WHITE POWER, Chap. X

Commander Speaks at White Power Rally in Chicago!

On Sunday, 8 October, Commander Koehl spoke in Chicago at a special White Power rally sponsored by the Chicago Unit. The rally, scheduled for 3 p.m., took place in Jefferson Park on the city's northwest side.

Several hundred White spectators were attracted by the large Swastika-emblazoned speaker's rostrum, flanked by American flags, which dominated the area. Around the speaker's stand four teams of Stormtroopers stood at parade rest.

Comrade Michael Szipronat emceed the rally. The first to speak was Richard Biederman, the Party's Delaware Valley organizer. He talked to the people about the encroaching Black pestilence that was threatening to smother White communities in cities like Chicago and Philadelphia. Talk was futile, he added, and urged the only real solution: White Power!

Comrade Dan Dexter of Peoria spoke next. He delivered a scathing attack upon the sell-out System represented by Tricky Dick which is betraying the vital interests of White Western civilization to the Communists. Examining the 40 years of betrayal to the Reds that began with Roosevelt, Dexter recounted the long list of appeasement, betrayal and surrender that has marked America's relations with the Communist world.

Commander Koehl spoke last. He talked to the people about what was meant by the term "White Power." It is not only an expression or goal, he noted, but a definite idea. That idea is inextricably linked with the concept of America. The Commander pointed out that not only the Constitution and early national institutions, but the very existence and hope of progress in young America depended upon the realization of "White Power."

The twisted, debased America that is the result of today's Jewish-liberal democracy is a complete refutation of everything that the young republic was created for. The White majority is being exploited for the benefit of a parasitical minority of Jews and Blacks and our own governmental agencies are being used to enforce the tyranny.

In closing, the Commander warned the people that the 1972 elections would decide and change nothing. It only affirmed the rotten anti-White System for another four years. He reminded the people that NO election would have any importance until White Americans started standing together in racial solidarity under the banners of National Socialism! "Think White," declared the Commander, "We're ready when you are!"

The audience responded with overwhelming approval. Four members of the JDL had stood up front during the beginning of the rally, sullen-faced and nervous. Comrade Szipronat had called the Chicago JDL up the night before informing them of the rally. They said they'd be there and would "show" the Nazis a thing or two.

Nazi Speaks with Heavy Guard

Ringed by uniformed guards and Chicago Police line barricades, speakers from the National Socialist White People's Party yesterday held a "white power" rally in Jefferson Park.

About 100 persons listened to Matt Koehl, party national commander, as they wandered thru the park at Lawrence and Linder Avenues. The guards, wearing black trousers and boots, tan shirts, and swastika signs on their arms and helmets, looked silently into the crowd.

Few persons heckled or cheered as Koehl told listeners Negroes "should be sent back to Africa, that 'the nine derelict old men on the Supreme Court are shoving integration down our throats,'" and that "Negroes must be repressed for whites to survive. After the rally ended, the people resumed their leisure activities in the park.

The next day at the rally, comrade Szipronat invited the JDL to try and start something, but they declined the invitation. The only thing they showed was a wide yellow streak up their arched backs as they quickly withdrew from the scene with their serpentine tails between their bow legs.

The rally was given coverage on Chicago television and also in the Chicago Tribune. Comrades in Greater Chicago, Racine, and Milwaukee are urged to cooperate with the Chicago unit in a number of planned future activities. The address is:

NAZIS PICKET HERE

Members of the National Socialist White People's party, describing themselves as probationary storm troopers, picket Atlanta headquarters of Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern. Charles Appel, 22, of Marietta (left) and Frank D'Antignac, 19, of Griffin, said they were demonstrating at the downtown location "to let people know we are back . . . back from the grave." They said neither candidate for president is good for the nation. A McGovern spokesman said he was "sickened" by the swastika but that the pair had a right to demonstrate. They plan to picket Nixon headquarters, too.

McGovern Headquarters Picketed in Atlanta

The Atlanta headquarters of the McGovern for President campaign was picketed by Party troopers on 16 September.

The picket, which lasted approximately two hours, was peaceful until a camera crew arrived from WSB-TV. A Jew in the crowd, beside himself with publicity the Stormtroopers were receiving, began screaming epithets at them and shrieking that the Aryan Cross stood for "murder."

Comrades Frank d'Antignac, Charles Appel and Phillip Bonine participated in the action which brought them publicity in the Atlanta Journal and Constitution and four minutes of film coverage on the six o'clock news on WSB-TV, in which Comrade Appel gave the reporters a short interview.

McGovern Gets a Taste of "White Power" in Baltimore

While campaigning in Maryland recently, the Red traitor George McGovern learned first hand that some White Americans despise this sniveling Red boot-licker as much as they do the genteel Tricky Dick.

Campaigning in Baltimore with the Jewish Democratic governor Marvin Mandel, McGovern received a startling surprise when he found his official car covered with bright red Swastika stickers bearing the slogan, "White Power." Needless to say, McGovern's Secret Service men were by no means calmed by the incident.

Campaigning just outside the Baltimore City Fair a short while later, McGovern shook hands with dozens of people. One individual that he shook hands with was a National Socialist who slapped a bright "White Power" sticker in McGovern's palm.

An uproar ensued as McGovern became excited and Secret Service men tumbled to his rescue. Lo and behold, it was only a Nazi sticker. Don't worry George, when you go it'll be before a firing squad under a National Socialist government, along with a lot of other Marxist and reactionary swine!

BALTIMORE, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1972

McGovern speaks to 2,000 here

cles that produced a polite response from a crowd of between 2,000 and 3,000. Afterward, he went across the street to the fair, where several hundred pressed so closely around him that they threatened to break through the security cordon. One teen-aged boy who shook hands with the senator pressed a "white power" sticker into his hand. When Mr. McGovern noticed the piece of paper, he threw it to the pavement with a look of disgust. "Back to School" With A New Twist

Since school opened this fall there have been a number of National Socialist actions across the country designed to bring the message of White Power to young people.

Especially in these times of busing, school and class quotas, and growing racial problems in the schools, it is the responsibility of every activist to exploit the situation and propagandize our White youth about National Socialism.

Many of the efforts made this fall have met with startling success, indicating the desperate straits many young people are finding themselves in. Although not yet adults, many White youth are being forced to make a decision as to whether or not they're going to bow to Black violence and bestiality or fight - a responsibility that most of their parents have successfully evaded for years.

These young people are most receptive to National Socialism. They are pre-college, and so afford the Party a unique opportunity to set them on a course of racial idealism that will resist the corrosive effects of the Marxist-dominated colleges and universities.

Below are several suggestions on how to reach these millions of young White people who are following their instincts in the racial struggle now raging in the schools. Through a program as suggested below you can offer them a coherent and sound anchoring in their racial belief: National Socialism.

1. Newspapers - Young people are especially impressed by WHITE POWER newspaper. It's a self-contained, complete propaganda kit. They can be sold to youth on the street or distributed free. Be sure to get large quantities for maximum results.

2. Local White Power Messages - These are a very popular item wherever they exist. News of them among White youth travels very quickly by word of mouth. We've had good results by giving White youths fistfuls of WPM cards to distribute amongst their friends in school.

3. Local Demonstrations - Many White youths look to the Party for support and guidance. At this stage, unfortunately, we cannot do as much as we'd like to for them. However, public demonstrations supporting White kids against the pro-Black dictates of principals and school boards go a long way in showing students that we're on their side and that they're not completely isolated and alone, as liberals and Jews would like them to believe.

4. Leafleting - By far the cheapest, and quickest, way of getting mass quantities of literature out to a large number of students. Most schools forbid such activities on school grounds, so it will be necessary to conduct such activities from adjacent public sidewalks or from across the street. Some audacious activists have distributed mass quantities of leaflets in school lockers before and after classes. The best time for such an action is during a public function like a school game, community meetings, etc., when the building is open and security is lax.

The results of such activities have often been very rewarding. Party speakers have been invited to speak at schools. NS cells are formed. Encouraged by National Socialists to assert their raciality, many White youths continue their association with the Party into adulthood.

Arrest 6 in Racial Fighting at Kennedy High School

Six persons were arrested in racial fighting yesterday at Kennedy High School, 6225 W. 35th St., but the school remained open under heavy police guard.

School officials said fights between about 200 black and white students started outside the school and a second disturbance erupted moments later in the school cafeteria, where more than 800 students were having lunch. Five students and one nonstudent were arrested, police said.

About 10 per cent of Kennedy's 3,581 students are black. School officials said the fights were sparked by "hate literature" circulated by the American Nazi Party. Seven students were arrested during a similar incident at Kennedy on Wednesday, according to Chicago Lawn police.

Student boycotts were called off yesterday at Barton School, 7850 S. Wolcott Ave., and Foster Park School, 8530 S. Wood St.

School officials offered to end a busing program at Foster Park and place both overcrowded schools on double shifts.

The temporary double shifts, to begin today, are expected to continue for about six months until additions can be built at both schools, said William Finch, District 20 superintendent.

Meanwhile, about 300 white parents continued to picket the Gage Park High School, 5630 S. Rockwell St., to protest overcrowding and urge the school system to transfer students, most of them black, from the attendance area. Boycotting students remained away from school despite threats from officials to begin an investigation by truancy officers.

School Board outraged by Nazi racist materials

By MARY ELAYNE DUNPHY The Seattle School Board yesterday strongly condemned the recent distribution of racist leaflets in two North Region schools.

Philip B. Swain, speaking for the board, described the white-supremacist material as "about the most violent and despicable hate literature I've ever seen."

The handbills, bore the name of the National Socialist White People's Party (neo-Nazi) with an address in Arlington, Va.

They were distributed in at least two schools, Jane Adams Junior High School and Ingraham High School, in the evenings when the schools were open for elections or athletic events.

"WE ARE REVOLTED and we're appalled by this material," Swain said, "and it is our intention and the intention of the superintendent to cooperate with all agencies in the city in the process of smoking out who is responsible."

Swain said the district yesterday had received a telephone call from the parent of a black student asking if it was safe for the student to return to school at Ingraham.

"I hope all of you join with me in deploring and regretting and just being ashamed that in Seattle in 1972 black citizens have to endure this affront to their dignity," Swain said.

Richard J. Alexander, another board member, echoed Swain, saying the racist handbills were the product of a "sick mind" and calling the materials "garbage" and that's exactly what it is.

Mrs. Beverly Smith, board member, asked what positive steps were being taken in the schools to counter the handbills.

Dr. Forbes Bottomly, superintendent, said the principals and security officers were working out ways of preventing future incidents.

Bottomly said he considers the handbills a "Nazi Party attempt to tear apart our society."

Racist leaflets at school probed

Seattle school authorities have asked their own security officers and police to investigate the source of racist leaflets that appeared last week at Addams Junior High School, 11801 24th Ave. N. E.

Gary M. Little, School District counsel, said that some students stuffed leaflets into lockers Tuesday evening while the building was open as a voting place.

The leaflets bore the name of the National Socialist

White Peoples' (or neo-Nazi) Party, Little said.

The materials denounced blacks and busing and included a photograph of a burned school bus, Little said.

"It's incredibly awful stuff," Little said. "It raises all of the old fears of blacks in our society."

Little said that similar literature also has shown up in some of the city's high schools this year.

Seize 16 Students in Racial Fight at Thornton High

Sixteen students were arrested and classes were canceled yesterday at Thornton Township High School in Harvey after fighting broke out between black and white students.

Harvey police released 11 juveniles to the custody of their parents and charged five older students with disorderly conduct. All but three of the juveniles are white. The five older students are scheduled for a court hearing Nov. 14 in Harvey Circuit Court.

Teachers Last Year School officials said the trouble stemmed from a fight between a black and a white student Sept. 8 during a football game. The school was plagued by racial tension last year.

Police said that white students held two mass meetings Thursday night. Police and school officials were expected to trouble yesterday so security was increased.

White Students Still Boycott Gage Park High

White students continued to boycott Gage Park High School, 5630 S. Rockwell St., for the 12th day yesterday after their parents refused a Board of Education request to temporarily end the boycott and register students for the year.

Earlier this week, the board asked parents to allow students to register so that officials can determine how overcrowded the school will be this year. Parents are protesting overcrowding, but the school board says it cannot take steps to ease the problem until exact enrollment figures are known.

It was learned that white parents also have turned down a board compromise to send some white students to a new Archer-Pulaski High School and some black students to Hyde Park High School east of Gage Park. Black parents have charged white parents with racism in the controversy because white parents insist they will accept no solution except to send about 600 black students to all-black Englewood High School.

400 Parents Discuss School Rape

By Leon Dash Washington Post Staff Writer

More than 400 parents of students at Julius West Junior High School in Rockville met with school officials last night to voice concerns about security arrangements following the rape of a 13-year-old girl there two weeks ago.

Four students at the school were charged with rape by Montgomery County police. Two of them, both 13, have been sent to the Maryland Training School for Boys and the other two, aged 14, have been released in the custody of their parents pending trial.

School Principal Raymond J. DeBalso told the parents that the rape occurred on the stage of the school auditorium at 10:30 a.m. while students were passing in the halls between classes.

Those at last night's meeting, which was held for the parents of ninth graders, told DeBalso that some children were intimidated by other children at the school and that they have had reports of the students carrying weapons.

"I know of no weapons being carried in the school," DeBalso said, "nor have any been turned in." Since the rape incident, DeBalso said that one additional teacher's aide has been hired and another will be to patrol areas of the 1,100-student school that are difficult to supervise.

DeBalso identified bathrooms, the school's music rooms and the physical education areas as examples of places that are difficult to monitor.

In answer to questions, DeBalso said there are four minutes of passing time for students changing classes. "Reports are sent immediately to the assistant principal's office" if a student has reported to his home room but misses a class later the same day, DeBalso said.

Asked about drug abuse in the school, DeBalso said that the problem is difficult if not impossible to gauge. The is white.

principal said he had seen some signs of drug use when he first came to the school two years ago but none recently.

No drugs or students suspected of using drugs have been discovered at the school, he said, adding, "I think that we're alert to many of the symptoms."

James Moore, a member of Rockville's human relations commission, told the group he was "quite saddened by the whole thing" and believed some parents attended the meeting because of racial feelings. The four youths charged in the case are black; the girl is white.

Most of the mainly white audience voiced disapproval of Moore's remark.

Moore suggested that parents, teachers and students be brought together to discuss any problems at the school. "You can't hate if you communicate," Moore said.

One white parent was applauded when he told Moore, "I'm not here for any racial feeling; in fact I didn't know there was race involved in the incident at all."

School officials plan meetings similar to last night's on Wednesday night for parents of eighth-graders and on Thursday night for parents of seventh-graders.

Fall Building Campaign Continues

The initial response to the Fall Building Campaign has been very good. Many comrades have responded with immediate enthusiasm to the Commander's appeal. This can't be emphasized enough.
