Gary Gallo Preaches White Nationalism To Populist Party National Convention

On Saturday May 26th, 1990 the Populist Party held its National Convention in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. The Executive Director of the Populist Party, Don Wassall, invited Gary Gallo, the leader of the National Democratic Front, to speak to the Convention. The text of Mr. Gallo's speech follows:

I am a White Nationalist

I am a White Nationalist, and this afternoon I am going to explain to you what a White Nationalist is and what he is not, because I suspect that a number of you are also White Nationalists - you simply lack the bravery to say so and to act accordingly. But this is our hour friends, our two great enemies, the twin evils of capitalism and communism, are in their death throes. Neither can handle the enormous problems they have created. Nationalism is reemerging everywhere in the White world.

The multiracialism of capitalism and communism has failed and everyone sees it. The exploitation of the ordinary White citizen by the capitalists and communists is no longer being tolerated by a people who once looked like sheep. But our people are not sheep - under the right leadership, noble nationalist leadership, their real nature emerges - Whites are lions and it is the other races, particularly the Jews who have tyrannized us for so long, who will soon be trembling and begging for mercy as they always do in the end. As Nietzsche said, the Jews are arrogant in victory and cringing and in defeat. But their cringing will not help them this time around because now all the White world understands what the Jew really is. The Eastern Europeans recognize that the Communist revolution was the capture of Russia by the Jews, and soon the Whites of the West will realize that the Jews have come to dominate that corrupt system we call capitalism.

The Will of God?

I am not a Christian patriot. I do not pretend to know the will of God, and I certainly do not believe in a universalist religion that preaches the love of one's enemies, or the hatred of one's own kind. Yes, you can read it for yourself - in the Sermon on the Mount, Christ tells us to love our enemies and in Luke 14:26 he tells us that in order to be his disciple we must hate our parents, hate our brothers and sisters and, yes, even hate our children. Read it! It is not an accident that virtually every Christian church in the world now preaches multiracialism. It is inherent in the doctrine.

Service and Sacrifice

I am a White Nationalist. I love my own kind - my whole life is driven by service to my people. I am willing to sacrifice even my life for my race. And I hate, I hate those who would destroy my race for their own nefarious purposes. I hate the capitalists, communists and Jews for they are out to destroy my people. It is us or them.

I am not a patriot. I love my people, not the land. I am quite willing to give up a piece of the soil of America to the Blacks and other races to secure a pure White American nation for ourselves.

I certainly feel no commitment to the Constitution which has enshrined and institutionalized the base philosophy of individualism and its self-interest ethic. This capitalist way of life is founded on the myth that if everyone just serves his own self-interest that everything works out well in the end - Adam Smith's magic Invisible Hand takes care of it all for you. And things do work out well under capitalism - for the rich ruling class as they have all the cards in the game of self-interest. Capitalism is efficient for them, and the Constitution ensures that they are "free" to use their money to buy the political power they need to shape the law for their own benefit.

Capitalism is Slavery

The rich and only the rich are free under capitalism. Capitalism is not so efficient for the 35 million American poor, two-thirds of whom are White.

Nor is it very efficient when it must compete against nationalistic social orders such as Japan and Germany in which workers and management are bound together emotionally. Nationalistic social orders reject the self-interest ethic for a national ethic of service and sacrifice. Individualism gives way to love of one's own kind, and that is why you do not see American-style poverty in Germany and Japan. Those peoples still feel the vestiges of the nationalisms that bound them together before the Second World War, and which allowed them to rise out the Depression while we wallowed in it for ten years until the war saved us. Those peoples understand the necessity of sharing the wealth in order to keep their nations united. Such is the nationalist legacy.

The alleged efficiency of capitalism is an historical lie. America was prosperous because we were rich in terms of fertile land and natural resources; we were powerful because of our size, but our wealth is running out. We no longer have the slack to absorb the shock of all of our stupidity. The cutthroat nature of capitalism causes class to struggle against class and pits individual against individual. It is exploitative by its very nature and is at war with the social justice upon which real nationalism is based. Its short term profit ethic is at war with the laws of nature and now nature is fighting back. Its essential individualism leads inevitably to multiracialism, for if only the individual is important then the race does not matter.

Capitalism has stripped our people of their racial and cultural identity - it has transformed them from a real community bound together by mutual love, to a collection of individuals who see friendships merely as shifting alliances for temporary advantage. It has stripped us of our unity. Is it any wonder that we have fallen so low with such a corrupt system as the foundation of our society?

I am a White nationalist and therefore I am anti-capitalist. I am determined that my people will live in a real nation based on love of one's own kind. To build that true nation we have developed an ideology called Democratic Nationalism and a program to put that ideology into action. Moreover, we have developed an alternative way of life that allows us to live purely amidst the corruption of capitalism. The White Nationalist way of life is based upon three principles: commitment, honor and honesty.

Our Sacred Duty

We are committed to our people, and it is this love of our own kind and racial devotion which gives our life meaning. Our purpose is to protect the chain of life that extends from our ancestors in time immortal, to our descendants in time in infinity. It is our sacred duty to see to it that that blood chain goes on unbroken, that our Race survives and achieves greatness in all that we do. It is our honor and honesty that gives us the sense of purity and psychological strength that we need to persist and triumph in this great struggle.

The three pillars of our ideology are Racial Freedom, Social Justice and Noble Leadership. Like the great American Populist leaders of the past, men such as William Jennings Bryant and Huey Long, we recognize that a nation can only be united on the basis of social justice, and like them, we too advocate a radical redistribution of the wealth. But it is not enough to just share the wealth, rather we must give real freedom to our people by sharing the power that creates and controls that wealth. Only then will class struggle end and true unity arise.

No longer will wealth be concentrated into the hands of a tiny rich minority that lords over the rest of us. Rather, political power will originate from the people and will be executed by a truly noble leadership, a leadership drawn from the best of all classes, selected and trained from an early age to lead the nation. Under the NDF, our leaders will not seek to live better than the rest of their people, rather they will be the first to shoulder the burden of sacrifice when it is so required. They will be real leaders.

Now I know there are White Nationalists among you. It is time to gather the courage to stand up, and when you stand up others will too. Our people are just looking for a sign that their time has come. It is up to us to lead the way. And we will lead the way. Our hour has come! Stand up White Nationalists! Stand up and march to victory!

The Decline of Britain's National Front

In the last issue of The Nationalist we published the views of former NF Director John McFarlane on the decline of Britain's most successful post-war racial nationalist movement, the National Front. In this issue we publish the second of two views on the demise of the NF. It is written by former NF Director Richard Goodall:

"Those the gods wish to destroy they first make mad." Such a line must aptly sum up the feelings of so many British nationalists at the trials and tribulations of their movement. At the time of going to press there has been yet another split in Britain's most well known nationalist organization the National Front. There are now at least four organizations competing for the loyalties of British racial nationalists.

According to the protagonists in this latest split the parting of the ways is over differences in ideology. Anyone who knows anything about the internal politics of the NF realizes it has much more to do with personalities, jealousies and competition for control of the NF's resources. For the membership of the NF it is nothing more or less than heartbreaking. The activists don't care for this petty in-fighting and all it serves to do is demoralise another generation of nationalists. For this split is simply the latest in the NF's history of factionalism caused by personal ambitions, foolishness and deliberate sabotage.

Uncanny Timing

Those who have studied the history of the NF perceive an uncannily regular three year cycle between each split. Yet always we are promised after each dispute that it is the last. In 1986, people who had regarded each other for years by the common label of Radical Nationalists suddenly formed rival factions. On one side at least this was presented as a break with reactionaries, and a false history was created to portray another mindless split as being founded on ideological differences.

In reality there was little difference in the political outlook of each side at this time. At the root of the problem was personal antipathy. Certain people on both sides were guided by either malice or something more sinister. In any case, the interests of the NF and the Cause it stood for were not allowed to stand in the way. It is my belief that the majority of people on both sides of that split regret it, and even more tragic, could not now come up with an adequate justification for the decimation of the movement.

Factional Errors

From 1986 onwards each faction continued on a course which brought it no improvement in credibility inside the nationalist movement or amongst the wider British population. One faction continued to hold within its ranks people strongly suspected of financial corruption at the very least; the other gave membership to people with a history of harassing fellow nationalists instead of concentrating on legitimate politics. Worst of all, neither faction settled on a credible coherent strategy of growth.

Blind Alleys

One faction continued to appeal to the most undisciplined elements that coalesced around the movement, wasting time and effort on activities proven out of date even before 1986. The other faction took itself down equally blind alleys allying itself with various foreign causes in the hope of money and credibility, but thereby requiring a commonsense ideology to be turned on its head to justify it all.

This is not to say that improvements in certain areas were not made, but these were ultimately nullified by the continuing influences of petty ambition and lack of unified direction amongst the leaderships.

A Stable Base

Racial nationalists must by their nature (and the odds stacked against them) be idealistic and optimistic, but the following question must be confronted: what is the basis for long term stability in British nationalism? Is it inevitable that a nationalist movement should regularly be rent apart by internal division and lack of unified direction?

It is my contention that the persistent instability of the National Front has been due to its structure, or rather lack of it. John Tyndall, one time leader of the NF and now of its rival the British National Party (BNP), sets out a similar case in his book The Eleventh Hour. As Tyndall says, almost from its outset the NF gave decision making power to a committee, "on the false premise that decisions should be made by the counting of heads.... an absurdity that belongs to the doctrine of liberalism that has wreaked havoc with the Western world." It is ironic that an organisation which is in opposition to so-called liberalism should at the same time feel compelled to adopt the falsehoods expounded by that philosophy. It is a false structure for both a revolutionary party and ultimately for a successful society.

An organisation supposedly run collectively by a committee will not prevent individuals seeking power and disproportionate influence. In fact, such a structure will attract those who prefer to act behind the scenes through manipulation. Gary Gallo, leader of the NDF, has called such people "Jacobins" after very similar types in Eighteenth century revolutionary France who sought power over the people, but who condemned the principle of leadership because they knew they were not fit to provide it, and feared for their power if anyone capable did arise. Tyndall sums up these people: "...collective leadership, the formula always beloved of the levellers of politics as it means that in the event of their having a part in leadership councils, no one stands above them and thus delivers that agonizing wound to their egos entailed by such an order of things. Under collective leadership responsibility rests in theory with everyone and in practice with no-one." In short, rule by committee encourages the rise of mediocrity to positions of power where they can then hide their shortcomings behind the theory of collective responsibility.

Real Responsibility

The NDF is organised deliberately on the principle of a leader elected and empowered by the membership to make decisions and take responsibility for them. This of course places enormous power in the hands of an individual and critics point to the potential for corruption. However, experience of the NF's long history of committee rule has shown that corruption, formation of cliques and manipulation of power exists also under collective leadership. In fact, the continual sparring for advantage amongst theoretically equal committeemen makes such negative practices more prevalent under this system.

In electing a recognised leader the organisation makes clear where ultimate responsibility lies. Any community of people will seek out a leader, and even a less than brilliant leader is better than none at all. So long as a leader is honest and committed to the welfare of the group, he can at least provide stability and continuity for the organization even as it waits for someone inspirational. With committee rule there will always be those acting from personal malice or as infiltrators who will use the relative anonymity of the system to hide their hidden agendas while they plot.

Sound Principles

If a leader acts against the Cause his behaviour is clear - he has to justify his actions and the whole party can deselect him or resign, voting with their feet. It must be a fundamental objective of all racial nationalists to create an organization founded on sound principles. The NDF was created on just such a firm foundation. It is equally possible to do this elsewhere. The correct structure and a coherent ideology do not guarantee a victory, but they do represent vital elements for an organization with hopes of winning. We must learn from both theory and the hard, practical lessons of the past in founding new nationalist parties or in reforming the old. RG

LETTERS

Dear Sir:

I was an eighteen year old naval reservist in August 1939 and as I arrived at the Dundee Station, my eye caught the newspaper poster "Russia and Germany Sign Pact." I then knew that war was inevitable, fostered by the international communists and capitalists, and in that moment my hate for them was born.

I spent the next seven years in the Navy, part of it on Russian Convoys, and I had plenty of opportunity to see Stalin's Russia at war. Nothing I saw enamoured me of the regime or its founders. I became anti-Semitic and pro-Nazi, and in spite of many a clash with the authorities, I managed to hold wartime and peacetime commands of warships until I retired in 1958.

During the Fifties I was in close touch with Oswald Mosley and his lieutenants, but the Union Movement lost its impetus in spite of the great loyalty of the latter, and I drifted from Empire Loyalists to the National Front. During the Sixties, the offices of the NF were burgled by anti-Nazi elements who obtained files on the membership. These people used bogus expulsion letters, my name prominent on the list. Later the NF retrieved the situation, but by this time I had decided never to join a political party again. I would fight from the shadows if I could.

Under Tyndall's and Webster's leadership the National Front prospered. Its great handicap lay in its lack of money and a Headquarters Office, which even the Union Movement had possessed in Vauxhall Bridge Road. There were foreign governments which were ready to finance disorder in Britain, or which were friendly to British Nationalists for their own reasons, and I approached some of them. I would not have accepted less than 120,000 Pounds....

Tyndall totally disowned my activities, saying that Mosley was denigrated by an allegation of having received cash from Mussolini in the 1930's. Lack of cash and a headquarters would not go away. John Tyndall and I, with others, looked at several London properties for sale, and after some abortive efforts to purchase something suitable, including one next to Oval Police Station, it was decided we would purchase a large rambling property in Great Eastern Street [Excalibur House.] At some sacrifice, I became the largest private investor.

Tyndall and Webster were the real powers behind the National Front in its heyday; they disliked each other. Tyndall railed to me against Webster's alleged homosexuality. My advice was to ignore this.... I am only interested in Power in Politics. To achieve this we must back ultimate winners. Later, we can afford to become "choosey."

In my view Tyndall was the best television personality the NF ever put forward, but Webster was better at collecting the mob. Richard Verval was their best administrator and his friend, Tessa Sempik, was one of the best legal brains ever to assist the Party. After Tyndall left the NF, aided and abetted by Webster and Sempik, I launched a massive legal counterattack on those who had stolen control of Excalibur House and successfully bankrupted them, and they disappeared from the scene.

Today the Anderson/Wingfield group has taken over the mantle of what is left of the NF, and John Tyndall leads the British National Party (BNP). Patrick Harrington and his faction, which once held the NF umbrella, have now changed their course and can be written off as serious Nationalist contenders. Vainly, I tried to get the Anderson/Wingfield group to merge with John Tyndall and keep the mystic National Front label. But after much negotiation, the merger failed.

What is the future of Nationalism in Britain? The Welsh nationalists are too secular, and the Scottish National Party is no more than a fusion of multiracial anarchists and internationalists, successfully doing a con trick on a gullible Scottish electorate. Lack of money, the overwhelming cash and propaganda of the Left and Zionist press, inability to appeal to the mob, and the administrative failing to infiltrate the corridors of the unions, the Zionist Press, and the Liberal rich will cause the Movement to stagnate until better leadership is born.

I think one must look to France or to Germany, where Nationalists are making a comeback, to learn a more successful approach for Britain. I totally agree with all the Codes and Plans of the National Democratic Front for a New America. Both there and here, it is the skill, strategy and tactics that are required to put this over to a floating electorate vote. Regards,

Michael Forsyth-Grant, Scotland

SHORT BURSTS

Imre Finta Acquitted

As in the United States with the Office of Special Investigations, Jewish pressure groups in Canada forced the weak-kneed White politicians of that country to adopt new laws to prosecute "Nazi war criminals" - not Communist war criminals, nor Capitalist war criminals, and certainly not Zionist war criminals, just "Nazi" war criminals. Most of these prosecutions, again as in the U.S., are aimed not at Nazis but at Eastern Europeans who supported the German war against Communism and the Jews who created the Marxist movement and who dominated it at the time (but who have since lost control of it, at least in the Soviet Union.)

Eastern Europeans have traditionally hated the Jews even more strongly than have the Germans, largely because of the huge numbers of Jews located there. The Jews are now exploiting their enormous power in the capitalist world, particularly in the U.S., the U.K. and Canada, to punish the age-old enemies of their blood with these new hypocritical laws. And our seedy White politicians have gone along with this policy of racial revenge from the "never forgive, never forget" lot.

The first trial in Canada under the new law did not, however, go as planned. A Hungarian named Imre Finta was charged with loading a train with Jews for deportation to Auschwitz which the Jews still allege was an extermination center (though they have given up the claim on Dachau, Buchenwald, Mathausen, etc.) Finte acquired the services of Canada's most courageous attorney Douglas Christie. Christie is unusual in that he really does believe in freedom of speech, and he and he alone, has come to the defense of Canada's "racists, anti-Semites and neo-Nazis" who have pushed a revisionist view of Holocaust history and have been charged with various thoughtcrime offenses therefore.

At considerable personal risk, Christie traveled to Israel and Hungary to interview witnesses against his client who refused to appear in Canada. Astonishingly, these witnesses were allowed to testify against Finta by videotape. De-spite the extraordinary burdens placed on the Defense in such a bizarre trial, Christie was able to convince the jury that the aged Finta was not guilty of any "war crime" and he was acquitted. Congratulations Doug!

Poles Opt Out

Only 42% of Poland's eligible voters bothered to vote in that country's first "free" election on May 27th. In fact, the Polish electorate had little real choice. They could choose between the Communists and Jewish-dominated Solidarity, so the majority chose to stay home. When real nationalist candidates are allowed on the ballot voter participation will rocket upward.

Revealing Twins

New studies of identical twins separated at birth show that genetic makeup is the key factor in what one weighs, rather than environment, or even diet and exercise. Studies published in the June issue of the New England Journal of Medicine indicate that one person can gain three times as much as another from the same amount and kind of food, but that identical twins gain exactly the same. Strange how the genes seem to affect every aspect of life, yet the multiracialists who control the capitalist and communist worlds continue to insist that there are no substantial differences in the intellectual and emotional makeup of individuals, and further that men and women are the same and that the races are all the same. They would have us believe that the genes that account for intellectual and emotional nature are somehow different from all other genes and do not vary from individual to individual, or from sex to sex or from race to race. Racial study has been taboo in the "lands of the free" since the 1920's, as Dr. John Baker (formerly head of anthropology at Oxford) pointed out in his seminal 1974 book entitled Race. Yet, the truth about genetic differences is gradually slipping out, largely through the study of identical twins separated at birth, and it will not be long before our people begin to put two and two together.

Republikaners Split

In a major split, the nationalist Republican Party of West Germany has ousted its leader Franz Schoenhuber, a former Waffen SS officer. The move is designed to moderate the image of the Republicans, but since this will only make them look more like the conventional plutocratic parties it is likely to make the Republican Party irrelevant.

White Nationalism is the Future!

On February 15th 20,000 White Nationalists gathered in Pretoria to protest the release of the Communist revolutionary Nelson Mandela. On May 26th 100,000 White Nationalists rallied in Pretoria demanding an end to the capitalist order of President DeKlerk and the creation of an all-White nation. Hundreds of thousands of White Nationalists are marching in the streets of Eastern Europe demanding the death of Communism and freedom for their peoples. Racial nationalists are being elected to office around the White world as the old taboos of Communism and Capitalism break down. The corrupt old order is on the way out -- the bright New Way is just beginning. Be a part of it!
