"If we National Socialists held a meeting in those days, we were its masters and no one else. And every minute, uninterruptedly, we sharply emphasized this master right. Our opponents knew perfectly well that anyone creating a provocation would be mercilessly thrown out, even if we were only a dozen among half a thousand. In the meetings of those days, especially outside of Munich, there would be five, six, seven, and eight hundred adversaries to fifteen or sixteen National Socialists. But nevertheless we tolerated no provocation, and those who attended our meetings knew full well that we would rather have let ourselves be beaten to death than capitulate."

North American Congress Shows Way to the Future

Over the Labor Day weekend of 2-4 September, the largest gathering in the history of the Party took place in Cleveland, Ohio. The fifth North American Congress of the Party attracted 207 registered delegates from 41 states and provinces.

This year's Congress put the emphasis on individual participation in the many different events and laid heavy stress on discipline and loyalty. The theme of the Congress, "The Future Belongs to Us," was manifested by the tremendous amount of enthusiasm shown by every delegate present.

The temperature over the entire weekend was in the high 90s with very high humidity. The actual temperature during the march and rally was near 100 degrees! Despite the heat every National Socialist was determined to carry the banner through downtown Cleveland in the face of overwhelming numbers of Blacks, who lined both sides of the march route.

After the march and rally, the official part of the Congress convened Saturday evening. The important internal aspects of the event took place Saturday evening, all day Sunday and concluded with work-shop sessions Monday morning.

The actual agenda was as follows:

FRIDAY EVENING

FILM:

Though it was not scheduled as a part of the Congress, the showing of the film, "Triumph of the Will" Friday evening attracted a large number of delegates who arrived in Cleveland early specifically to see this great film. This film which is about the 1934 Party Day in Nuremberg, Germany was received with enthusiasm. All delegates left the film showing in great anticipation of our own march and rally scheduled for the following day.

SATURDAY MORNING AND AFTERNOON

ST ASSEMBLY:

At 10 a.m., the ST-126 strong-assembled at a local park on the westside of Cleveland to be briefed and formed up for the march scheduled for 12 noon. At the muster the troopers had their uniforms checked and appearance gone over. Only those who were properly squared away were allowed to march. In the forming-up process, the Stormtroopers were divided up into six groups including a special honor-guard carrying Party banners and American flags, and a special group to protect the Commander. At this time all Stormtroops were briefed as to the basic conduct during to march. Although most of the troopers were veterans of many demonstrations, there were a few for whom this was their first demonstration.

The troopers form up in a local park.

The troopers assembled ready to march at 12 sharp. Just as the march was ready to start it was met by a large contingent of police and newsmen. The Commander was informed that Mayor Perk had revoked our permit and we were not allowed to march. The Commander then stated to the police chief that Mayor Perk had no authority over National Socialists and that we definitely would march. After a 45-minute delay the marchers set off. More than a block long and lined up in columns of threes, the marchers made their way down the main avenue of Cleveland, which had been blocked off for the specific use of the Stormtroops. About half-way to their destination, the National Socialist began to chant in unison, "White Power" over and over. As the column marched into the very heart of downtown Cleveland, they discovered the streets were lined with thousands upon thousands of Blacks who almost turned white at the sight of brave White men. With flags held high, the procession left Euclid Avenue and entered the large downtown square where they deployed to defend the speakers platform at the impending rally.

The march starts down Euclid Ave.

RALLY:

After the troopers had formed lines around the platform the rally commenced before a crowd of several hundred of which about a third was either Black or Jewish. The rally was chaired by Comrade Dan Dexter of Peoria, Ill. Lt. Robert Homan, currently on leave in Seattle, Wash. spoke on the unity of all White men under one system regardless of social, religious or national differences. Lt. Homan also stressed the importance of realizing that the White man is not alone in his struggle in America, but is joined by his racial brothers all over the world.

The next speaker was Allen Vincent, a long-time Party activist from San Francisco, who spoke briefly on the road America is taking to decadence and self-destruction. He pointed out that we are willing to die for our race. At this point the Blacks and Jews in the crowd became increasingly hostile when they realized a good proportion of the White people in the crowd were pro-Party, because they were cheering the speakers loudly.

The third speaker was Ralph Forbes, whose Party activity goes back to the early sixties. In his speech Forbes asked the White people in the crowd what they would do when they can no longer get fuel to heat their homes or food to feed their families. He strongly suggested that only National Socialists as White men would have any sympathy for their plight in the years to come.

The final speaker was Commander Koehl, who was greeted by a loud round of applause from the audience. The Commander's speech was two-fold, first he spoke directly to the large number of Eastern European people in the crowd who had fled from Communist tyranny. He pointed out that the present United States under the leadership of Nixon had sold out to Communist Russia and only a National Socialist America is capable of freeing their homeland. In the second part of his speech the Commander turned his attention to problems plaguing this country. In speaking about the racial problem, he stated very emphatically that Eli Whitney's invention of the cotton gin made the Negro obsolete in this country, and then the Commander asked very forcefully, "who needs niggers"?!

In ending his speech, the Commander proclaimed that there was one road leading to survival—National Socialism.

During the assembly, the local police showed up and talked to the Commander, who was in the process of reviewing the troops. After asking to see the permit, the police attempted to destroy it which in effect would have prevented the march due to the lack of a valid permit. After attempting to rip the permit apart it was snatched back from the police before it was completely destroyed. The Commander was then told that the mayor of Cleveland Ralph Perk had ordered the march to be cancelled. Commander Koehl politely informed the police that we had no argument with them, but because we had a legal permit we would march despite the protests of Mayor Perk.

MARCH:

After the assembly the troopers were transported to 21st and Euclid Ave. in front of Cleveland State University. Many of them made the trip in open trucks with banners flying!

'Storm troops' march downtown

Eighty members of the National Socialist White People's Party made a "white power" march down Euclid Ave. shortly after noon today after Mayor Perk abandoned his earlier efforts to ban the parade.

The police traffic unit escorted the marchers while patrolmen in 30 cars stood by to halt any violence.

Matt Koehl of Arlington, Va., who succeeded George Lincoln Rockwell after the latter's assassination in 1967, led the march from E. 21st St. to Public Square.

The marchers, whom Koehl called "storm troopers of our Self-Defense Arm," wore white helmets, brown shirts, black trousers and boots, and displayed red-black-and-white swastika armbands.

In the northwest quadrant of Public Square, the storm troopers stood at attention while Koehl and four others delivered racist speeches.

About 150 passers-by gathered to watch—mostly young whites and blacks—and some heckled the speakers with shouts of "Black power!" and the singing of "We Shall Overcome."

Koehl said that half of the men were from Cuyahoga County and Northern Ohio and the others were "from the Midwest."

"Cleveland is one of our better areas, that's why it was selected for our national congress," he told newsmen as he explained that the march was part of the party's national Labor Day observance.

The party's Cleveland unit has offices at 10012 Lorain Ave. and is headed by Casey Kalemba.

Perk's first reaction was to prohibit the parade, despite the permit that the party had obtained. After checking with the City Law Department on the marchers' rights, Perk declared:

"If the Supreme Court allowed this kind of march, then we have to let them go."

This morning an unidentified person phoned Perk and told him that the party was going to march. He immediately ordered the permit revoked and instructed police to confront the marchers.

As the marchers assembled at Euclid Ave. and E. 22d St., police from three districts also were gathering.

SATURDAY EVENING

WELCOME:

The internal sessions of the Congress began at 8:30 p.m. with a welcome by Commander Koehl. In his welcome, the Commander pointed out the values of National Socialism, the values that make a person travel thousands of miles to reaffirm his values, and commitment to the teachings of Adolf Hitler and Lincoln Rockwell. He stressed that this was a National Socialist gathering and not some right-wing convention. In concluding he stated that though our numbers were relatively small compared with the big parties, it is the spirit manifested that counts.

Ban swastikasThe Nazi menace is on the march

To the Editor:

With reference to the Sept. 2 Inquirer which carried a picture of a group of neo-Nazis parading through downtown Cleveland, maybe now people will start to realize that such organizations exist all over America. No longer can we shutter these groups out of our minds; they must be stopped.

To the Editor:

It was shocking to see a Sept. 2 picture of 80 Nazis marching in Cleveland with their armband swastikas, which symbolize the destruction of six million Jews, and five million non-Jews.

The Nazis in Germany used the freedom of pre-Nazi Germany to take over the government and stop freedom and democracy. Didn't we learn a lesson from this mistake? How can we allow such hate groups to spread their poison of hate in our country?

To the Editor:

The UPI telephoto featured on the Sept. 2 front page showing 80 members of the National Socialist White Peoples party (NSWPP) on a march in downtown Cleveland is a disgrace to this country in this age. The flaunting of the 'swastika' in the face of America by these Nazis is a sad commentary on the cherished democratic principles guiding this country.

Let us not forget that thousands of American boys were killed in a war to stop Hitler. Remember that millions of non-Jews met their death at the hands of that megalomaniac who almost caused the destruction of the entire world.

I suggest that we outlaw the swastika as an abomination which, if disregarded, will bring destruction to our democracy. We are entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Without life there can be no liberty or pursuit of happiness.

To the Editor:

We will soon see the second act of a world tragedy.

Act one began in Munich, Germany.

40 years ago. The city fathers and German judicial system gave their blessing to the Nazi Party and the German people gave them money.

Act two is now unfolding in Cleveland. The liberals have blessed and protected the SDS and Black Panthers. And now are aiding and abetting the American Nazi party.

Our Constitution did not guarantee us this type of constitutional freedom. How can we in all honesty harass men like the Rev. Carl McIntyre, who are only guilty of spreading patriotism and national unity, while condoning the actions of the city fathers of Cleveland?

Nazis defended

To the Editor:

As a member of the National Socialist White Peoples Party I found the letters urging the ban of the swastika rather interesting. I think your readers should know more about my party before passing judgment.

The NSWPP is a party made up of white people who are dedicated to the teachings of Adolph Hitler and George Rockwell. We believe in the superiority of the Aryan race. However, we don't urge the extermination of any minority race, nor do we believe Hitler killed six million Jews. The proof of the latter is lacking.

We exist, as do the Jewish Defense League, the Black Panthers, and other organizations, as a party made up of one race fighting for the survival of its people. Militant minorities are now tearing at the vitals of the U.S. In time the vast majority will call on us to take over the government and lead this nation to greater glory. We shall do so by legal means.

Nazi threat

To the Editor:

I was shocked to read the Sept. 21 letter "Nazis defended" by William Parker, who follows the teachings of the monster Hitler, who murdered in cold blood six million Jews, including my entire family, and millions of non-Jews. Mr. Parker claims the people in America are so ignorant they will call on the American Nazis to take over.

Many ignorant people thought that the two partners of 1939-41, Hitler and Stalin, would bring them happiness. We saw what happened to the world and to countries taken over by Communism and Nazism and I'm sure the American people learned a lesson.

A few years ago, you had a story about a Yaakov Riz, a victim of Communism and Nazism who had the best idea how to stop ignorance in America when it comes to the holocaust. He suggested creating a memorial pictorial center for the six million Jews killed by the friends of Mr. Parker, so Jews and non-Jews can learn the real truth about living under Nazism and Communism.

Our greatest enemy is ignorance, and through such centers we can stop ignorance. Let us create such centers in every city in America to stop hate-mongers who dream of dictatorship in America as a remedy to cure America.

CONCLUDING ADDRESS OF THE EVENING:

In the only other address of the evening, Lt. Cedric Syrdahl of Chicago gave an address entitled: "The meaning of loyalty." In his speech Lt. Syrdahl pointed out the real and true meaning of loyalty. He stated that loyalty goes beyond mere words and is something that is proven again and again in the streets, at Party meetings and most important it is proven in attitude. In stressing his point, Mr. Syrdahl emphasized that loyalty and discipline go hand in hand and only undying discipline is the keystone to our victory.

SUNDAY MORNINGLOCAL REPORTS:

The Sunday morning session started out with a series of local reports given by comrades from around the country. The following activity reports were given: Jim Ring reported on activities in the Wilmington, (Del.) Philadelphia area; Eugene Hough reported on the central Florida area including Tampa-St. Petersburg areas; Allen Vincent reported on the San Francisco-Northern California area; a fine report was given by GL Ray Wilson from the San Diego area; TL Bruce Mathews reported from Los Angeles; Fred Sherwood reported on the Bridgeport area activities; Michael Szipronat reported on activities in Chicago; GL John Krenzer summarized Detroit area activities; Comrade Steve Love listed Cincinnati area activities; comrade Karl Hand spoke on Buffalo activities; GL Casey Kalembe gave a report of local Cleveland area activities; and lastly Richard Patton spoke on St. Louis area accomplishments.

Unfortunately, some units were not able to be represented as their local unit leaders were absent. Most local reports were somewhat longer than expected mainly due to the increased activity around the country. As a matter-of-fact there was so much activity to report, that the local presentations lasted almost two hours longer than originally scheduled.

WUNS REPORT:

The 1973 report of the World Union of National Socialists was given by WUNS General Secretary, Robert Homan. Mr. Homan started off his report by reading statements to the assembled delegates from WUNS affiliates around the world who were not able to send representatives to the Congress. In his presentation, Secretary Homan gave reports from Australia, New Zealand, Chile, the Scandinavian countries, England, Spain and several other European countries. He went into detail on the situation of our comrades in Chile. At the time of their report, the National Socialists there were suffering under extreme Marxist persecution, which has changed drastically in the last few weeks.

In a special segment of the WUNS report, army comrade Jimmy Clendennen told of his experiences with allegedly illegal National Socialist groups in Germany. Mr. Clendennen spent almost 11 months in Germany while in the U.S. army. There he got into contact with many WUNS members not only in Germany, but also in Denmark, Switzerland and France. In his report he pointed out the particular problems our comrades face while organizing in a country where National Socialism is illegal.

In concluding the WUNS report, Mr. Homan stated that next year some WUNS affiliates have pledged to send delegates.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON

STATE OF THE PARTY ADDRESS BY CMDR. KOEHL:

In a very hard-hitting address, the Commander spoke to the delegates about the progress of the Movement over last year and the goals of the Party for the coming year. In the first part of his speech, he reviewed the struggles of the past year and showed how the increased successes were attributed to hard work and sacrifice. The Commander stated that:

- a) We must consolidate Party organization and reaffirm the central authority and guidance of the Movement.
- b) We must build a true National Socialist community among ourselves based on loyalty and comradeship.
- c) We must build a powerful base of material means to undertake necessary Party programs.
- d) We must intensify our propaganda attack, with uniformity of doctrine and policy, and attunement to local situations.
- e) We must build up Party membership and support.
- f) We must build circulation for Party publications, with all members, supporters and units expected to carry their share.

Commander Koehl giving his State of the Party address.

The Commander in a special appeal called for more people to help alleviate the present problem of shortage of staff personnel at National Headquarters. He stated that the present workload borne by the few dedicated individuals already on staff should be distributed to a larger number of hands.

SUNDAY EVENING

CEREMONIES AND CONCLUSION:

The highlight of the fifth Party Congress was the ceremonies and formal address by the Commander entitled: "The Future Belongs to Us." The ceremonies commenced with two columns of Stormtroops marching in and taking positions on each side of the hall facing each other as the martial strains of "White Men to Arms" was heard in the background. With the hall dimly lit and a spiritual atmosphere pervading the assembled, the Commander entered the hall.

In his address, the Commander said in part: "Today when I expect the ultimate of loyalty and discipline from you, I feel it is my duty to reaffirm MY faith and loyalty to the founder of National Socialism, Adolf Hitler." In continuing his very inspiring address, the Commander stated that as National Socialists today we must have the same commitments to our ideals as of the Christians of many centuries ago. The Commander pointed out that many Christians were fed to the lions for their mere refusal to denounce their beliefs, and strongly proclaimed that in this day and age of persecution of our beliefs we must stand up and in no way compromise our ideals or take the easy way out. The Commander in concluding said that only National Socialism makes life worth living for us in this age of decadence.

Then followed the memorial tribute to National Socialist martyrs. Before a flaming crucible, Lt. Robert Homan called out the names of fallen comrades who have been designated heroes of the Movement especially the 16 Munich Martyrs of 1923. As each name was called the Stormtroops responded "PRESENT" in proof that our Comrades live in our hearts and minds. Then everyone in the hall broke out with the National Socialist Battle Song:

*We march and fight, to death or on to victory;
Our might is right — no traitor shall prevail;
Our hearts are steeled against the fiery gates of hell;
No shot or shell can still our mighty song!
Our hearts are steeled against the fiery gates of hell;
No shot or shell can still our mighty song!*

MONDAY MORNING

WORKSHOP SESSIONS:

Though many delegates had already departed from Cleveland for home a large number stayed to hear the workshop sessions. There were a total of six different sessions put on by long-time Party activists. They were extremely helpful especially to relative newcomers to the Movement who have the desire but not the experience. The following sessions were given: Lt. Syrdahl—How to organize a successful ST encampment; GL William Grimstad—local propaganda and how to install a White Power Message; Dan Dexter—getting Party literature into the streets and speaking to the public; GL Dick Biederman—how to organize a demonstration.

The instructors used their vast experience to point out to the eager listeners the proper way to do things to avoid the illegal harassment, and how to properly present the Party to the public.

CHANGES IN NATIONAL COUNCIL:

At the recent Party Congress, Commander Koehl dissolved the former Party National Council and appointed a new one. Though at present the Commander appointed only three members, there are provisions to increase it to a total of eleven. The following were appointed:

Lt. Cedric Syrdahl, Chicago
Lt. Robert Homan, Seattle
GL John Krenzer, Detroit

WHERE THE ACTION IS!

9 November — On the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the Munich Revolt of 1923 in which 16 comrades gave their lives for our sacred Cause, National Socialists everywhere will be paying tribute to these martyrs of the Movement in appropriate observances in cities and communities across the North American continent.

8 December — An afternoon-long "Free Rudolf Hess" vigil will be held in many cities across the United States to demand the release of Rudolf Hess. Local leaders will receive notice shortly from the Organizational Secretary on how to conduct the vigil.

22–24 December — A round-the-clock "Free Rudolf Hess" vigil will be held in the nation's capital. All comrades on the East Coast should contact National Headquarters to inform us as to which day or days you will be able to help on this very important occasion. This event will last 72 hours straight up through Christmas eve.

National Headquarters will hold its annual Yulefest on the evening of the 22 December. All comrades attending the Hess vigil will be welcome.
