Three-Year Plan Nears Completion

The Party's Three-Year Plan made a moderate showing in March, collecting just over $2,258. This puts the Plan total at $81,849, a mere $7,000 away from completion.

Although only 20 days remain, as of 31 March, the mood at National Headquarters is confident. In a special briefing given to Party officers, the Commander said: “At this point it isn't a matter of whether we are going to make our goal or not. Rather, it is a matter of how much we will exceed it.” the Commander said. “It may be a tight squeeze” he added.

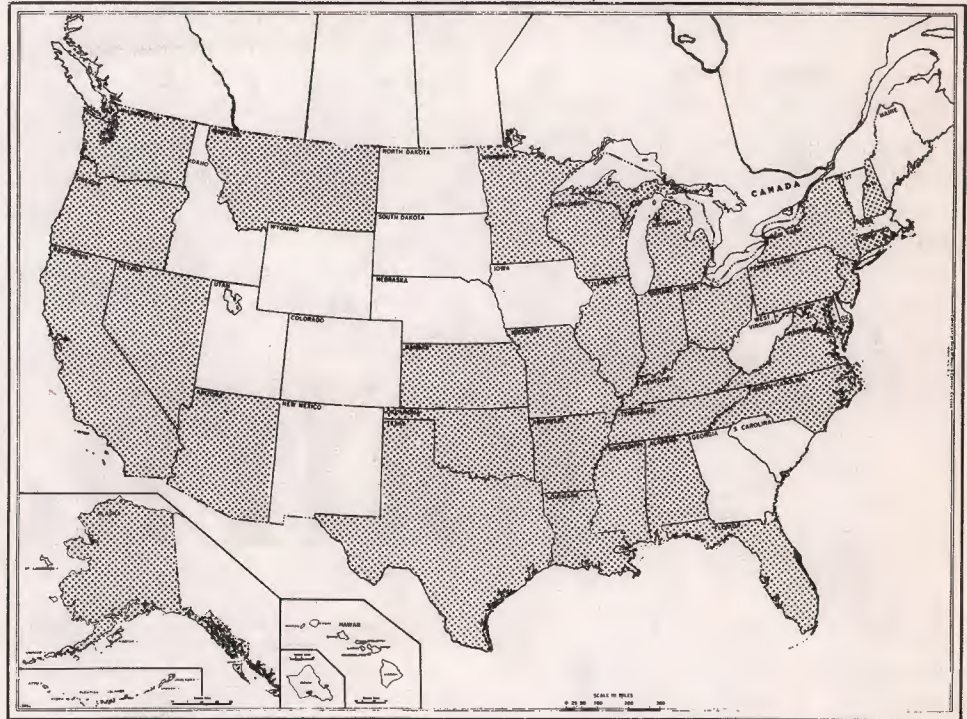

The Party wishes to thank those comrades from 31 states, one province and four foreign countries who gave to the Plan in March.

One note to comrades who have not yet responded to the Spring appeal: Although the official deadline is 20 April, any donations made after that date will still be accepted. The more we raise, the more that can be done!

A final report on the Plan will appear in NS Bulletin Number 241 (1 May 1978 YL-90).

gains in the past several months, as NS BULLETIN readers should be aware. Here is a summary of the Unit's activities for the second half of March alone:

On 16 March, NSYM member Robin Betland, accompanied by his mother and comrade Martinson, appeared in juvenile court. Youth member Betland is charged with beating up a Red at the University of Minnesota on 2

December 1977. The case was postponed.

On 26 March an ST/NSYM meeting was held. A class on the 10 Party goals began the meeting. This was followed by an oral quiz on the basic methods of speaking to new people and the press. Next was a half hour of close order drill. A physical training session was held last. One of the goals set for the ST men is to be able to do 88 pushups by the next Congress.

Starting in February and continuing to the present time, the Unit has been placing an ad in the Twin Cities Reader, offering a free copy of WHITE POWER. Many responses have been received, including some from out of state.

All local units should take note of this comprehensive program of activities by the Minneapolis Unit. The comrades there are to be commended on their energy and dedication in furthering the Party of Matt Koehl.

What One Person Can Do

Many times National Headquarters hears the question: "I would like to do more to help the Party, but I'm all alone. What can just one person do acting alone?"

A Maryland comrade recently showed just what could be done by one person acting alone.

The comrade in question, who wishes to remain entirely anonymous, stopped by NHQ one evening and purchased 1,000 copies of the latest WHITE POWER. This person then went about, over the next few days, distributing these papers door-to-door in their neighborhood. The result can be

Nazi Paper Irks County Residents

By Lucy Starr Norman
Journal Staff Writer

White Power, a newspaper of the National Socialist White People's Party, appeared on doorsteps in Camp Springs and Clinton last week, riling residents who objected to the paper's white supremacist pitch.

The paper is embellished with swastikas and carries articles against "race mixing" through intermarriage and promoting the purity of the Aryan race.

"It's just that I think it's trash," said Marjorie Kennedy, Camp Springs. "It's an invasion of my privacy. It was trespassing." She said someone placed the paper in doors around the neighborhood sometime during the morning of March 16.

She said several neighbors had said they feared their children would see a copy.

"I don't like their tactics. I don't like what they stand for," Kennedy said.

In Clinton, Ida King said a neighbor coming to visit her had been handed the newspaper by a man distributing it to other homes in the area.

"I was very surprised. I have children and they certainly don't need this," King said. She said several black families live in the Clinton neighborhood.

"There's good in blacks and there's good in whites and there's bad in both," she said. "As far as putting each other down so you've got to fight all the time — no."

Frederick T. Verduin, local organizer for the National Socialist White People's Party in Arlington, where the newspaper originates, said the distribution was not part of a concentrated effort to recruit members in Prince George's County as some residents had feared.

"We have a number of members," in the Washington area, Verduin said, "and we do ask our supporters to get the word out. . . . It's just a matter of a supporter doing his job."

Verduin said party leaders are "contemplating forming a unit with regular meetings" once there are enough members. He declined to disclose the number of Washington area members but said, "obviously it's not very large."

He said organizers are concentrating their efforts on area high school youths.

This is evident from the newspaper, which Verduin said was nationally, not locally, oriented.

One article carries an analysis of a Gallup Poll which the paper says shows that white teenagers seldom date members of other races.

Another analyzes the dangers of using certain drugs and says white youth need instead to help build "a new society based on racial idealism."

A third lays the blame for excessive use of drugs among rock and roll stars to "Jewish managers."

Conrad B.H. Koch, principal of Crossland High School, Camp Springs, said he had seen no evidence of organizing for the National Socialist White People's Party at the school all year.

"If there's anything, we usually hear about it," he said.

John Lally, an aide to County Executive Winfield M. Kelly Jr. said, "Anybody who wants to exploit racial and ethnic differences for whatever sick reasons can certainly do it. . . . But we're against that."

Additionally, television and radio coverage resulting from the paper distribution was received. Despite the negative tone of the article, the response to the paper was actually quite warm.

Our Maryland comrade has once again proved that one person can make a difference.

Los Angeles Comrades on the March!

Comrades from the Los Angeles and Orange County units have been coordinating their activities with one another recently, with great success.

Listed below are some highlights of Los Angeles area Party activism during the last half of March:

15 March – Los Angeles Unit members attended a meeting of the kosher conservative anti-busing "Bus Stop" organization in Van Nuys. 300 WHITE POWERS were distributed to those attending the meeting, and much favorable reaction from the Aryans there was received.

17 March – Two teams of LA and Orange County ST men under the command of GL Dan Stewart were joined by comrades from northern California to confront an anti-Bakke demonstration in Los Angeles. One Red attempted to assault PT Jerry Weston, and was taken into custody by the police. Other than that, the Marxists kept their distance from the troopers.

30 March – Two teams of uniformed ST men picketed a banquet honoring Jewish state senator Alan Robbins. Robbins is the yid who is sponsoring a bill which would ban public display of the Swastika and the ST uniform in California. Despite cat-calls and insults from the "Chosen Ones" attending the banquet, there was no violence, according to LA unit leader Douglas Winkleman.

ACTIVITIES IN BRIEF

● The Commander was interviewed on the Denver, Col., radio station KWBZ on 21 March. After answering questions from the Jewish moderator, David Gold, for a half-hour, the Commander took questions by phone from the listening audience, for another half-hour.

● Massachusetts comrade Richard Anthony has devised a clever way to spread the good word of National Socialism in his area. Comrade Anthony writes letters to local papers which are actually excerpts from WHITE POWER articles. An example of one such "letter" printed in the New Bedford Standard Times, is reproduced here. The letter was taken from the article in WHITE POWER No. 80, "Many Whites Were Slaves, Too."

● The most successful paper sale of this year – so far – was held by the Chicago Unit on 18 March. Chicago comrades report that $109.89 was collected for the sale of newspapers, bumper stickers and White Power T-shirts.

● Milwaukee Unit I reports that it held a paper sale and two free distributions during the second half of March.

Many white slaves in original colonies

To the Editor of The Standard-Times:

In response to the article in Bowsprit on slavery: It has become commonly accepted in recent years that the black man made significant contributions toward the building of America during his three centuries here in slavery. Cruelly mistreated by the evil white man, we are told, black slaves did the work white people were unable or unwilling to do, especially menial farm labor in the Southern colonies and states. The United States would not be the great country it is today had it not been for 300 years of tireless work by enslaved blacks, or so the story goes. More than half of all persons who came to the original 13 colonies south of New England were white slaves. Until the Revolutionary War, they were arriving at the rate of 1,000 a week from England alone. Not until the 1700s were they superseded by blacks, and even then, they continued to arrive until the 1800s. Whites were preferred by plantation owners and farmers over blacks as slave labor, because they worked harder, they were more intelligent, and many had skills, such as carpentry, that were unknown to the primitive blacks from the African rain forests. The main reason for the white slaves, however, was that it was extremely profitable for the merchants trading with the colonies to load their ships with white slaves. The exact same ships which were used to transport black slaves from Africa to America were also used to transport white slaves from Europe to the New World – with exactly the same inhumane overcrowding and other unbearable living conditions. The most significant difference between white slaves and black slaves – other than race – was that while blacks were generally enslaved for life, whites were enslaved only for a specifically limited period of time. There were three broad categories of white slaves: 1. Convicts; 2. Indentured servants; and 3. Redemptioners. The fact that they were enslaved only for a period of years, rather than for life, might lead one to believe that their lot was better overall than that of the black slave. Not so. Often they were treated worse than the black slaves because they were regarded as a shorter-term investment. White slaves who ran away and were then recaptured were treated just as harshly as their black counterparts. Furthermore, unlike black slaves, whose families were almost always sold together, white slave families were often broken up, as this was more profitable. Husbands were separated from wives, and children from their parents. What type of white person became a slave? There were Frenchmen, Germans and Swiss fleeing religious persecution. There were starving Irish and poverty-stricken Scottish farmers. In addition, people of every age and kind were decoyed, deceived, seduced, and forcibly kidnapped by unscrupulous merchants who realized that huge profits could be made by capitalizing on the poverty and suffering of others. Researcher Peter Coldham says of the white slaves in colonial America, "The most fascinating thing about the white-slave business is that, unlike the blacks, nobody wants to talk about them." It is easy to see why. RICHARD ANTHONY Fairhaven

THE FUNDAMENTALS OF SUCCESSFUL PROPAGANDA – Part 4

In the past three Bulletins we have explained the basic principles of propaganda and the way they should be applied to an actual propaganda campaign.

In the last article, our imaginary band of activists concentrated their efforts on building the Party in their area by seizing on the issue of Black crime. After assessing the resources available to them, they began by launching a campaign which brought attention to the problem of escalating Black crime, and emphasized the Party's opposition to it. The first stage in a propaganda campaign, where the existing state of affairs is criticized, is primarily negative. In this article, we will discuss a more sophisticated, more successful (in the long run) and more difficult type of propaganda: positive propaganda.

The penalty every revolutionary faces for criticizing the existing state of affairs is that of having to come up with a constructive alternative. It is not enough just to tear down what now exists; a new order must be fashioned, superior to the old system.

How does this apply in "real life?" Let's go back to our band of activists.

They have distributed leaflets and WHITE POWERS. They have put up stickers. They have held private meetings and talked to people. They have appeared on television and radio. They have held press conferences. They have spoken to high school and college classes. Everyone in their city now knows that there is a "Nazi" party, and that it is 100 percent against Black crime. What do our activists do next?

The next thing they do is to show the National Socialist solutions to the problem.

Here are some proposals they might come up with:

- More street lights, and better repair for those that exist;

- More severe punishment for criminals convicted of violent crimes;

- An educational program to show people how to fight crime on a personal level.

These are all very general solutions, and while they would not stop crime, they would help to curb it.

More importantly, here is what the local unit itself could do:

- Organize an all-White after-dark citizens' patrol to aid police in spotting crime;

- Provide a late night escort service for the elderly and for women;

- In cooperation with the American Red Cross, organize a blood-bank to provide free plasma and whole blood to the victims of Black crime;

- Organize the White students in the high schools and junior high schools to combat organized Black terror.

All of these programs could be started by just three or four Party comrades – with the help of the White community.

The key to success here is showing that the Party – and only the Party – has the solution to the problem. As for publicity: it will take care of itself. If a local unit undertakes a program of activities such as those listed above, it cannot but help get good press. Even beyond that, word of mouth will spread the message that the "Nazis" are not the horrible monsters they have been made out to be.

All this will finally pay off when it comes time to run Party candidates for office. "Look at what the Party has done to help you," the local comrades can say. "What have the Republicans and Democrats given you, other than inefficiency, corruption and racial turmoil?"

Black crime – which we used to illustrate this series of articles – is only one of a dozen or more issues on which the Party takes a strong stand, and can be used to build public support among the masses of White people.

White America is quickly ripening. National Socialism is needed more and more as each day passes. It is up to you, the propagandist on the most basic level, to seek out and build support for the Party, by a) Making White people aware of National Socialism, and b) showing them that it offers the answer to their problems.

It is up to you!

- Because student activists had been stuffing Party literature into lockers at Franklin High School in Stockton, Calif., through the lockers' air vents, the school had an entirely new set of lockers installed, without air vents. During the week of 29 March several hundred copies of WHITE POWER were stuffed into the new ventless lockers at Franklin High School – by slipping them in along the edges of the locker door.
