their own race subsumed and destroyed in the multiracial mass.

TO THE POSEURS

For those of you who claim to believe in multiracialism it is time to prove your love of all mankind. It is time for you to sacrifice to demonstrate that love. There are 1.2 billion human beings living in China and 900 million living in India. Most of these people live in desperate poverty, on the edge of starvation. By White standards hundreds of millions of them are chronically malnourished. Their legs are barely greater in girth than our arms because of a lack of food, proper education and good nutrition. And most importantly, they live almost upon one another as their nations are tragically overcrowded. But here in America we have only 250 million people in a vast land, a land rich in food and raw materials, a land that has not been agriculturally overworked through the centuries, that has not been stripped of its mineral wealth down through the millenia.

The solution is obvious, and you lovers of all mankind see it already. All we Americans have to do is open our borders to Chinese and Indian immigration. They will flood in by the hundreds of millions. America's population will rise to say 750 million, and China's will fall to 900 million, and India's will fall to 700 million. The overcrowded population of the earth will be more equitably distributed, and everyone will have more land and more wealth, and no doubt greater happiness - except of course for the 250 million original Americans who would have to sacrifice much of their standard of living to accomodate the greater good. But if we are lovers of all mankind, then certainly such sacrifice that will benefit eight times our 250 million is well worth it, and is surely our duty.

So why is it that we do not hear this simple, clearly effective and humane remedy to the world's suffering being proposed and propounded? Why do not you lovers of all mankind in America demand massive and immediate immigration to relieve the daily misery of the world's masses? Why, because in reality you have no interest in the world's masses and are certainly not willing to make any real sacrifice to relieve their suffering. You are poseurs and hypocrites who, above all else, are determined to protect your own standard of living. You are loyal to yourselves, and it is self-interest that drives you, not humanitarianism. You are no more loyal to mankind than you are to your own kind, to your own race. You will sell out both for your own benefit.

Your "humanitarianism" is rationalization so that you do not have to confront yourselves, so you do not have to see yourselves for what you really are: the perfect products of the capitalist culture of greed. Your political positions are always phrased in terms of "ideals" such universal love and equality, but they come complete with nuances that somehow always work to your own individual benefit. We have no respect for you and you will be treated without regard by the White Nationalist Movement.

TO THE IDEALISTS

To those few Whites who do genuinely identify with humanity as a whole, mostly Communists and universalist Christians, and who are ready and willing to sacrifice for their ideals, we say this - you are idealists like us, but you ignore so much. Your beliefs are not grounded in the laws of nature, in reality, and you do not understand where you are leading us. We ask only that you reconsider - that you read our writings and give them a fair hearing.

Many of you will come to understand that you are wrong, and we will welcome you into our arms. For the rest, it will be war between us to the bitter end as your victory means the death of our people, the White race. You will find that we of European descent will not allow our bloodline to die out, even if we must destroy many of the best of our kind in order to save the race as a whole. We have no way out and will fight with the desperation of cornered animals. You, on the other hand, always have an out as we will always grant you a multiracial society to live in. There are so many to choose from around the world, and we will give you one here on the soil of America. So how well will your people fight when it comes to the moment of truth, them knowing that they can survive simply by making peace; ours knowing that defeat means extinction.

CONTRADICTIONS

Now, you are beginning to see the implications of the course you have taken. Let us go into some of the other anomalies and contradictions in your position and see where it all leads. You support Blacks when they claim the right to their own culture here in America where they are a minority, and you support them when they demand the right to control their own destiny where they are the majority as in South Africa. So if Blacks should command their own fate, then why not Whites? If Blacks should be proud to be Black, then why not White pride? If Blacks should have Black culture then why must Whites give up their culture and their racial identity for some experiment called multiracialism?

Many of you support Israel (which was established by atheist Zionists), despite the fact that the General Assembly of the United Nations has denounced Zionism as racism, and despite the fact that a system of racial Apartheid exists under the Jews in the Middle East. If the Jews should have their own racial identity and their own culture, then why not Whites? We do not support Apartheid or the exploitation of one race by another in any form, why do you?

Almost all of you are "Greens." You are concerned with the demise of "endangered species." You support campaigns to protect the blue whale from extinction. But there are many other races of whales that are not endangered, so why worry about one race of whales? What is it that makes a race of whales more precious to you than your own race?

You fight for forced integration which leads inevitably to miscegenation and the extinction of all races. This is genocide. Do you really want America to look like India where the races are so thoroughly mixed that individuals cannot identify with anything beyond themselves?

PEACE AND HARMONY

You seem to think that if there is just one multiracial mass that this will lead to peace and harmony? What history, what anthropology or sociology leads you to believe this? You had better start to study what multiracial societies are really like. Read about India, Mexico, Egypt, etc. Better yet, go there. Go see how much internal harmony exists in the multiracial mass. If human beings cannot compete at the racial level, that is as tribes or nations, then they will compete at the level of the individual in order to satisfy their psychological needs. Struggle is nature's way. If you strip people of their racial and cultural identity, then you reduce them to a base, corrupt and cutthroat individualism. They will live in a society in which there is no harmony, no cooperation and no love - only constantly shifting alliances created for mutual self-interest.

Do you think it is an accident that in India every year hundreds of brides are burned to death for more dowry by their mothers-in-law, or that nothing gets done there without a bribe to grease the wheels - that you cannot even mail a letter without watching the postal clerk postmark the envelope, otherwise he will steal your stamp and sell it.

You White multiracialists cannot imagine the horror of life in such a society. This is what you will condemn our children's children to if you get your way. You are like lemmings rushing to the sea. There can only be internal harmony if there is external enmity. This is a law of nature. If there is no "us" and "them," then there is only "I."

Right now we racialists are your "them," but you are not necessarily ours. We will welcome you White idealists into our ranks if you will only see the truth and what it means. Nature is struggle - either we struggle together against the enemies of the White race or we struggle against one another to the detriment of our own kind. There is not much time now - come to grips with reality before it is too late. GG

NDF Book Review: Hackworth

About Face by Col. David Hackworth; reviewed by William McKinney:

In Vietnam Col. David Hackworth was one of the Army's fastest rising stars, until Gen. William Westmoreland asked Hackworth to write a report on improving the conduct of the war. Hackworth pulled no punches in his criticism of how the war was being handled and this hurt his career. Finally, in great frustration he went public with his criticism. He had courted the liberal press which was able to save his reputation from military attack, but he was forced to leave the Army, and he settled in Australia. In 1989, Hackworth finally came out with a long awaited book on his life entitled About Face.

EARLY LIFE

Hackworth grew up in Santa Monica, California as an orphan in the 1930's and 1940's. He survived off various hustles and became streetwise. At the age of 15 he became a merchant seaman, and in 1946 he lied about his age to join the Army. Despite the overabundance of NCOs after the Second World War, Hackworth rose quickly through the ranks and became an officer in Korea. As an enlisted man, he studied military manuals and was nothing more than a martinet. But his street life made him flexible, and he was quite intelligent and brave and these qualities would make him a good combat officer.

In combat the Machiavellian side to his character would give way to the heroic side and men were willing to follow him. Driven by personal ambition and the psychological need to prove himself, Hackworth wrangled a transfer to Korea from Italy when the war broke out in 1950. It was in that first bitter winter that Hackworth received his battlefield commission fighting the Chinese. He was wounded several times and received a number of decorations for bravery. He demonstrated outstanding leadership ability.

FRUSTRATION

He returned to Korea in 1952 as a company commander with the 223rd Regt. 40th Infantry Division. Again he showed great initiative and imagination. Our paths crossed there when his unit relieved mine up in the Punch Bowl. It was soon thereafter that Hackworth began to become critical of the military, and rightly so.

The war had degenerated into a stagnant trench warfare, and while the frontline fighters were still living a very rough and dangerous existence, the rear echelons and headquarters troops were beginning to live high on the hog - though nothing by comparison to what would later transpire in Vietnam. The staff officers (major and above) began recommending and approving each other for medals and citations which were totally undeserved. All of the various headquarters began indulging in oversupervision of the companies on the line, interfering in every small detail and allowing no freedom for initiative at the company and platoon level.

Hackworth, along with most junior officers, became very frustrated. He particularly criticized the inadequate and unrealistic training given replacement troops, and the replacement system itself which was criminal. Just as an officer was beginning to become a savvy veteran he was rotated out of Korea, so the poorly trained replacements were being led by inexperienced officers and NCOs.

ZERO DEFECT ARMY

Hackworth quit the Army in 1953 but found civilian life unsatisfying. He rejoined the military and became a workaholic. He was a very hard-driving, demanding leader who showed great concern for the welfare of his men.

During this period he expressed great misgivings over the "zero defect" Army in which no one was allowed to make a mistake. Since to err is only human this policy led to constant cover-ups, and dishonesty became deeply ingrained into the system. Hackworth's principal interest was in realistic training, but the hierarchy did not share his concern and he became frustrated once again.

Hackworth was assigned to the 101st Airborne Division which participated in the forced integration of Southern schools, and he expresses great pride in this misbegotten effort to mesh the races against their will, which no doubt pleased his liberal playmates in the media.

[The Bright and Shining Lie by Neil Sheehan describes the similar life of John Paul Vann who also manipulated the liberal media to push his dissident military agenda in Vietnam. Both Vann and Hackworth made insightful criticisms, but neither was thinker enough to come up with a viable alternative system. They both wanted to reform rather than completely restructure a system that was beyond reformation.]

VIETNAM

Hackworth fought in Vietnam with 101st Division in 1965 and 1966 and rose to battalion commander during his first tour. But he was already critical of the conduct of the war. The Americans were making the same mistakes as the French before them. They constantly fell into traps set by the Viet Cong, who seemed always to have the initiative and who fought only on their own terms. The VC chose the battlefield while the Americans floundered around in large, cumbersome units.

Hackworth also criticized Army Research & Development. He called the M16 rifle a worthless piece of junk that cost many good men their lives.

Hackworth was assigned to the Pentagon where he was given the unusual assignment of accompanying the famous historian General S.L.A. Marshal on a study tour of Vietnam, ostensibly to set up a military history network using SLAM's methods of interviewing and recording events. Hackworth was initially flattered by SLAM having chosen him for his protégé, but later he came to see SLAM as a self-serving phony. Hackworth considered the assignment a great opportunity to study and analyze the numerous combat actions in order to develop new tactics and improved training which would win the war. SLAM saw it as an opportunity to gather information for the several books which he subsequently wrote.

NEW TRAINING

Hackworth did manage to get a training manual, the Vietnam Primer, accepted for distribution throughout the Army, with SLAM taking the credit.

Upon his return to the Pentagon, Hackworth was assigned to the training branch. He and a few other warrior-types tried to steer the Army in the right direction, but they were overwhelmed by the bureaucratic, corporate management types. The Army was losing many of its best officers and NCOs as they were becoming as discouraged as Hackworth and had less desire to fight the machinery.

In 1969, Hackworth was back in Vietnam as a battalion commander in the Mekong Delta with the 9th Infantry Division. His troops were demoralized, undisciplined, sullen and slovenly. In the previous six months they had managed not to kill or capture one enemy soldier while losing 24 dead and 485 wounded.

Hackworth whipped the unit into shape risking mutiny and fragging. But as the troops began to see that what he was doing was really in their own best interest and that he was not another "chicken-shit phoney," they began to respond. He innovated at the tactical level and his unit developed a fighting spirit. Col. Hebert's similar experience proved that the American soldier was still sound under competent leadership.

ARVN ADVISOR

In 1970, Hackworth was next assigned to be advisor to the ARVN Airborne Division, which was the South Vietnamese Praetorian Guard. It spent nearly all of its time in Saigon trying to protect the government from coups. Hackworth found the South Vietnamese to be absolutely corrupt and incompetent. He became convinced that they could not survive on their own once the American Army completed its withdrawal.

He was shifted to advise ARVN troops in the Mekong Delta, but found they would fight only if bribed to do so. So he bribed them - mostly with PX commodities which they could sell on the black market. He improved the squalid living conditions of the unit with money made from a whorehouse and casino he established.

But things were obviously not going well for the capitalist side, and communist victory seemed inevitable unless massive changes came about. Hackworth decided to unload his great frustration by going public through the media. Naturally, this ended his military career. The Army became determined to destroy him and strip him of his retirement. But the powerful liberal media came to his rescue and he retired to Australia.

MANAGERS VS. LEADERS

Hackworth's book exposes the Army as a corrupt and inept bureaucracy which is much more interested in appearances than in substance. It is an institution run by self-serving bureaucratic politicians and time-servers.

It is hard to say when it all began, but it certainly got worse after World War II and particularly during Vietnam. Rommel once said that during the Second World War the American Army was run like a corporation rather than an army.

On this point there is a very good book called Fighting Power by Martin Van Creveld. This work is based on an Israeli Army study which compares the performance of the German and American armies in World War II. It concludes that the German Army fought much better under much greater adversity for many of the reasons cited by Hackworth in his criticisms of the post-War military. So far nothing seems to have been done to correct these fundamental problems. History indicates little will be done. WM

Dear Sirs,

Just recently your organization has come to my notice by way of receiving a copy of your manifesto and two back issues of your periodical, The Nationalist, which I found very interesting. Since one of the two issues sent to me contains an article on Walther Darre, it may be of interest to you to see the article I wrote a couple of years ago for the then National Review on the subject, a copy of which is enclosed. I also enclose a copy of the last issue of my little occasional bulletin Gothic Ripples and of my latest pamphlet, A Train of Thought. I will always be interested to see further literature of yours any time you care to send it - and to send literature of mine, as it appears from time to time.

Yours sincerely,

Colin Jordan, England

Dear Gary,

I received your letter with the enclosed Jan. and Feb. issues of The Nationalist. Thank you for your quick response. Yes, it is apparent that my mail is being interfered with, yours is not the only publication that I have not received. I am half-way through Baker's book Race and find it outstanding. It should be mandatory reading for all... The "14 words" come from a phrase coined by mein Bruder David Lane: "We must secure the existence of our people and a future for White children." I believe this phrase sums up what the whole struggle is all about. Give my regards to all who work with you and my heartfelt thanks for all that you are doing for our people.

SHORT BURSTS

Jewish Free Speech

In early December, attorney Douglas Christie was before the Supreme Court of Canada arguing against that country's "hate laws" which forbid criticism of the Jews and other races. Arrayed against him were lawyers for virtually every major Jewish group in Canada as well as the attorneys for the government. Supposedly on his side was a Mr. Rosenberg who represented the Canadian Civil Liberties Association. But Mr. Rosenberg repeatedly refused to make any argument when invited to do so by the Court and at last said that he was opposed to the "hate law" only because "there is no guarantee that it will only be used against White supremacists and anti-Semites." Yes, the Jews are great champions of free speech, as long as it serves them.

Teacher Cheating

In the Aug86 Nationalist we said, "SAT scores fell continuously from 1965 thru 1983 and only stopped falling when educators began to teach the test rather than the substance of the material that is supposed to be learned." On Sunday, March 25th, 1990, the System finally put two and two together and discovered that teachers have been teaching the achievement tests. Both NBC and CBS ran pieces with that same theme. They cited the work of Dr. John Canal who has shown that every school system in America claims to be above the national average on required achievement tests. Clearly, a massive fraud on the public is being perpetrated by educators. Why do they teach the test, manipulate grades and make false claims? Because in the land of heavenly capitalism one is supposed to serve one's own self-interest, and most teachers and administrators are doing just that. Better student scores mean praise rather than criticism from the community, more funding and sometimes even cash bonuses.

It was reported that administrators give teachers copies of the achievement tests that they are not supposed to see, and they then are able to "prepare" the student body. South Carolina had a better idea. It gave the exact same achievement test for eight years. Naturally scores improved, while at the same time scores continued to drop on the SAT tests which were not under the control of the state and which differed year to year. Sooner or later corruption seeps into every aspect of a capitalist society because its fundamental ethic is to "serve number one." It should be no surprise that educators are just as tainted as the rest of our leadership. National revolution and rebirth is the only answer.

More on Polls

In the last issue of The Nationalist we ran an article which tried to explain why polls are so unreliable. We said that polls lie because the polled give the pollsters only socially acceptable answers, not the truth. More evidence of this has just come in from Virginia Beach, site of the infamous "Greekfest" in which Blacks rioted against White power last year. In a poll commissioned by the Virginia-Pilot newspaper Black and White views of the event naturally differed, but importantly, the newspaper said that "whites questioned by black interviewers generally responded with more racial tolerance than whites questioned by white interviewers. To a lesser degree, blacks questioned by white interviewers also tended to show more racial tolerance than blacks questioned by black interviewers." Surprise, surprise.

Blacks Support Barry

And speaking of Black/White polls, 87% of Whites surveyed by the Washington Post think Marion Barry ought to resign as mayor of Washington D.C. now that he has been caught red-handed using cocaine, while 51% of Blacks thought he should not resign, and 43% of Blacks said they would vote for him again. Barry is blaming White racism for his troubles, and most Blacks agree if one can judge by the polls and the city's Black newspapers. Whites still do not seem to understand the vast gulf that separates them from Blacks.

Black Savage

The aptly named Congressman from Chicago, Gus Savage, is also blaming "white racist reporters" for his travails, and that being the case, his Black constituency will likely return him to office in the 1990 election. Savage sexually molested a Black female foreign service officer while on a government-paid tripto Zaire. The House slapped his wrist for this but refused to recommend disciplinary action as our weak-kneed "leaders" are terrified of the charge of racism.

Multiracialism: Dream or Nightmare?

The media is forever telling us that racialism is wrong - that racialism is, in fact, evil. On television, commentators who condemn racialism try to assume the moral high ground as if they were discussing devil worship or human ritual sacrifice.

When listening to the liberal's views on Race, you are immediately struck by the thought that these people [often Jews] are not talking about the real world, they are not talking about reality but of some fantasy land where everyone can live happily ever after. For these "enlightened" people anyone who opposes their dream world is sick, or evil.

Just as stupid as the liberal/left is the conservative/right. These moral guardians of America will tell everyone how good multiracialism is, then will run out of the cities at night to avoid the racial cesspool they have created! These right-wingers will talk of the need to stop colored immigration and ignore the massive population growth of those non-whites already here! They pretend not to notice the fact that White people will soon become a racial minority here in America!

His future depends upon what you do now!

The beauty of mankind lies in its diversity. In the far corners of the world from the Aboriginies to the Eskimos, from the Zulus to the Japanese, from the American Indian to our own White Race - it is this variety that is beautiful. We value the fact that we are different, and we do not share in some perverse desire to destroy the various races in the name of a phoney equality.

As White Nationalists we wish to ensure that White people survive as White people! We also hope that other races will wish to preserve their own kind. If we are to preserve our racial identity as White people then we must enter into a dialogue with people of other races who wish to preserve their racial identity. Together as Racial Separatists we can draw up the plans which will ensure that our children will not be destroyed by the nightmare of multiracialism.

If it is up to us as White Nationalists to stand alone and speak the truth on race, then we will do so. We will not be silenced by the hypocrites and liars of the Establishment. We believe that our White race is worth saving. We take pride in the progress and achievements of our White forefathers while recognizing the mistakes made by them which have brought us to our present precarious situation. If you are proud to be White - if you want to ensure that our White race survives, then join the NDF and fight for Racial Freedom and Social Justice in the New America.
