Truth is the most powerful propaganda.-- J.F.C. Fuller

Toward A New Spirituality

The following article is based on a talk given by Gary Gallo to a conference of racist religious leaders held in Knoxville in March of 1991:

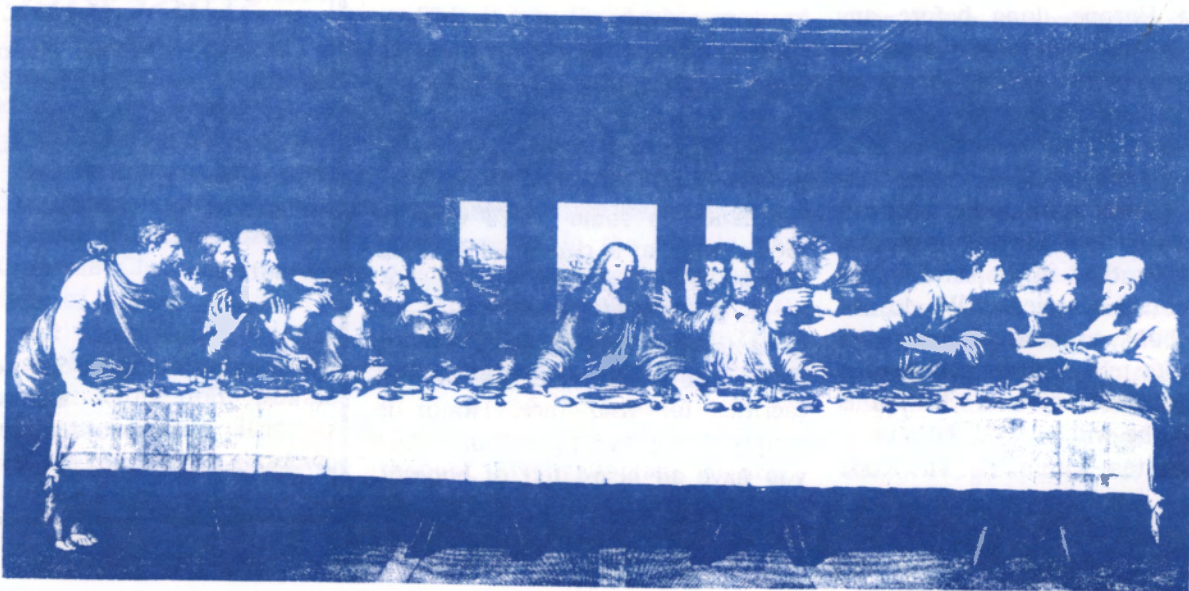

I believe that the purpose of conferences like this one should be to develop a new religion for the White people, one that is in accord with the character of the White race and that can help fill the void that our people feel in their spiritual lives. In that context, I wish to analyze what we have heard at this conference.

In the talks given so far we have heard two fundamentally different messages, though both use the same Biblical language, and they have been so twisted together in a futile attempt to synthesize them that it is sometimes difficult to separate the strands. But they are nevertheless two very different and irreconcilable approaches to spiritual health. One way is at war with nature because it sees nature as evil, and the other worships nature and seeks to live in harmony with it. One believes that man is at root evil - a sinner who must fight his own nature in order to be good. And the other sees man as knowing right from wrong and as capable of doing good if only he would listen to what is within him - the voice of his own nature.

Each approach is the manifestation of a different racial spirit, in fact they come from two races that have been locked in mortal combat with one another down through the millenia. One is White and the other Semite. White thought has come to be called philosophy, and Semite thought has come to be called religion - Judaism, Christianity, Islam - but religion and philosophy have the same ultimate object and that is to establish an ethical way of life for its followers. One seeks the truth through scientific investigation and reason, and the other seeks it through mysticism. One searches for truth and the other presumes it.

How did the European peoples build stable, harmonious, civilized communities before they received the word of God?

Socrates, a founder of philosophy

Before the Word

Did it ever occur to you that our people were living in well-ordered, harmonious communities long before "the word of God" ever reached Europe, long before any Scripture was written? So how did these poor White people, bereft of the "word of God," manage this feat? How did they do it without the Ten Commandments?

The answer is that they were in touch with their own nature and listened to that inner voice - the thing we call conscience. We do not need a book, especially one written by Jews, to tell us right from wrong; we do not need any man who claims to know the will of God, because it is all written within us. The code that holds this wisdom lies in each and every cell of our bodies. It is contained within our genes and its voice is ever present in our minds, if only we will listen to it. This our ancient White ancestors understood - they who were seeking to know the laws of nature and live in harmony with their own makeup.

For the married man contemplating adultery, does he really need to check in with God to see if it is right or wrong, or to peruse the list of Commandments to refresh his memory? Hardly. Yes, he feels the power of the sexual urge rising within him, but he also hears the inner voice that tells him that it is wrong to violate a trust. When you lie your body twists and turns inside. That is why a polygraph works - it picks up on the physical changes within the liar. Yes, you can deceive others but you cannot fool yourself.

If you are looking for God to shine his flashlight on you from above, all you are going to get is a cricked neck because real spirituality radiates from within us out, not from without in. Those waiting for God to help them live right will never live nobly. The responsibility is on your shoulders, not His. And you will find the strength to do it if you look for it in the right place.

Real Spirituality

The essence of spirituality is in having the strength to do what you know is right, not in continually asking God for forgiveness after doing wrong. Morality lies not in obedience to some man's view of God's will, but is contained in three simple ethical principles: commitment, honor and honesty. Commitment to your own kind - a natural drive that requires service to and sacrifice for your race. Honor is simply doing the right thing. And you have all heard tell of honesty, even if you have not seen much of it in your lifetimes. At one time these principles were taken very seriously by our ancestors, but that was before we received the "word of God" which told us of more important things, like obedience to God's will, or rather to the Book, or at least to Church dogma as the Book itself is not all that clear and lends itself to 1001 interpretations, such being the nature of God's literary abilities.

What we gained from Semitic religion is love of God, and what we lost is love of our own kind and our own culture. And it is only complete identification with and love of one's own kind that gives man the strength to be noble, to do good and live righteously, to be spiritual and live for something beyond himself. But no, now that we have received the "word of God" we must pretend to love all of God's children.

The truth is, however, that our nature forbids this, that we can love only our own kind - our beautiful and noble White race. We can feel at one only with our own people, those who have the same fundamental nature as we. When stripped of this racial identification and love, man comes to live only for himself. He becomes base and self-interested.

Destroying Our Spirit

To Christianity this natural love for one's own race is just one more example of nature's evil - just another natural feeling that must be overcome in order to fulfill God's will. But the truth that our pagan ancestors realized is that we cannot live in disharmony with our own nature, that we cannot live in discord with our own racial spirit without destroying that spirit. Or as the great Swiss psychologist Carl Jung put it, the best way to make yourself neurotic is to live in conflict with your true nature.

CARL JUNG

Living neurotically is what we have been doing for the past two thousand years since receiving "God's word." That is why our people are torn within themselves, why they are so guilt-ridden and demoralized. The Judeo-Christian Church creates the atmosphere of guilt that allows it to control our people. To maintain domination the Church must convince us that natural impulses are evil because we are then all sinners who need the redemption and forgiveness of God, to be gotten through the blessing of His Church. This is the greatest scam in history, and not surprisingly it originated with the Jews.

White Nature

We all know, or at least feel, that there is something wrong here. That is why we are searching for something different from conventional Christianity, something more fulfilling for White people. We sense that Christianity was not created for us, that it does not fit us. We reject the conventional Church because we long to be ourselves. The White man is not driven by reward and punishment. We are motivated by the desire to do right and achieve. Promise of heaven and the threat of hell is aimed at the individualist, the kind who cares only for his own fate, and this kind predominates among the Semites, but not among the Whites.

The Semite is curious and loves knowledge, but is atomistic in his thinking. Unlike the White, he does not seek to categorize and theorize and then apply the principles discovered. For the Semite, the exception does not complement the rule, it obliterates it, makes it meaningless. So all things must be judged case by case.

This is why the Arabs preserved Greek science and philosophy, while the Christians eradicated it in Europe. Reason was not a threat to Arab religion or culture because the Semites preferred mysticism, and so science and philosophy never proved very powerful in the Middle East, they were fascinating curiosities, parlor games for the elite. But when the Europeans rediscovered their Greek and Latin roots in the Arab libraries of Spain and the Levant there was almost immediately an explosion of thought, investigation and learning - we call it the Renaissance. The Rebirth of reason and science.

The early Christians were right - philosophy and science were indeed a very great threat to their dogmas. The White was not only awe-struck by mystery, he was determined to unravel it - to demystify. And demystification is the arch enemy of Semitic religion. But the institutional, social and political power of the Church proved formidable. The struggle went back and forth, with the Christians still burning "witches" as late as the 18th Century.

Galileo was threatened with burning by the Church, and his colleague Giordano Bruno was burned to death for advocating science over dogma.

Learning, science and reason got the upper hand again during the Enlightenment, and many of the nationalist revolutions that followed openly celebrated pre-Christian, classical values and culture. In the end, the nature of the White man will prevail and Semitic religion will disappear altogether from the White world. But that will not mean the end of religion, rather it will create the opportunity for the establishment of a truly White religion, for science can never explain it all nor can it satisfy man's emotional needs.

Our people will always love the mystery and psychological power of religious ritual and the sense of community that mass worship brings. They will turn to religion for hope when there is no rational basis for it, and to create an after-life with justice when they see so little justice here on Earth. This will give them the strength to carry on in the darkest hours.

White Religion

During the Enlightenment an effort was made to synthesize philosophy and religion and this was called Deism. Many of the founding fathers of this country were Deists. The Deists believed in God but also believed that He expressed His will only through the laws of nature and not through the words of men. This is White religion and once we embrace it our people will cease to be torn inside themselves. We will no longer live neurotically, and a new harmony will emerge in the social affairs of the White community.

Deism was for the intellectual elite, but it can be transformed into a religion for the masses complete with the appropriate rituals. A process such as this must take place as our people want to live nobly and honorably again, they want to feel good about themselves and will do the right thing if only we will let them, if only we will stop calling them sinners. We must create a social, political and religious order that allows the White people to be White. We must be ourselves once again after wandering so long in the alien wilderness. A new era is dawning - let's not waste this opportunity to heal our souls and build the sort of society within which we can be both proud and happy. GG

Some Answers to the Unanswered Questions

The information necessary to resolve some of the mysteries of the Gulf "War" and to judge the performance of our military is beginning to surface in the media. We will follow these questions and analyze them as the facts come out.

In the Dec90 issue of The Nationalist we said that the slow pace of the U.S. military build-up in Saudi Arabia was due to "an unconscionable shortage of strategic transport." The situation was actually much worse than we realized. Foreign ships provided 47% of the necessary transport. If the U.S. military and merchant marine had been the sole source of strategic transport then it would have taken three months longer to move the troops to the Middle East. As it was tanks and heavy equipment were still arriving on the day the ground attack was launched.

Service Rivalry

We may not have 28 allies in the next war, nor their ships; recognizing this the Army is studying the purchase of eight additional fast sealift ships.

Until now none of the three services was willing to spend much on strategic transport, and since there is no Armed Forces General Staff or separate strategic transport service this area has been studiously ignored by the professional officer corps, despite the fact that the need for a power such as the U.S. which likes to project force thousands of miles overseas would seem utterly obvious.

Indeed, the U.S. merchant marine fleet has been allowed to disintegrate while military airlift and sealift has increased only marginally due to interservice rivalry. Civilian military experts in the reform movement have tried for years to get the military to resolve the problem but to no avail.

Vulnerability

The military has admitted that the the first division to arrive in Saudi Arabia, the 82nd Airborne, was without heavy equipment or tank support for nearly a month and that it was thus vulnerable to attack. Fortunately Iraq, contrary to Bush's claims, had no intention of attacking Saudi Arabia. If it had we would have been driven off the peninsula in short order. Then we would have had to conduct an amphibious assault with inadequate strategic transport, a dicey proposition. Lucky for Bush that he was fighting Saddam Hussein rather than Ho Chi Minh and General Giap.

Exaggerated Claims

In last month's issue of The Nationalist we doubted General Norman Schwarzkopf's claim that such a small proportion of the Iraqi Army was captured (only 65,000 soldiers) because the bulk of Iraq's troops had been killed by the air campaign and ground battle. On March 17, the Washington Post released information from captured divisional records of three Iraqi divisions, one Guards division and two regular army divisions. The three together suffered only 500 dead and 1250 wounded. Extrapolating to 43 divisions (those in the Kuwait theater) we get an estimate of 7000 dead not 75,000 dead as claimed by the military. Total Iraqi military casualties would approximate 25,000. Certainly a disappointment after 5 weeks of the most relentless bombing in history.

Iraq's biggest problem was desertion because Saddam Hussein continued to allow leave to be taken by the soldiers up until the bombing started. More than 100,000 troops failed to return to their units after going on leave. Some military analysts now believe that there were only 340,000 Iraqi troops in the Kuwait theater on January 16th due to desertion and to the fact that many units arrived at the front understrength.

U.S. intelligence greatly overestimated the size of the forces facing it which may explain why the Iraqis made no real effort to prepare for a mobile battle and no real effort to fight when it became obvious that the ground war could not be avoided. One officer responsible for the debriefing of captured Iraqi officers said, "[the Iraqi officers] felt Saddam would avoid a war and even up to the end there was a feeling he would find some way to pull out and save face. There was no strategic design in the Iraqi troop deployment and the military debriefed say they thought they would go in, dig in and then withdraw if the coalition was serious about war."

In the Mar91 Nationalist we said, "Either the Iraqis never considered actually having to fight, planning on withdrawing before the fateful day arrived, or they are most incredibly stupid." In fact, they were both planning to withdraw and incredibly stupid. Any competent military commander would have prepared for the worst even if he thought it would probably not come about.

Why so few prisoners from such a great and rapid victory? Most likely because the Iraqi Army was already in full retreat before the Allies attacked on Feb. 24th.

SHORT BURSTS

Genes Don't Lie

Previously we reported on the controversy between Emory University and the University of California at Berkeley in regard to mitochondrial DNA, which are the genes outside of the nucleus of the cell and which descend unchanged directly from the mother (as they are without input from the father) down through the generations. Berkeley claimed that such genes were the same for all of the races of man, and Emory claimed that each race contained genetic markers through which it could be identified. Dr. Douglas C. Wallace of Emory University has published an article in the American Journal of Genetics which genetically traces the three subraces of American Indians to separate racial origins in Siberia and Kamchatka. The multiracialist nonsense spouted by the "scientists" at Berkeley is all but dead.

Mass Delusions

A recent Gallup survey reveals how whole peoples can delude themselves. In the U.S. 56% of students say they have a "great deal" or "quite a lot" of confidence in the public schools compared with just 44% of Japanese students. More U.S. students than Japanese students claim they are "very interested" in studying math, science, arts and music, and business. In Britain polls demonstrate that the average Briton is convinced that his standard of living is one of the highest in Europe when in fact it is one of the lowest. If the British start to spend much time on the Continent after completion of the "Chunnel" realization of the truth in this regard could spark a revolution. Marvelous things happen when perception finally comes into line with reality.

Fighting Back

It is important for White Americans to understand what life in New York is all about because by the year 2060 (according to the Census Bureau) Whites will become a minority in the U.S. and the whole country will be as dangerous as the "Big Apple." Ordinary people are now riding the New York City subways armed and ready for action. Within the space of a month earlier this year: 1) a panhandler who was harassing a woman with small children was shot dead by another passenger, 2) a teenager who was threatened by two other teenagers with boxcutters shot them both, killing one, and 3) a young man who tried to steal a gold chain from a teenager's neck was stabbed to death by the teenager's companion. It is not clear if any of those fighting back were White, but we doubt it, otherwise the New York City police force would have been sent into the subways on a massive manhunt ala Bernhard Goetz, the "subway vigilante."

New Indians

According to the 1990 Census, the American Indian population more than trebled between 1980 and 1990, from 523,600 to 1.8 million. No, the Indian birthrate did not dramatically change. It appears that "Indian" has a new status in our multiracial culture and that those of mixed blood now identify themselves as Indian rather than as Black or White as they used to. This is a good thing as we certainly do not want them passing themselves off as White, but it is also an indication of the decline in regard for the White race amongst the population in general. The Jewish media and the capitalist System have quite effectively stripped the White people of pride in their culture, despite the fact that there is none greater. Ignorance is the key. The White American is so ignorant that he does not even know what culture is and so he is quite unable to compare European culture to African culture or Jewish culture and make value judgements. Indeed, the System has done its work well.

Social Justice

Two new studies indicate the extent of our plutocracy's commitment to social justice. Nearly one out of every four children goes to bed hungry in America according to the latest study on hunger. And rural areas have less than one half the number of doctors per capita as urban areas. Some rural counties have no doctors at all. Why? Because there is more money to be made in the city and that is what most doctors are primarily interested in.

Anti-Semitic Japs

The Jews are once again complaining about anti-Semitic books being published and sold in Japan. The American Jewish Committee went to Tokyo to demand their removal from the shelves. So far the Japanese are siding with free speech.

LETTERS

From the Horse's Mouth

To the Editor:

Black leaders, with some justification, have questioned the over-representation of Blacks serving in the Persian Gulf War; but no one has dared question the under-representation of Jewish Americans in this conflict which had as its primary concern (forget Bush's litany of reasons) the protection of the state of Israel.

Even Iraq's Scud missile attacks did not inspire a run on recruiting offices by Jewish Americans; according to an article in the New York Times, out of over 400,000 American troops deployed in Saudi Arabia in December, only 770 were of the Jewish faith.

Sincerely,
Ruth Elizabeth Ramsey
Georgia

Editor - The Jews were also under-represented in this country's war against German National Socialism, even though they went to extraordinary lengths to overcome America's isolationist movement and manipulate us into that war. But this is quite the norm for the Jews and their behavior in this regard is not restricted to the United States. It should also be noted that the Jews were over-represented in Leon Trotsky's Red Army, particularly in the officer ranks. They are willing to fight when in direct control.

Dear Mr. Gallo,

In the enclosed August 1990 edition of my newsletter Cynasura. I point out that it is the Europeans who have furnished humanity with ideas as opposed to the "Third Worlders" who spend most of their time "moaning and groaning." The Blacks have not created a single Social Philosophy whereas the Whites have thought out at least a dozen.

Dear Mr. Gallo,

We have been exchanging our newspapers for quite a while now, and I must say I always read The Nationalist with great interest. The only problem is that it gets here too late and I was wondering if you could have it air-mailed to me on the understanding that I will, of course, do the same with Tribune Nationaliste.

Dear Sir:

Thank you for the copy of your publication. I want you to know that I really appreciated reading it. I know that I had hoped for something good, but it certainly was much better than I could really ever have expected these days.... You will find enclosed a check for $18.00 for a subscription to The Nationalist and a copy of New America #4.

The following is from the Jewish Chronicle of November 30, 1990:

'When she became MP for Finchley she paid ten shillings to be the first subscriber to the Anglo-Israel Friendship League and was elected its president. In one of her earliest public tributes to the Jewish state she remarked that 'Israel has achieved more in the 16 years of her existence than most states achieve in a century.'

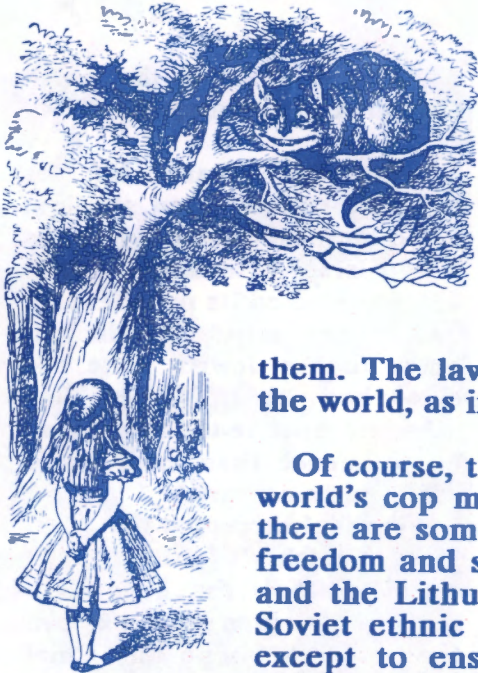

It is widely accepted that Margaret Thatcher's political and moral outlook has been to a significant degree shaped by two Jews - Lord Joseph and Chief Rabbi Lord Jacobovits. Keith Joseph was her early political mentor and much of what is now called Thatcherism could with some accuracy be labelled Josephism.

As for the Chief Rabbi, Mrs. Thatcher was said to be perfectly happy with political commentator Hugo Young's description of Lord Jacobovits as 'in effect the spiritual leader of Thatcherite Britain.'

...It was probably more than a coincidence that she appointed a record number of Jews to Cabinet office."

The Jews did so well with Margaret Thatcher that they attempted the same game plan in the U.S. with their top female gey mouthpiece Jeane Kirkpatrick. But Bush was too clever for her and now they will have to wait until 1996 to try again.

An Alice in Wonderland World

What a wonderfully strange, brave new world we live in. The U.S. has magnanimously appointed itself to be the world's policeman and seems quite ready to enforce the law regardless of sacrifice. The law, we are told, says that small ethnic groups, such as the Kuwaitis and the Jews, have the right of self-determination, and the U.S. is determined to crack heads to defend and impose such rights. The law also says that United Nations resolutions have legal force, and so the world's cop must take action to implement them. The law also says that democracy must be protected around the world, as in Grenada, Panama and South Africa.

Of course, there are certain exceptions within the law of which the world's cop must be cognizant lest he overstep his authority. First, there are some small ethnic groups that do not deserve the right to freedom and self-determination such as the Kurds and Palestinians, and the Lithuanians, Latvians, Estonians, Armenians and all other Soviet ethnic groups, and here the world's cop must not interfere except to ensure the right of free emigration for the Jews who deserve to get out of the Soviet Union while all others must stay. Moreover, the law says that large ethnic groups, such as the Russians and White Americans, must never be granted the right of self-determination and must remain bound to multiracial, multicultural unions.

Second, certain U.N. resolutions are not meant to be enforced and do not have the force of law, and thus require no action by the world's policeman. These resolutions can be easily recognized as they contain the word "Israel" somewhere within them.

Third, democracy need not prevail in countries allied to the world's policeman, countries such as Kuwait and Saudi Arabia may have dictatorships should they so desire; and the dictatorial racial policy of Apartheid which is impermissible in South Africa may be practiced in Israel. Got it?

Well yes, it is complicated, but thank God it is the U.S. that has been appointed world cop - no other country would have the wisdom to fairly enforce such complex law. But 200 years of experience in legislating and implementing bizarre law, most designed to protect the many and varied plural interests, has prepared the U.S. for this daunting task. Nor can the U.S. be bought like some bad cop; the United States would never be influenced in its world enforcement by such things as oil money or political money from powerful special interests such as the Jewish Lobby - American capitalist leaders and politicians are much too upright for that! Can you imagine if some other, some less noble country became the world's policeman? Yes, thank God the good old U.S.A. got the job.
