

WAR AND THE LIE FACTORY

(Armaments aren't the only Production Items)

"... truth is always the first war casualty, the emotional disturbances and distortions in historical writing are greatest in wartime, and both the need and material for correcting historical myths are most evident in connection with wars."

—HARRY ELMER BARNES

Dear Revisionist:

Squashed on the underside of a weighty mountain of lies and hype about wars, threats of war, and the need for more war, Americans, Barnes reckoned, had something of a right to know the truth. He knew that if the facts of wars were popularly understood, the Masters of Public Enlightenment (the Very Best Minds, of course!) would get nothing but ridicule in exchange for their oh-so-"logical" and -"eloquent" efforts to sell their grand whoppers about the origins and nature of wars. Because of his thirst for facts and their proper evaluation, Barnes inspired a tradition of truth in history -- a tradition the Institute for Historical Review today carries forward (despite attempts to obliterate us).

Hot off the press is the Institute's latest response to the globalonialists' most sacred trojan horse: the U.N.'s Genocide Convention. This, Dr. James J. Martin's long-awaited revisionist opus on THE MAN WHO INVENTED 'GENOCIDE', is a powerhouse historical account of the ill-fated, rights-abolishing international treaty and the little lawyer from Poland who devoted his life pressing it to the fore.

A new edition of Harry Elmer Barnes' WHO STARTED THE FIRST WORLD WAR? is now in stock. Barnes readers often comment on his lucid, easy-to-read approach to writing history -- and this 66-page thesis is no exception. With a flair for unearthing the facts -- for which Barnes is famous (and suppressed) -- this work clears up much confusion about "The Great War."

We've also now in stock a very special taped (live) lecture by MIT professor Noam Chomsky. If you want a key briefing on Israel, U.S. Zionism, the ADL, and the possibilities of nuclear war breaking out in the Middle East, don't pass up this chance to hear a most rousing lecture -- it's one devastating criticism of just about everything the Holocaust-Establishment considers sacred with respect to "The Holy State."

Recently, we managed to obtain a quantity of a 1939 book entitled WORDS THAT WON THE WAR -- a magnificent volume by two spot-on researchers who, by illuminating facts behind the massive World War I Allied propaganda effort, sought to awaken their countrymen to the very same "Get on the Warwagon" parade being recycled in the late '30s. The themes and means of propaganda may get more subtle and sophisticated, but the propagandist's objective is always the same: "Ye Shall Hate the Enemy of Our Choice!" -- his choice, of course, not yours. (Please note that this is a permanent-quality cardbound edition and not a hardback. The $18 price is due to the scarcity of this valuable volume which may never again be printed).

Another special title we now have in stock (it was at the printer when the arsonists struck) is A TRIAL ON TRIAL: THE GREAT SEDITION TRIAL OF 1944 by Lawrence Dennis (not shown in the enclosed catalog). This is the only revisionist book in print dealing with FDR's notorious political show-trial (Dennis, Elisabeth Dilling, George S. Viereck and Rev. David Baxter were among the defendants) and is a veritable bombshell expose of the forces behind the trial and our entry into the war (the ADL, for example) as well as a provocative account of the trial itself and the arguments on both sides. Paperback, 503pp, index $12.00 (must-reading for serious students of Soviet-inspired show-trials).

What else? Well, we have a new edition of Paul Rassinier's classic THE REAL EICHMANN TRIAL; Justus Doenecke's trenchant book that straightens out the record on America's non-interventivists, NOT TO THE SWIFT; a new edition of Maj. Gen. Smedley Butler's eye-opening volume, WAR IS A RACKET; and a very gripping edition of THE WILCOX REPORT (now expanded to 74pp) that zeroes in on two warmongering organizations, the Anti-Defamation League (ADL) and Jewish Defense League (JDL) -- very important reading and ideal for doubting friends.

One more thing: We've also enclosed an information/registration form for our upcoming Sixth International Revisionist Conference (postponed due to the fire from 1-3 September to 16-18 February). If you've ever wanted to attend one of these exciting three-day events, this year's is the one not to miss. The live lectures, the atmosphere of truth-in-history and revisionist comradeship all combine for an unforgettable experience. But if you can't attend, consider making a contribution to our scholarship fund so that some deserving student can. OK?

With Fond Regards,

INSTITUTE FOR HISTORICAL REVIEW
